Silapathar violence Wanted Subodh Biswas arrested in Bengal

STAFF REPORTER

Subodh Biswas after his arrest in North 24 Parganas

GUWAHATI, March 22: After evading arrest for nearly 16 days, the prime accused in the March 6 Silapathar incident, Subodh Biswas was arrested along with one of his close accomplices in the wee hours today by a team of Assam Police from a remote village in North 24 Parganas district in West Bengal, located close to the Indo-Bangla border.

Both the accused were brought to Guwahati later in the evening by air.

A few hours after their arrest, both the accused were produced before the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, also directed the investigating officer to submit the compliance report before the court within seven days.

The bail petition of Subodh Biswas was also rejected by the ACJM, Bongaon.

The team of Assam Police's Criminal Investigation Department (CID), assisted by officials of the West Bengal Police, acting on multiple tips-off, finally zeroed in on the house of a retired schoolteacher where Subodh Biswas was hiding along with his associate Subhas Biswas.

Subhas, a senior leader of the Nukhil Bharat Udbastu Samanay Sangha (NBUS) was the man behind the ransacking of the AASU office got into the act.

HIGHLY placed sources in the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) told The Assam Tribune that this though the Assam Police got in touch with the police forces of other states of the country, it was decided that the Central agencies should also go into the act to ensure nabbing of Biswas.

Though a "look out notice" was issued against Biswas, he managed to escape from the State and as his provocative statements created apprehension of disturbance in the State, the Central agencies ever, he used only one of the numbers during his stay in Assam. The Central agencies started using both technical and human intelligence and tracked him in West Bengal.

Sources said that Biswas used to move around in Bongaon area of West Bengal near the international border with Bangladesh in the North 24 Parganas district under Bagdogra police station. He was staying in the houses of his supporters, who are also fighting for the cause of the Hindu Bangladeshi in Nagpur, where he was based. (See page 4)

Terror attack near British Parliament, one killed

LONDON, March 22: A British police officer was today stabbed in the Houses of Parliament in central London, in what police said was a "terrorist incident".

The incident prompted lockdown within the House of Commons chamber. Prime Minister Theresa May was seen being ushered into a car as what sounded like gunfire rang out at Parliament during the incident, the BBC reported.

Commons Leader David Lidington told MPs the "alleged assailant was shot by armed police." There are also reports of as many as five people being "mowed down" on nearby Westminster Bridge. MPs said they had heard three or four gunshots.

"Incident in #Westminster: We are treating this as a terrorist incident until we know otherwise," the Metropolitan Police tweeted.

"#Westminster: We thank the public for their assistance & urge people to remain calm, be alert & vigilant."

"Officers – including firearms officers – are on scene and dealing with the incident in #Westminster," it said. Staff inside Parliament were told to stay inside their offices.

Press Association political editor Andrew Woodcock, who witnessed the scenes unfolding from his office window, said, "Heard shouts and screams from outside and looked out, and there was a group of maybe 40 or 50 people running round the corner from Bridge Street into Parliament Square."

"They appeared to be running away from something."

"As the group arrived at the Carriage Gates, where policemen are posted at the security entrance, a man suddenly ran out of the crowd and into the yard. (See page 4)

SC to hear Babri Masjid case today

NEW DELHI, March 22: The Supreme Court today fixed for tomorrow the hearing in the Babri Masjid demolition case in which senior BJP leaders LK Advani, MM Joshi and Uma Bharti are accused.

A bench headed by Justice PC Ghose said the appropriate bench comprising himself and Justice RF Nariman will be hearing the matter tomorrow. Justice Nariman was not present in the court today.

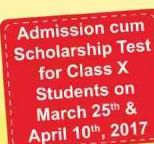

The bench, also comprising Justice Deepak Gupta, said that Justice Nariman will be back tomorrow and it will take up the matter.

At the outset, counsel for Haji Mahboob Ahmad (since (See page 4)

DTO, traffic police to inspect city school buses

STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, March 22: The District Transport Officer along with the Traffic Police will carry out inspections to see whether school buses of various private schools in the city are maintaining safety norms.

Deputy Commissioner of Kamrup Metro Dr M Angamuthu gave an order to this effect at a meeting of the Regional Transport Authority (RTA) held here today.

Dr Angamuthu said that the RTA would follow Supreme Court directions with regard to safety norms and within 30 days, the Transport department would inspect the school buses.

In this context, the onus has been put on the principals of the schools concerned to ensure that safety norms are adhered to.

Almost 300 school buses have been seized by the Transport Department as they have crossed their period of longevity. DTO in-charge (Enforcement) Bapan Kalita said.

Parking places for school buses will also have to be provided by the school authorities and 60 days' time has been allowed to school authorities to identify the pick-up and drop-off locations for students who use their parents' own vehicles for travelling to and from schools.

The meeting also discussed the issue regarding plying of e-rickshaws in the city and it was decided that e-rickshaws will be allowed to ply as the last mile connectivity. It decided that all e-rickshaws must be registered within May 30.

Assembling of foreign-made e-rickshaws will be inspected by the Transport department, the DC said in his order. The DTO (Enforcement) was asked to convene a meeting with the E-rickshaw Association and dealers next week.

The DC also ordered the DTO to take initiative for a route plan and permit regulation process for e-rickshaws.

The meeting also discussed the issue regarding plying of e-rickshaws in the city and it was decided that all e-rickshaws must be registered within May 30.

Assembling of foreign-made e-rickshaws will be inspected by the Transport department, the DC said in his order. The DTO (Enforcement) was asked to convene a meeting with the E-rickshaw Association and dealers next week.

The participants were informed that in the National Highway 37, from Juhkbari to Khanapara, the Transport department has identified 22 spots to be used as bus stops. They were also informed that the State Transport Authority has decided not to give more permits to share taxis and city buses from April 1. The meeting also took a resolution not to allow diesel autos to ply in the GMC area.

It was also decided to ask the transport association to ply city buses on a few routes like the Lokhra-Nepali Mandir (Palitan Bazar), Gauhati-Fatasil Ambart, Gosei-Malagon and Narengi-Six Mile.

Ban on Namami Brahmaputra Fest theme song demanded

STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, March 22: The theme song of the Namami Brahmaputra Festival has hurt the sentiments and feelings of the indigenous people, the All Assam Tribal Sangha has alleged.

Sangha general secretary Atulya Khakhar said the actual history of Assam and the North East has been distorted in the song. "It has shown utter disregard to cultural harmony and tribal culture and history. The cultural history of Assam-Arunachal Pradesh has not been showcased at all," he said.

"If anyone can pronounce the word Brahmaputra, it does not mean he or she is well versed in the history, identity and glory of the Brahmaputra and its contribution towards the civilisation's development," he said, demanding a ban on the song.

MMCH botched-up surgeries

HC directs payment of compensation to victims

STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, March 22: In an important judgment, the Guwahati High Court today directed the State respondents to pay a compensation of Rs 3.5 lakh under the public law domain to each of the five victims who lost the vision in one eye following botched-up surgeries at the Mahendranath Molan Choudhury Hospital (MMCH) in 2015.

The names of the victims are Garga Ram Kalita, Dhamresher Rancharay, Tarni Kanta Medhi, Rup Sundari Mondol and Sabtri Devi. They all hail from Kamrup (Metro).

Representing the victims, advocates Bijon Mahajan and Arshad Choudhury had pressed for pecuniary aid to the underprivileged victims who lost the vision in one eye due to the surgery done to treat cataract, and also cited gross negligence on the part of the respondents while treat-her 28 from the hospital, they were again asked to report on November 30 for a check-up.

The patients were then rushed to the Sri Sankaradeva Nethralaya. However, none of the attendants or family members was allowed to accompany the patients. It was only on December 2 that the hospital authorities revealed that an eye from each of the victims has been removed.

The Court, after hearing both the sides, directed the State Government to pay the compensation of Rs 3.5 lakh to each of the victims.

The State Government was represented by Additional Advocate General of Assam Devajit Saikia.

Impractical recommendation

However well meaning it might be, the recommendation of a three-member bench of the Supreme Court of India headed by Chief Justice JS Khehar, that the contending parties in the Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid land dispute in Ayodhya settle the matter out of court, is to say the least, impractical. One needs to bear in mind that the dispute has been hovering over the socio-political scenario in Uttar Pradesh for quarter of a century without moving an inch towards possible resolution. Thus there is ground for scepticism as to how any new initiative towards a settlement would bear fruit now, unless the changed circumstances are used to hoveat the party of the contending parties into doing so. In fact, the conditions are even more inauspicious at the precise moment; the BJP has just won a spectacular victory in the State's Assembly elections; though the development card was flaunted by the party during the campaign, there was an underlying interface between the party's saffron wings and the electorate vis-a-vis the temple building issue. That the new Chief Minister is a die-hard champion of those who willy-nilly wants to build a temple even if they have to disregard minority sentiments in the process enhances the scepticism about meaningful dialogue between the contending parties, a reality augumented by the fact that the BJP might be on its way to removing the Raja Sabha obstacle.

This is the hint thrown by one of the main petitioners in the case currently lying before the Apex Court, the maverick BJP politician Subramanian Swamy, while reacting to the Apex Court's recommendation. Swamy has allegedly threatened to use Parliament to enact a law to build the Ram Janmabhoomi temple unless Muslims accept his proposal to build a mosque across the Sarayu river as he had earlier suggested. Various Muslim bodies have made it abundantly clear that they are not amenable to this suggestion and any concessions from them is highly unlikely, even if, as the Chief Justice has said, he himself is invited to act as an adjudicator. The Apex Court, while making the recommendation for an out of court settlement and urging all the parties to make another attempt towards that end, has stated its willingness to hear out the petitions submitted before it after the controversial Allahabad High Court judgement allotting equal share of the land of 2.77 acres to three claimants. Given the negligible prospect of any amicable out of court settlement, it would be more practical for the Apex Court to scrutinize the petitions before it and pronounce a judgement. A firm ruling and clear-cut directives by the Apex Court would work more effectively towards bringing a final and irrevocable end to a sensitive issue which has been festering for too long and was working as a catalyst for communal tensions.

Kaziranga concerns

The past few years have seen a spurt in rhino poaching in the celebrated habitat, the Kaziranga National Park. The mounting rhino toll laces bare the glaring lapses on the part of the KNP authorities, the Forest Department, the local administration and the State Government vis-a-vis management of this prime wildlife habitat. Authorities such as CAG and NGT also keep voicing concern over the inadequacy of the measures taken so far to contain the menace of poaching. Apparently, a lot remains to be done in strengthening the frontline staff in matters of arms, training and intelligence gathering so that they can take on poachers which operate with a lot of dexterity. The assertion of the Government that rhino poaching has come down in the past couple of years is hardly any solace, given that the dip in rhino fatality is only marginal and a substantial number of rhinos were killed during the period. Rather than gloating over the 'diminishing' trend of rhino deaths, the authorities would do well to address the glaring anomalies in frontline manpower management as well as lapses in other anti-poaching measures. Given the magnitude of the poaching, training in sophisticated arms is a must, and it is a welcome development that decks have been cleared for the purpose. It should be remembered that the forest frontline staff in Kaziranga as also across many other wildlife habitats work in harsh jungle conditions bereft of adequate amenities. This is having an adverse bearing on their efficiency and motivation levels, and the sooner such concerns are addressed, the better would it be for long-term conservation prospects of our precious wildlife and their habitats.

Poaching aside, other debilitating concerns too continue to plague Kaziranga – not the least being the spurt in tourist facilities and commercial activities in the Park's periphery. Regrettably, the Forest Department and the administration chose to turn a blind eye to the developments imminent to the Park's interests for a long time for reasons best known to them. The spurt in tourist facilities, industrial activities and expanding human settlements along the park's southern boundary and beyond has disrupted Kaziranga's much-needed contiguity with the forested hills of Karbi Anglong. From the point of conservation, it is imperative to treat the Kaziranga-Karbi Anglong landscape as a single entity – more so in view of the critical role the Karbi Anglong highlands play during the recurring floods when the park remains submerged and the animals in their hordes invariably find shelter in the hills. Things have worsened this far that even the very few existing animal corridors linking Kaziranga with the hills stand highly degraded today in the face of increasing commercial activities and expanding settlements. The fallouts of the disappearing corridors are already palpable in the form of an escalating man-animal conflict in the fringe areas. If the Government is serious about Kaziranga's long-term interests, it needs to act firmly and regulate the spurt in tourist facilities and other commercial activities besides the expanding settlements by making a policy decision.

Is market economy antithetical to democracy?

ROUGH & Tumble
By Patricia Mukhim

Prime Minister Narendra Modi came to power against the backdrop of how he transformed Gujarat into a business and investor-friendly State apart from good governance. Business summits organized by the Modi Government were big ticket events and became the talking point even among foreign business delegations. Modi's idea of a progressive India is based on his Gujarat experiences. So going by this logic, Gujarat should be a State where poverty is largely eliminated because the gains made by big investments would have trickled down to the lowest common denominator. But is that really the case? Can the markets address the evils of unjust social structures marked by casteism? Can it put to rest religious intolerance and communism? Has India now got it wrong by believing that a new market-driven economic order would flatten out all the uneven socio-economic spaces and that the new generation would leave behind the dissonance that has plagued Indian society? Many have serious doubts.

The market economy did not enter our vocabulary in 2014. It was an imperative that India had to embrace it in 1991 when the economy hit rock bottom. The Nehruvian idea of a mixed economy did not really work. While some basic infrastructure was created, the pace of development was not in sync with the aspirations of a new nation whose citizens had high expectations from their leaders post Independence. All that one can remember of that generation were the five-year plans that led to the institutionalization of the Planning Commission. This later became a super body – a monolith that was not accountable to Parliament but had enough powers to craft out schemes that were implemented across States, as if their needs were homogeneous and so too their geography and demography. As a result of the Planning Commission's 'one size fits all' model of development, many ill-conceived schemes failed.

There was the Integrated Rural Development Programme (IRDP), which failed big time in States like Meghalaya. The self-help groups (SHGs) created to meet targets for implementing the scheme were not bottom-up institutions that were need-based but suffered from a top-down approach where government officials herded a few people whose economic interests were antagonistic to each other. Hence, they failed the moment they were created but were listed in the government's books. If the SHGs had been set up the way they should be – through a process of participatory rural appraisal (PRRA) including training rural folks – to train their own idea of development and to form groups in accordance with their economic inclinations, they would have survived and thrived and ventured into individual enterprises after five or 10 years. SHGs are not meant to remain small borrowers or clients of micro-enterprises forever. The members are trained to manage their small businesses and their books so they graduate into medium-sized businesses and later to big businesses. But government officials hardly cared about outcomes. They only managed their targets on paper and the rest is history.

India continues to be a nation with very high poverty levels even today. The fact that subsidies in LPG and food grains still have to be doled suggests the means and the sources of funding to meet this ambitious, albeit noble project. The National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (NREGS) that promised 100 days work for one member from each rural household was launched. The daily wages were well defined in the scheme and the local panchayats (village durbars in tribal areas) identified deserving individuals within their jurisdiction. Village Employment Councils (VECs) were formed to oversee the implementation of the scheme. These VECs were answerable to the Block Development Officers (BDOs) who in turn were accountable to the district administration.

In its audit report of 2011, the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) of India found significant deficiencies in the implementation of NREGS. Later a study titled India's National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme as it is – Interpreting the Official Report by R Jha and R Gaiha, using official data, concluded that NREGS has not performed well. They found that official claims of higher agricultural wage rates and lower migration were mostly exaggerated even while those who benefited from the scheme felt a growing sense of entitlement. The study also found that durable community assets were not created, especially in tribal States where community land is rapidly converted into privately-held property. Recently 87 lakh names of non-existing persons were dropped from the NREGS list. Indeed, as someone rightly observed, the NREGS had democratized corruption bringing it down to the village level.

In this grim scenario and with a Prime Minister intent on rooting out corruption, what economic formula would work best? Leftist ideologies blame neo-liberalism or the free market economy as the enemy of the poor and accuse the state of being in league with big business and alienating land belonging to impoverished tribals to hand them over to mining companies. Does the NDA Government at the Centre have an economic design that is crafted with clarity and a long-term vision for this country? Is the demonetisation drive which the ordinary citizen believes was a surgical strike against the wealthy, enough to address intrinsic corruption? Economists are yet to pronounce a clear verdict on the long impacts of demonetization. But what other economic formula does the NDA Government have? The Goods and Services Tax (GST), a uniform taxation regime, is intended to speed up movement of goods to empower the States better. Even the NITI Aayog is an exercise in granting more autonomy to the States to decide their development priorities.

But the bigger initiatives of the NDA Government are easier land acquisition rules for public-private partnerships, industrial corridors and social infrastructure. Earlier, permission was required from villagers to industrial units located in exclusive economic zones. This clause has since been removed from the Land Acquisition Act. The Modi Government has also been working overtime to attract foreign investments, especially from Japan, China and the United States which have together committed to invest over $100 billion. Whether this investment actually comes in is a question mark.

The concern is that the Modi Government had to take the ordinance route to push through major reforms. The Opposition calls this a subversion of democracy since these ordinances bypass Parliament. This raises the question as to whether democracy actually slows down economic reforms. Can any government imblie the core principles of democracy and yet make economic progress? Increasingly, voices of dissent term Modi as a PM who will bypass democracy, encourage polarization along religious lines, encourage the forces of Hindutva as is happening in Uttar Pradesh to get his way. We will have to wait until late 2018 to see if Modi is good for India or otherwise. By then it might also be revealed whether the market economy with its preying instincts can pull India and its millions out of poverty.

Rising expectation on Judiciary

■ Satya Nath Sarma

In a democracy, the role of the Judiciary is crucial. The Judiciary is a faithful keeper of the constitutional assurances and in view of that, the judiciary is entrusted with an important duty of protecting and safeguarding the rights of individuals and putting a check on arbitrary actions of the state and other organizations. It is only an independent and impartial Judiciary that can make the legal system vibrant. Our Indian Judiciary, Creativity, credibility, success and activeness of judicial process ultimately depend on the manner of doing administration of justice. The welfare of citizens greatly depends upon speedy and impartial justice based on distributive justice based on objectivity.

The efficiency factor primarily affects the efficacy of justice delivery system. Judicial incapacity, lethargy, disinclination to learn, lack of effective and strict law-teaching mechanism to equip judges, lack of common sense are worrying factors that affect the delivery of justice.

It is almost found in various transactions that whenever there appears a quarrel or a dispute between two parties, the weaker party being helpless takes the name of court and makes up his mind to go to court. The common people, who are physically, mentally, economically or socially weak, always take resort of the court. For them, the only machinery to help them is the court – the Temple of Justice.

The Constitution of India provides for a single integrated judicial system with the Supreme Court at the top, High Courts at the middle (State) and District Courts at the ground level. The Judiciary enjoys full autonomy in its working. The Judiciary is not only the protector and guardian of the Constitution but also the protector against the possible excesses of the Legislature and the Executive organs which make the Judiciary most respected. The independent Judiciary being one of the basic structures of the Constitution makes the institution vibrant, strong and justice-oriented. Although the people in India have their reservations about the fairness of the Executive, it is not denying the fact that up till now, the people in India have complete faith in the Judiciary which is good for the health and survival of democracy.

The Judiciary being one of the organs of our system of government should fulfill the hopes and aspiration of the common people. It is an accepted fact that the Indian Judiciary stood on the edifice of the British colonial rule and their imposed system should need modifications favourable and suited to the common people of India. In the last two decades, the Apex Court's contribution to the legislative policy-making is noticeable. The rights to food, housing, education and information have all foreshadowed parliamentary legislation. In this connection, we may refer the direction of the Apex Court passed in the famous Vishakha's case (Vishakha and Others vs State of Rajasthan). In this case, the direction and guidance given by the Apex Court in the year 1997 to prevent the sexual harassment in workplace ultimately led to the passing of the Sexual Harassment of Women in the Workplace (Prevention and Redressal) Act, 2013.

Similarly, while dealing with a writ petition dated April 18, 2011 in the famous Bachpan Bachao Andolan vs State of India and Others, Justices Dalbir Bhandary and AK Patnaik of the Supreme Court prohibited the engagement of children in the circus. In the said judgment, the Apex Court directed the Central Government to rescue all the children who were engaged in the various circus parties and handed over them to their parents or to rehabilitate them. The said judgment is a classic example of upholding the basic rights of a child by the Supreme Court.

In the present scenario, the Judiciary is the source of confidence and fearlessness. The decision given by the court really determines the meaning, nature and scope of the laws passed by the Legislature. The proper interpretation of law by the Judiciary amounts to law making which really defines the law. The expectation of the common people on the Judiciary is very high and it is the solemn duty and responsibility of the Judiciary to decide the matter quickly, impartially, honestly and without fear or favor to anybody. If that is not done, there would be a threat to democracy in near future. The court must take care to see that it does not overstep the limits of its judicial function and trespass into areas which are reserved to the Executive and the Legislature by the Constitution.

Letters to the EDITOR

Sir, — Through these columns, I would like to draw the attention of the Railway Minister Rajen Gohain to the fact that unlike in other States where most intercity trains have vendor coaches, which help the rural, small agricultural and handicraft producers carry their products to the markets of the cities, the trains in Assam do not have the same. We are a group of educated youths trying to set up agro-based enterprises in Jonai (Murmongsele). However, when we tried to transport eggs, chicken and ducks to the Kamakhya station on the Murmongsele Express, the station master informed us that only dogs, horses and pigs (certified by veterinarian) are allowed to be transported. I have seen how marginal farmers are harassed by the RPF personnel when they carry their products (unofficially) in the normal express trains. This facility of vendor coaches has the potential of empowering the local people by eliminating a lot of middle men. Such coaches are needed in all the intercity trains which leave their originating places at night and reach Guwahati the next morning. Yours etc., MONJIT DUTTA, Jonai.

Traditional practices

Sir, — With time, indigenous knowledge is gradually on the verge of extinction. The North-eastern region has many traditional practices which are effective and economic. The Energy and Research Institute (TERI) and the Indira Gandhi National Centre for the Arts with the National Institute of Technology, Silchar organized a workshop on the role of information communication technology in preservation of indigenous knowledge of the North-east recently. I'm thankful to the organizers for this endeavour. Indigenous knowledge on different facets of life is in abundance which needs to be tapped and documented. Scientific research will benefit everyone and it's overdue to act on preserving the data still left within our region. Yours etc., Dr PINAKI CHAKRABORTY, Silchar.

NCERT textbook

Sir, — This refers to the letter 'HS Physics paper' (AT, March 17) written by K Bhuyan. The ground reality is that the HS Physics paper 2017 definitely had a shift of standard as compared to the previous 20 years. The language was tricky but not ambiguous. Several questions which looked odd including conversion of cobalt nuclei were directly set from the NCERT textbook (Page No. 451) which is recommended by the AHSEC in its syllabus. With the disaster faced by the examinees now, it is time to verify whether the NCERT textbook is followed in letter and spirit in the teaching-learning system under the AHSEC.

We would like to remind the writer that in the new UGC syllabus in the undergraduate Major courses, the Dirac Delta function will be present in the Semester I, which means the study of BSc will be a challenging one in future. It's high time that we should move on and look for the standards of the CBSE in AHSEC Science stream. Let the academicians of Assam come forward to suggest modifications in the AHSEC system like amendments to remove MIL as a core subject in the Science stream of HS so that the students are less burdened and concentrate more on the elective subjects. We also request the AHSEC to do the needful so that the students are not at the receiving side due to the shift in the standard of the HS Physics paper 2017. Yours etc., LEEPLADHAR CHOUDHAN, Kokrajhar.

Silapathar attack

Sir, — We are all aware about the shocking and unfortunate incident that took place at Silapathar on March 6 last. We vehemently condemn the incident of vandalism. The State has been witnessing widespread protests from various organizations after the incident. We feel that whoever is behind the incident should be punished and they should be dealt with by the Government with an iron hand. Yours etc., USHAKANTI DAS, Rukniganj, Guwahati.

Wind power

Sir, — This is with reference to the letter 'Developing solar power' (AT, March 22). I would like to mention that the heat generated by the sun consists of radioactive substance and larger amounts of radiation can cause illness and deaths. To me, the production of clean energy through wind power is more feasible and eco-friendly than developing solar power. Yours etc., KAMALIJIT DAS, Pub Sarania, Guwahati.

Priyadarshini alleges police inaction in sexual abuse case

STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, March 22:

Femina Miss India World 2016 Priyadarshini Chatterjee today submitted a memorandum to Governor Biju Patnaik, Chief Minister Sarbananda Sonowal and Chief Justice of the Gauhati High Court Ajit Singh against "police inaction" in a sexual abuse case where a minor girl was allegedly sexually molested by a Professor of the College of Veterinary Science, Khanapara.

Priyadarshini, who is the ambassador of UTSAH's anti-child abuse programme, in her memorandum said, "When all doors are closed, I found no other option but to write to you...."

She also details of the case in question where the accused had already been allowed pre-arrest anticipatory bail.

She also stated that cases of child sexual abuse are on the rise in Assam, which is also associated with the University Team for Social Action and Help (UTSAH), an organisation working for child rights, gave details of the sequence of events of the case in question and demanded intervention from the top offices of the State. Also, the perpetrators of child sexual abuse sets a poor precedent and encourages crimes against children in the State. Also, the cases under the Protection of Children against Sexual Offences Act, 2012," the memorandum signed by Priyadarshini stated.

Miguel Des Quech of UTSAH also opined, "It is indeed very sad that the perpetrators of such crimes are moving freely. The intervention of the Governor, the Chief Minister and the Chief Justice of Gauhati High Court has been sought so that the victims do not lose hope on the system."

The case relates to a 13-year-old girl, who was allegedly tortured and abused sexually by the owner of the house for quite some time. The minor girl fled the house and was subsequently rescued by a team of ChildLine. A case was also lodged by UTSAH with the Dibrugarh Police Station against the professor and his wife.

“We would like to bring all the libraries of CFSI films to the children of the North East from across the North East in presence of eminent personalities of the Assamese film industry and distinguished guests.

“Our objective is to sensitise the children of Assam and other north-eastern states through meaningful and film-related workshops,” he added.

CFSI has been organising National Children's Film Festival in different parts of India for the last few years. The Guwahati edition of the festival consists of different capacity building activities and workshops on film-making, script writing and sand animation of the region,” Dr Shrawan Kumar, CEO, CFSI, told

The Assam Tribune.

Acknowledging that the North East has a rich history of film-making and has produced many noted directors and artists in the industry, Dr Kumar said that with film-making ingrained to the culture of the region, CFSI is happy to host the three-day National Film Festival in Guwahati.

The inauguration was done by a large number of children from across the North East in presence of eminent personalities of the Assamese film industry and distinguished guests.

“We would like to bring all the libraries of CFSI films to the children of the North East from across the North East in their own languages, and to begin with, we have selected a hundred best films and are going to dub those in six major languages of the north-eastern states and take them to every village and every district of the region,” Dr Shrawan Kumar, CEO, CFSI, told entertainment for children to broaden their prospective and encourage them to reflect on the world around. With an enviable catalogue of 250 films in ten different languages, CFSI remains the prime producer of children's films in South Asia,” Dr Kumar said.

“CFSI promotes films that promote healthy and wholesome

CFSI has joined hands with Smile Foundation, a national-level development organisation that works for children's health and education, to host the National Children's Film Festival in Guwahati.

Today's screening of two films – Prince and the Crown of Stone (English) and Kajol Wild Berry (Hindi) at 11 am and 2 pm respectively – elicited enthusiastic response from the children. A workshop on sand animation was another highlight of today's programmes.

Tomorrow, Assamese film Ebeeta, Hindi film Papu ki Pabudgaon and Mizo film Kia Lodo will be screened.

Mahanta calls for united resistance

AJIT PATOWARY

GUWAHATI, March 22:
Former Chief Minister and senior Asom Gana Parishad

(AGP) leader Prafulla Kumar Mahanta today made an appeal to all those organisations championing the cause of the State's indigenous people to unitedly resist the Union government's move to amend the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, 2016 contrary to the very essence of the Indian Constitution and the interest of the indigenous peoples of the State.

Talking to this newspaper, Mahanta warned that if these organisations fail to resist the move, the indigenous people of the State would face a bleak future.

Describing the provisions of the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, 2016 contrary to the very essence of the Indian Constitution and a betrayal to the people of Assam, the former Chief Minister said that if enacted, this piece of legislation will also infringe the provisions of the 1985 Assam Accord.

He alleged that time and again Assam has been subjected to gross injustice. During the partition of the country, Sylhet and Rangpur, which opted to remain with Assam, were ceded to Bengal. The illegal migrants (Determination by Tribunals) Act, now scrapped, was also imposed on it only to make the determination and deportation of illegal Bangla migrants a top proposition, he said.

Assam is the worst victim of the 1947 partition of the country. It lost Sylhet, Rangpur and Cooch Behar, etc., areas and was heavily burdened with innumerable refugees, which had an adverse impact on the society.

The spectacular win of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) candidates from the State during the 2014 Lok Sabha elections and the victory of the BJP-AGP alliance during the last Assembly elections were possible because of the high expectations of the indigenous people from the BJP and the alliance. He also maintained that compared to the issues of distribution of ministerial portfolios and chairmanship of the public sector undertakings, safeguarding the interest of the State and its indigenous people is more important.

"The loss is irreparable to the entire State," said AGP's central executive member Nirina Sarma of Jorhat who was very closely associated with him since the Assam Agitation.

Expressing sorrow in his death, Vice Chancellor of Jorhat Assam Agricultural University Dr Kamal Malla Baruah said that the university, as well as the State, lost a pragmatic figure in the death of Sarma who was a former member of the university's board of management. Dr Biju Baruah said that it was rare to find a personality like Abhijit Sarma, who always extended "unbiased suggestions" for constructive works.

Along with several social, student and academic organisations, the Assam Tea Planters' Association (ATPA), many political personalities and senior citizens of Jorhat mourned the demise of Sarma.

Sonashish Parashar, Asom Gana Parishad, Shram Parishad, Ason Krishak Parishad, AGP Tea Cell, AGP Religious Minority Council, AGP Linguistic Minority Council and the employees of the AGP headquarters here. The All Assam Students' Union also stated, day, stated an official press release here.

Sonashish Parashar also conveyed his deepest sympathies to the bereaved family of Sarma.

In a condolence message, Chief Minister Sonowal termed the death of Sarma as an irreparable loss to the social life of the State and stated that the contributions of late Sarma as a leader of All Assam Students' Union during the Assam Agitation will always be remembered.

Late Sarma, who represented the prestigious Jorhat Legislative Assembly Constituency (LAC) in the Assam Assembly and became a Minister of State and Health in the first term of the AGP government in 1985, could emerge as a distinguished personality in the State's political arena with his vision and hard work. Apart from his brief political career, late Sarma also earned significant success as a tea planter and was a pioneer entrepreneur of the State, said the Chief Minister.

Sonashish Parashar also conveyed his deepest sympathies to the bereaved family of Sarma.

In a condolence message, Asom Gana Parishad (AGP) president Atul Boruah described the death of Sarma as an irreparable loss to the society.

Sarma was a nationalist as well as a regionalist in the true sense of the terms, Boruah said and conveyed his sympathy to the bereaved family of the former minister.

Sarma's death has also been condoled by former Chief Minister Prafulla Kumar Mahanta, Asom Yuva

Parishad, Asom Mahila Parishad, Shram Parishad, Ason Krishak Parishad, AGP Tea Cell, AGP Religious Minority Council, AGP Linguistic Minority Council and the employees of the AGP headquarters here. The All Assam Students' Union also stated, day, stated an official press release here.

Indo-Bangladesh cycling expedition flagged off

STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, March 22: A joint cycling expedition of Indian and Bangladeshi armies was flagged off today at Agartala by Lt Gen AS Bedi, GOC of Gajraj Corps. The expedition will travel across India and Bangladesh from Agartala, Comilla, Dhaka and Jessor, culminating at Kolkata after covering approximately 500 km over 12 days. During the expedition the team will also visit historical battle sites of the glorious Liberation War of Bangladesh in 1971.

Addressing the Joint Indo-Bangladesh Army cycling team, Lt Gen AS Bedi highlighted the shared history of both countries and stressed upon the friendly relations between both countries. He brought out that the introduction of joint adventure activities between the two armies will result in increased mutual understanding and cooperation between the countries. The flagging off ceremony was also marked by performances by cultural troupes from North East.

Earlier, the Bangladesh Army expedition team comprising of five officers and ten soldiers had reached Agartala on March 19. They visited various heritage sites near Agartala and also war memorials to honour the martyrs of 1971 Liberation War of Bangladesh.

New fish species discovered in Assam

IMPHAL, March 22: A new fish species has been discovered in Dima Hasao district of Assam by a three member specialist team from Manipur and Assam. The new fish called Garra clavirostris, is a cyprinid fish.

It was found in the Daima river, a tributary of Brahmaputra in Dima Hasao district, by Thaosen Sarbohit of Hailong Government College, Narenbari Roni and Pari Wakhom Vishwanath of Manipur University's Life Science department.

With the new discovery, Prof Vishwanath led team has so far discovered more than 60 freshwater fish species. The International Union for Conservation of Nature has rated Prof Vishwanath among its 19 member fresh water fish specialist group to study the 18 fresh water region of the world. — Correspondent ticipating in the discussion on two supplementary demands raised by Ministers Zodinthaung and John Rothlangma.

"The Deputy Speaker dismissed the discussion and called the Ministers to wind up at 12:40pm, ignoring Er Lalrinnawma who raised his hand," MNF MLA Dr Keibichua said. By the time the discussion was dismissed, only four members, two each from ruling and opposition benches, had participated.

"The Deputy Speaker said he would dismiss the discussion if there is no other member to join the discussion. At that time, Er Lalrinnawma raised his hand. The Deputy Speaker pretended that he did not see anyone raising hand. Then I stood up and said I just saw him raising his hand. The Deputy Speaker ignored us and went ahead with his decision," Dr Beichhua said.

Dr Beichhua said they immediately met Speaker Hipeihai at his office and told him of their displeasure with the Deputy Speaker's ruling and their decision to boycott the remaining Assembly proceedings under the latter's chairmanship.

"This is partiality and disrespect to the members of the House. It is also against democratic principles," Dr Beichhua fumed.

"We were to discuss supplementary demands of two important departments. We had a lot of things to discuss about suspicious misappropriation of funds in the two departments. Did the Deputy Speaker want to prevent us from discussing all these things?" MNF MLA Lalruatkima asked.

Ganja seized

AIZAWL, March 22: Opposition MLAs in Mizoram Assembly stormed out of the ongoing budget session today in protest against the alleged "partial ruling" of Deputy Speaker R Lalrinnawma.

Talking to reporters after the walkout, Er Lalrinnawma, of Mizo National Front (MNF), said the Opposition MLAs will not attend the remaining days of the budget session if the Deputy Speaker continues to sit on the Speaker's chair.

The Opposition has six MLAs in the 40-member Assembly while the MNF and one Mizoram People's Conference, while the ruling Congress has 34 MLAs.

that the Report remains unimplemented, he demanded that the Committee's report should be tabled in the Parliament.

Meanwhile, Suresh Angadi a BJP MP from Karnataka intervened and claimed that such incidents were taking place during the Congress rule but when BJP was in power it had managed to put a halt to such incidents.

His intervention, however, led to a loud protest from the Congress Bench and House witnessed a chaotic scene. The Congress party later demanded that the Centre should take action to stop such attacks.

On motion for vote on account and the voting for supplementary grants in the State Assembly here. Opposition Congress leaders Okram Ibohi Singh and K Mehangadha also participated in the discussion.

However, the CM assured the House that his government will pick up the pending major projects which were once taken up by the previous government.

Later, the House passed the motion for Vote on Account amounting to Rs 3,828 crore. The house also unanimously passed the demands for supplementary grants.

In his speech, at kilometer (prime minister) of NSCN/GPRN Th Muivah said after years of negotiations, for the first time in history, the Government of India has recognised the legitimate rights of the Nagas basing on Nag history. Muivah said, "We have agreed that integration should not be through military but democratic process and as earlier."

According to him, the agreement embraces all Nagas and their territories and cautioned that rejecting the issue-based agreement would pull back the Nagas decades behind others. Kholi appealed for unity and reconciliation among the Nagas.

IIIM Shillong's Int'l exchange programme

SHILLONG, March 22: Indian Institute of Management, Shillong inaugurated its International Student Exchange Programme, on Tuesday with Mandalay University, Myanmar.

The course titled "Refresher Course in Management" is spread over a duration of 10 days and aims to facilitate MBA students to understand management through a renewed perspective in tandem with the changing global scenario.

The programme was inaugurated by the chief guest, Falguni Rajkumar, chairman, Board of Governors, IIIM Shillong. The session was addressed by IMI Shillong director, IMI Shillong who thanked the Ministry of External Affairs and Mandalay General, Mandalay, Myanmar for their support in establishing and facilitating the programme.

Dr Naliniprava Tripathy, co-ordinator of Mandalay University Programme said, "We look forward to more such exchanges with premier Universities and Schools across the globe."

A memorandum of understanding was signed to promote the programme and facilitate research initiatives and faculty-student exchanges in the coming years, a press release said.

Manipur situation is like Cherapunjee rain: Biren

CORRESPONDENT

IMPHAL, March 22: Manipur Chief Minister Nongthombam Biren Singh on Wednesday expressed great concern over the frequent bandhs and blockades in the State and compared the unpredictable situation in the State with the rain in Cherapunjee.

The Chief Minister pointed out that the frequent bandhs and blockades have severely affected the various projects in the State. Biren, who is the first BJP Chief Minister in Manipur; made the comparison while making a clarification during a discussion on motion for vote on account and the voting for supplementary grants in the State Assembly here. Opposition Congress leaders Okram Ibohi Singh and K Mehangadha also participated in the discussion.

He touched upon the changing geopolitics of the State from traditional to modern and drove home the point that "change of our village-state to a nation-state under republican system becomes imperative."

Kholi's message, read out by a secretary, expressed concern over the mushrooming factions in Nagaland saying infighting among the Nagas magnify the problem. "NSCN is definitely for solution," he asserted.

According to him, the agreement embraces all Nagas and their territories and cautioned that rejecting the issue-based agreement would pull back the Nagas decades behind others. Kholi appealed for unity and reconciliation among the Nagas.

Subsidised housing, education loans for govt employees

STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, March 22: The Assam Government today signed an MoU with the State Bank of India to provide housing and educational loans to State government employees at subsidised interest rates.

The Government will provide interest subsidy at the rate of 3.50 per cent for housing loan and at a suitable rate to make educational loan at 4 per cent. The effective rate of interest for housing loan will be 5 per cent for women employees and 5.05 per cent for male employees.

State Finance Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said the scheme would help create an atmosphere for better work culture.

"We must acknowledge that employees are key stakeholders in our quest for development. They have a major role in taking the schemes and services to the people," he said.

Sarma said the housing scheme would reignite the economy in the sense that it would create additional economic activity.

NEW DELHI, March 22: Hindujia group flagship Ashok Leyland is looking to strengthen presence in the country's logistics sector that is estimated to touch $370 billion by 2020. The company is enhancing its range of fully built vehicles in order to tap the sector which is expected to grow at a CAGR of 16 per cent. — PTI

"If 2 lakh people take the loan in one year, an amount of Rs 30,000 crore will be infused into the economy. People will purchase materials and engage workers," he said.

Employees who have already taken loans can switch over to the scheme after a year.

The application forms for the housing loan, christened as Apun Ghar, will have to be submitted to the District Development Officers (DDO) and there will be no need to mortgage property for loan amounts up to Rs 15 lakh.

"The salary accounts of the employees are with us. Why do we need any other mortgage? We plan to distribute housing loans to 10,000 applicants in May in the presence of the Chief Minister," the minister said.

There will be no processing fee and the benefits of interest subvention will be available to the eligible employees who apply for the loan within two years. Close relatives can also come together to avail the housing loan jointly.

In the second scheme, christened as Bidya Lakshmi, the Government will provide educational loans of Rs 5 lakh to Rs 10 lakh at 4 per cent interest.

Courses conducted by institutions approved by the UGC, government and AICTE anywhere in India will be covered under the scheme. The loan will be released directly to the institutions and there will be no collateral security on third-party guarantee for loans up to Rs 10 lakh. The repayment time is maximum fifteen years.

Budget provision for both the schemes in the year 2017-18 is Rs 20,000 lakh.

SBI's CGM (NE circle) PVSNL Murty described the scheme as unprecedented and said it would help employees in the lower echelons to avail loans at affordable rates.

The Finance Minister also inaugurated through video conferencing three new SBI branches at Jagun, Bordubi and Palan Bazar (Dibrugarh).

Airfares in India among 'lowest' globally: Sinha

NEW DELHI, March 22: India has one of the lowest and "most competitive" airfares in the world despite high cost of planes and fuel, Union Minister Jyant Sinha said today.

"These are the two most important costs for an airline. Our taxes are also quite high," said the Minister of State for Civil Aviation.

"But when you look at pricing in India, as far as Indian airlines are concerned, I can assure you that we are among the lowest and most competitive air fares in the world," he added.

In efforts to make air travel more affordable as well as connect unserved and under-served airports, the government has come out with the regional connectivity scheme.

Under the scheme - UDAN (Ude Desh Ka Aam Naagrik) - fares are capped at Rs 2,500 for one-way flights.

"Our effort is to provide air services at an affordable cost and the regional connectivity scheme UDAN is aimed at that only," Sinha said.

At an event organised by All India Manufacturers Association (AIMA), Sinha said the country's economy is delivering high quality products and services at very affordable prices for the consumers.

"We are frugal economy because we are poor country... So we have to deliver product and services at price points which are affordable. This forces us to really think about affordability and cost management at all the time," he noted.

In terms of purchasing power parity, India's GDP is around $8 trillion while it is about $18 trillion for both the US and China.

According to Sinha, India is growing at 7-8 per cent while the US is expanding at 2.5 per cent and in the case of China the growth rate is pegged at 6 per cent.

"It effectively means that the contribution that the Indian economy is going to make in the next decade in terms of relative contribution of growth of rest of the economy, is 180 per cent," he noted.

Further, he said that India's contribution to global GDP growth in PPP terms in the next decade would be almost twice what the US is going to add.

"...It is 60 per cent of China which is still going to be larger. But we are one-tenth of China, which is a much larger piece of $18 trillion," he added. — PTI

Further, implementation of the Goods and Services Tax (GST) regime, while not necessarily negative for road traffic, may alter the type of vehicles that would be used on certain routes, it said.

"Variation and volatility in traffic could reduce returns. Investors would take a hard look at this, including the impact of DFC and GST, when placing bids. They would also be wary of latent defects in roads that are not detected during technical examination," CRISIL Research Senior Director Prasad Kopardikar said in a statement.

According to the rating agency, investors would face in the freight-heavy nature of nation's highway traffic, the associated volatility, and reduction in road freight growth expected after the implementation of the Dedicated Freight Corridor (DFC) before placing bids.

Further, implementation of the Goods and Services Tax (GST) regime, while not necessarily negative for road traffic, may alter the type of vehicles that would be used on certain routes, it said.

"In TOT model, the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) transfers ownership and the right to collect toll of toll-operate-transfer (TOT) model, are likely to fetch around Rs 40,000 crore, much lower than the government estimates," says CRISIL.

According to CRISIL, the calculation assumes annual toll revenue growth of 7.8 per cent and return on equity of 14-16 per cent.

"Theoretically, Rs 40,000 crore can fund the construction of 2,800 km of four-lane national highways, which would be equal to the execution expected in fiscal 2017," it said.

CRISIL estimates that between fiscals 2018 and 2020, construction of highways would require investments of Rs 2.2 lakh crore, or more than twice the Rs 1 lakh crore set to be spent between fiscals 2015 and 2017, with higher execution of publicly funded projects.

"TOT could achieve the dual objective of releasing both the bandwidth of public agencies, otherwise used up for road maintenance activity, and funds for road construction. While traffic risk does exist in this model, offering bundles of diversified stretches – both by geography and traffic composition – could mitigate some of this risk," its Director Ajay Srinivasan said. — PTI

Monetisation of 75 highways likely to fetch Rs 40,000 cr: CRISIL

NEW DELHI, March 22: The first 75 operational highway projects, which will be monetised by the NHAI under the toll-operate-transfer (TOT) model, are likely to fetch around Rs 40,000 crore, much lower than the government estimates.

According to CRISIL, the calculation assumes annual toll revenue growth of 7.8 per cent and return on equity of 14-16 per cent.

Tripura unit of ONGC doubles gas output

AGARTALA, March 22: The Tripura unit of ONGC has doubled its gas production in last four years and has taken measures to further augment production for sustainable supply to consumers, an ONGC official said.

ONGC has more than doubled its production from 6,450 lakh cubic metres in 2012-13 to 13,820 lakh cubic metres in 2016-17, presently supplying gas consumers at 45 lakh cubic metres per day, the spokesperson said.

"The Tripura unit has taken initiative for augmenting its resources, expanding its resource base and expanding its operational activities across Tripura," ONGC spokesperson Sonali Dutta said.

As part of enhancing drilling activities, the rig fleet has been increased from three rigs in 2015-16 to seven rigs in 2016-17, with one more rig under tendering stage.

With the addition of these rigs, the number of wells drilled in the State has gone up from 10-12 wells in 2015-16 to 15 wells in 2016-17 in next three years, she said.

ONGC Tripura Asset is also augmenting its gas processing capacity from 49.5 lakh cubic metres per day in 2015-16 to 57.5 lakh cubic metres per day in 2016-17 with commissioning of Sonamura Gas Collection Station (GCS).

Further, it is setting up Gojala GCS of 5 lakh cubic metres per day capacity, 25 km from Sabroom, which is expected to be operational by April 2018.

Additionally it is enhancing processing capacity of ADB GCS from existing 22 lakh cubic metres per day to 27.5 lakh cubic metres per day, which is planned to be completed by 2018, she added.

ONGC has been operational in Tripura since 1972 and continues to be a proud partner in the progress and development of the State by exploring/producing from available gas reserves in Tripura.

In response to a recent media report on "Shifting of Basin from Tripura to Assam," she said ONGC has no plans of shifting its Agartala Forward Base office from Tripura to any other place.

Agartala forward base office is being strengthened with additional resources to take care of thrust in exploration activities in Tripura, the official said. — PTI

MUMBAI, March 22: The Bharatiya Mahila Bank will be merged with the State Bank of India on April 1, along with five associate banks, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said today.

All branches of Bharatiya Mahila Bank (BMB) will function as branches of the SBI from April 1. Customers, including depositors of BMB, will be treated as customers of SBL.

RBI said in a statement here.

It was earlier notified that five associate banks - SBBI (State Bank of Bikkaner and Jaipur), SBM (State Bank of Mysore), SBT (State Bank of Travancore), SPB (State Bank of Patiala) and SBH (State Bank of Hyderabad) - will be merged with the SBI on April 1.

The government had issued the acquisition order for Bharatiya Mahila Bank Limited on March 20. On Monday, the Centre said it had decided to merge the bank with the SBI to ensure greater banking services' outreach to more women.

The objectives of affordable credit to women as well as propagation of women-centric products need to be quickly achieved through a wider network and lower cost of funds, the Finance Ministry had said. — IANS

Ookla claims data accuracy; Jio says data contaminated

NEW DELHI, March 22: Clarifying on its testing method, broadband speed test Ookla today said data accuracy and neutrality is of utmost importance and the company goes to great lengths to ensure that the information collected on any Speedtest internet test is correctly reported.

Jio today said that admission by Ookla reinforces Jio's submission that there is a clear contamination in the primary data collected by Ookla in India.

"Data accuracy and neutrality are of utmost importance to Ookla and the company goes to great lengths to ensure that the information collected on any Speedtest internet test is correctly reported," the company said in a statement.

Jio lodged a complaint with the advertising watchdog - Advertising Standards Council of India (ASC) - reference to the issue of the fundamental flaw in Ookla's Speedtest methodology which Jio has pointed out repeatedly. We note that Ookla has now admitted to "limitations" in its application, and that it "does not always indicate the actual data provided with multiple SIMs."

This admission by Ookla reinforces Jio's submission that there was a clear contamination in the primary data collected by Ookla in India, where nearly 90 per cent of smartphones are dual-SIM devices, it said.

"Any results that are based on incorrect and contaminated primary data cannot be definitive, only probabilistic," it said. It is a truvest that such results are being passed off as "official" results by a market-leading operator. We will continue to expose such misleading practices and raise it at suitable forums," Reliance Jio added. — IANS

Digital and TV industry can co-exist: Experts

MUMBAI, March 22: Even as the increasing digital content viewing is perceived as a threat to the television industry, experts feel both can co-exist as the latter still continues to hold ground because of its reach.

Digital has been gathering steam in the last couple of years with many domestic players and international video streaming service providers like Netflix and Amazon launching their over-the-top (OTT) services in the country.

"The big advantage that television has is its reach. Television has become what connects the dots in this country. As digital takes over, viewers would go there but they would still want to have the same shared experience on TV as well," Star Content Studio President and Head of Content Gaurav Banerjee said at the FICCI Frames here today. He said people have predicted decline of various media and entertainment segments but nothing has really turned out to be true.

"Radio was supposed to die in 1950s. Doordarshan was over in the 1980s. We keep forgetting these deaths but in reality it has never happened. Even in America where a lot of these changes have happened, television is still incredibly big. This continues to happen in India as well," he said.

According to Discovery Networks Asia-Pacific Senior Vice-President and General Manager Karan Bajaj, India is a unique market where people might look to consume long format content on television and short-format digital.

"Such a large medium, such a large voice, will it get marginalised by technology? I don't think so. Its challenges give birth to more fresh and interesting content," she said.

As per a Chrome Data Analytics and Media report, around 6 per cent of the Indian urban population access over-the-top (OTT) content on a daily basis and 24 per cent on weekly basis, while noting that more than 50 per cent of the viewers still prefer TV as the first screen for viewing media contents.

"India is the only country which has gone to mobile phones. We are not buying smart TVs but we are buying mobiles. The dynamics of this is interesting because for them smart TV is leading to a TV channel competing with an Amazon or Netflix," he said.

Bajaj noted that India might end up with a scenario where TV becomes a long-form medium and mobile becomes a short-form medium and the interplay exists where both have a role to play, which is very different from any other market. — PTI

Rebels, jihadists begin new offensive in central Syria

BEIRUT, March 22: Syrian jihadists and allied rebels seized a key town from government forces in a new offensive in the central province of Hama, a monitor and fighting factions said.

The surprise offensive was announced yesterday by the Tahrir al-Sham alliance, which is dominated by the jihadist Fatah al-Sham Front, once linked to Al-Qaeda.

"This afternoon, Tahrir al-Sham began preparing for military operations against (regime) army positions in Hama province," said Tahrir al-Sham press officer Imad al-Din Maftah.

Tahrir al-Sham deployed photos of a massive explosion that it said was a suicide attack against a government checkpoint inside Suran.

Hama province is of strategic importance to President Bashar al-Assad, separating opposition forces in Idlib from Damascus to the south and the regime's coastal heartlands to the west.

"Tahrir al-Sham detonated two car bombs as they stormed the town of Suran and other villages," said Rami Abdel Rahman, head of the Syrian Observatory for Human Rights. The British-based monitor said the jihadists and rebel groups seized Suran and eight surrounding checkpoints within hours, despite heavy air strikes by government warplanes.

The violence comes two days before UN-brokered peace talks are set to resume in Switzerland between government officials and opposition representatives.

Syria's conflict erupted in March 2011 with protests against Assad's rule, but has evolved over the years into a complex civil war.

The Free Idlib Army, which is taking part in the offensive, said it targeted the Hama military airport and other government positions yesterday.

Rebel groups and Tahrir al-Sham were also waging an offensive in Syrian capital yesterday in a bid to link two neighbourhoods they control in Damascus.

'Palestinian killed by Israeli artillery fire in Gaza'

GAZA CITY, March 22: A Palestinian was killed and two others injured before dawn today by Israeli artillery fire in Gaza, according to a Palestinian official.

According to the Israeli army, the three men were in the border area between the Palestinian enclave and Israeli territory, where multiple exchanges of fire have taken place recently.

"Yousef Abou Azzar, 18, was killed and two other Palestinians injured by artillery fire by the occupier (Israel) to the east of Rafah," the large city to the south of the Gaza Strip, said Achrat al-Qodra, spokesman for the Ministry of Health in Gaza. A spokesperson for the Israeli army told AFP that the soldiers had spotted three men "close to the security fence and opened fire in their direction," without giving further details. — AFP

Earthquake rocks Indonesia's tourist Bali island

JAKARTA, March 22: An earthquake has hit Indonesia's resort island of Bali, causing some panic among residents, but there were no immediate reports of damage or casualties.

The United States Geological Survey says the magnitude 5.5 earthquake that struck at 7:10 am (local time) today was centered 2 kilometers northeast of Banjar Pasekan, a town on the southeastern part Bali, at a depth of 118 kilometers.

Witnesses said many residents and tourists ran out of their homes and hotels toward higher ground, but the situation returned to normal after they received text messages saying the quake had no potential to trigger a tsunami. Indonesia is prone to the seismic upheaval due to its location on the so-called Pacific Ring of Fire. — AP

S Korea returns Chinese soldiers' remains despite missile system row

SEOUL, March 22: Seoul today repatriated the remains of 28 Chinese soldiers killed in the Korean War, despite a heated row between the two countries over a US missile defence system.

A row of goosestepping Chinese honour guards received lacquered wooden boxes, each containing one set of remains, from their counterparts during a ceremony at Incheon airport.

Beijing deployed millions of soldiers in the 1950-53 conflict, saving the fledgling North from defeat by US-led UN forces and South Korea.

More than 180,000 Chinese soldiers are estimated to have died in the war.

"(We) appreciate the friendship and good will that South Korean people and media have shown regarding the repatriation of Chinese soldiers' remains," Sun Shaobing, China's vice minister of civil affairs, was quoted as saying at the ceremony by Yonhap news agency.

A total of 569 sets of Chinese remains have been repatriated since the two countries reached an agreement on the issue three years ago, he noted.

The latest transfer came even as Seoul and Beijing are at odds over the deployment of the US Terminal High Altitude Area Defense (THAAD) battery to South Korea, which China sees as compromising its own capabilities.

Beijing has imposed a series of measures seen as economic retaliation, including closures of South Korean-owned stores and a ban on tour groups going to its neighbour.

Seoul and Washington say the system is solely aimed at defending against the North's nuclear and missile threats.

The South's defence ministry acknowledged in a statement that there was "difficulty in South Korea-China relations in the process of resolving the North Korean nuclear and missile issue" but said it went ahead with the repatriation from a "humanitarian perspective". — AFP

33 civilians killed in Syria airstrike

DAMASCUS, March 22: At least 33 persons were killed during airstrikes, believed to have been carried out by the US-led international coalition, against a school sheltering displaced people in the Syrian province of al-Raqqa, a media report said on Wednesday.

The Syrian Observatory for Human Rights (SOHR) said that all the victims of the attack on Monday night were displaced people from other parts of the country living in a school in al-Mansoura area, the Islamic State's main stronghold in Syria, Efe news reported.

The 33 bodies were taken out from under the debris of the school that was apparently targeted in the air strikes.

Residents from the area told SOHR that about 40 displaced families from the provinces of Homs and Aleppo were living in the school.

SOHR did not rule out a rise in the deaths as there could be bodies still under the rubble. — IANS

Afghanistan wants more US help in fight against Taliban, ISIS

WASHINGTON, March 22: Afghanistan wants the United States to send more forces to help meet shortages in the battle against the Taliban and the ISIS group, the nation's top diplomat said.

Foreign Minister Salahuddin Rabbani welcomed a recent call by US Gen John Nicholson, the top American commander in Afghanistan, for a few thousand more troops from the US or other coalition partners to help break the stalemate in the war-torn country.

The Trump administration has not yet said if it will send more forces in response to Nicholson's comments. Some 8,400 US troops are currently deployed in Afghanistan, performing counterterrorism operations against insurgents and training the Afghan army. The war is in its 16th year.

Citing a deadly attack this month on military hospital in Kabul, Rabbani said Afghanistan needs US help in addressing "military shortages," through increased training, ground and air capabilities, and reconnaissance and intelligence support. The support," Rabbani said at the Atlantic Council think tank ahead of a gathering in Washington of the US-led coalition against ISIS. He described Nicholson's call as "an appropriate decision considering the prevailing security challenges still facing us."

In a sign of how major powers are vying for influence in the region, Rabbani said Russia is planning a 12-nation conference on Afghanistan. The former Soviet Union engaged in a disastrous decade-long occupation of Afghanistan in the 1980s.

Rabbani said the US had been invited but didn't know if it would attend. The State Department said it hasn't yet decided on its participation. Rabbani said the discussions would follow up on six-nation talks held in mid-February involving China, Pakistan, Afghanistan, India and Iran. He said he did not think the Taliban would be invited. — AP

Hong Kong forfeits Davis Cup at Pakistan

LONDON, March 22: Citing security concerns, Hong Kong is forfeiting its Davis Cup matches against Pakistan, scheduled for next month in Islamabad.

The International Tennis Federation said today that it "regret and respectfully disagrees" with Hong Kong's decision to pull out of the Zone Group matches.

The Davis Cup committee had ruled that the Pakistan Sports Complex in the capital could host the April 7-9 second-round encounter. Pakistan hosted matches against Iran in February. Now Pakistan will face Philippines or Thailand in the third round.

The ITF said that Hong Kong's default will now be considered by the Internal Adjudication Panel "to determine whether a breach has been committed."

Pakistani militants have carried out numerous attacks in the country over the last decade, killing thousands of people, including police and paramilitary forces. - AP

Paris doesn't want 2028 Olympics

LONDON, March 22: The Paris bid team issued an ultimatum to the IOC: It's the 2024 Olympics or nothing.

With only Paris and Los Angeles left as 2024 bidders after rivals dropped out, IOC President Thomas Bach has raised the prospect of one city being awarded 2024 and the other taking 2028 to avoid there being a loser.

But with less than six months until the vote, the International Olympic Committee is still hesitating over whether to go through with a sudden bidding change.

And Bach's vision to lock up Summer Games hosts for the next 11 years could be derailed by the insistence of both LA and Paris that they are only focused on 2024.

"We can't accept '28," Paris bid co-chairman Tony Estanguet said during a visit to London yesterday. "It's not possible."

Estanguet, a three-time Olympic champion canoeist who became a member of the International Olympic Committee, is trying to end Paris' run of three losing bids.

"We're OK if the IOC wants to give two games at the same session in Lima," Estanguet said of the IOC Session in Peru.

"But on our side, our project is only possible for '24. We also believe this is the time to come back to Paris, or to Europe, in '24. This is the fourth bid, we learnt a lot. It's now never." - AP

Nishanta named trainer

GUWAHATI, March 22: Nishanta Bordoloi has been appointed as trainer of the Emerging India team for the Asia Cup to be held at Bangladesh from the March 25 to April. Nishanta is the trainer of the Delhi Ranji Trophy and North Zone teams.

FIFA fairly satisfied, urges to speed up preparation work

Jaime Yarza (C), FIFA Head of Tournaments, FIFA U-17 World Cup India 2017 and Javier Ceppi (2nd R), Tournament Director, LOC FIFA U-17 World Cup India 2017 addressing the media during a press meet at New Delhi, on Wednesday.

NEW DELHI, March 22: FIFA's inspection team today sounded fairly satisfied over the progress at Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium, one of the venues for the U-17 World Cup, but urged authorities to speed up work on core areas like competition and training sites.

With less than 200 days to go for the mega-event, an eight-member team led by FIFA's head of events Jaime Yarza, who was hoping for work on core infrastructure to be finished by now, said:

"We are satisfied, we have seen things move, we have seen things improve, but Delhi is a very important city in the world and the stadium should represent the city in the best way, and that means the stadium has to look really top notch."

Asked about the problem areas, Yarza said there was no major cause for concern at this stage.

"The competition areas are primarily done only and also the training sites, which are important for the players. They (organisers) have a very good plan and they are working according to the plan. So, for me, these two are some of the key areas. A lot of work has been done, a lot of work will be done in the future. They just need to speed up a little bit more, but we are convinced everything is going to be alright. There is a major or big concern for us at this stage."

Yarza, who was hoping for work on core infrastructure to be finished by now, said:

"FIFA members along with LOC delegation visited the Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium to assess the progress of the tournament. The stadium is beautifully built for the 2010 Commonwealth Games and we need to bring back that splendour."

Ceppi reiterated that work should be completed by the end of April.

The capacity of the stadium, besides logistical considerations, will be the key when it comes to selecting venue for final of the tournament, Yarza said.

"We prefer one of the bigger stadiums but there are logistical considerations like where the main office is based during the tournament. - PTI ties to keep working with the same enthusiasm but with stronger pace so that they can really deliver what is required by FIFA in that time."

Tournament director Javier Ceppi: "The support that we have got from the government, ministry, Sports Authority of India has been fantastic. We worked very hard to make sure that the facilities are being renovated as per our requirement."

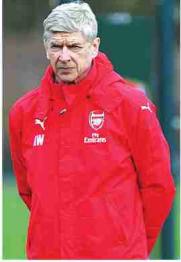

"The stadium was beautifully built for the 2010 Commonwealth Games and we need to bring back that splendour."

Ceppi added that "willingness and readiness" will be taken into account when venues will be decided for the bigger matches.

Present at the event were FIFA Head of Tournaments, Indra Dhamija, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports, Sanjiv Baranwal, Director (Infra) Sports Authority of India, Javier Ceppi, Tournament Director, LOC, FIFA U-17 World Cup India 2017 and Joy Bhattacharya, Project Director, LOC, FIFA U-17 World Cup India 2017, besides Yarza.

The delegation will continue its inspection visit to the five remaining host cities with Goa as the next stop, followed by Kochi, Navi Mumbai, Guwahati and Kolkata. - PTI

Wenger denies rumours of PSG deal

PARIS, March 22: Arsenal manager Arsene Wenger has denied that he has been offered a two-year deal to become coach at Paris Saint-Germain.

Speaking to BeSoccer channel, the Frenchman said the reports in the British press are "fake news."

Wenger said last week he has reached a decision on whether he will stay at the Premier League club beyond this season, and will announce it publicly "very soon."

The 67-year-old Wenger, who has been in his position since 1996, is under increased pressure after Arsenal's 3-1 loss at West Bromwich Albion that saw the team drop to sixth place. It was Arsenal's fourth loss in five Premier League games.

In the last month, Arsenal has been eliminated from the Champions League by Bayern Munich 10-2 on aggregate and only won two games – both against fifth-tier teams in the FA Cup. Arsenal is further than ever from winning the Premier League title for the first time since 2004 and is six points adrift of the fourth Champions League place.

"It is a false rumour. That is what you call fake news," Wenger said when asked about the reported offer from PSG. "I formally deny it. It is not true."

Wenger's contract with Arsenal expires at the end of the season.

He said last year that he rejected offers from the French champions after L'Equipe newspaper reported that PSG had made three approaches since Qatar Sports Investments took over the club in 2011.

"I know well the owners, but I feel always I remained loyal to Arsenal football club because I think it's a club that has the qualities I love," Wenger said in September. - AP

India beat Cambodia 3-2 in international friendly

PHNOM PENH (Cambodia), March 22: The Indian football team broke a 12-year-old jinx of not winning a match away from home as they beat lower ranked Cambodia 3-2 in an international friendly here today.

Playing in their first international friendly this year, India – currently at 132nd in the FIFA rankings – were given a tough fight by the Cambodians, who are 41 places below them.

The last time India emerged victorious in an away international friendly was way back in June 2005, when the team captained by current team manager Sharmugam Venkatesh eked out a solitary goal win over Pakistan.

Stephen Constantine's boys played a lacklustre first half but they regrouped in the second session to pump in two quick goals in the space of three minutes.

The win will boost the Indian side ahead of their AFC Asian Cup qualifiers first leg match against Myanmar on March 28 in Yangon.

Sunil Chhetri (35th minute), Jeje Lalpekhlua (49th) and Sandesh Jhingan (52nd) found the target for India while Cambodia scored through Khoun Laborav (36th) and Chan Vathanaka (62nd).

A spell of three minutes immediately after the interval settled the issue for Constantine's boys in the match, which witnessed international-al debuts for Anas Edathodika and Milind Singh.

The two substitutions at the interval – Sandesh Jhingan and Jeje Lalpekhlua – coming in for Armaan Mondal and Daniel Lalhlimpuia respectively, did the trick for India.

The duo made an instant impact, scoring the next two goals, and despite Cambodia desperately throwing men in attack during the later stages, India had sealed it by then.

Constantine began with Chhetri and Robin Singh in the attack and did not start with Jhingan at deep defence. The Indian defence was porous in the first session with the Cambodians creating chances from counter attacks.

But Jhingan's introduction in place of Mondal changed the scenario and also gave thrust to the attack.

The Cambodians got two good attempts in the eighth and 17th minute with the India defence caught napping but on both occasions Vathanaka failed to convert the chances. He smashed over the bar in the first chance and then shot straight to the Indian goalkeeper Gurpreet Singh Sandhu from the second.

The Indians lived dangerously for some time but they slowly settled down and then took the lead against the run of play through Chhetri in the 35th minute. - PTI

Hamilton looks for fast start to new season

MELBOURNE, March 22: Lewis Hamilton will look to put his stamp on the new Formula One season at this weekend's Australian Grand Prix, as he seeks to regain the world title following the shock retirement of reigning champion Nico Rosberg.

Ten years after his F1 debut at Albert Park, Hamilton arrives at the downtown circuit as the leading light of a sport now under new management and featuring wider and faster cars.

Hamilton, 32, was beaten to last year's title by Mercedes teammate Rosberg, who quit the sport five days later citing the intense pressures of competing.

This year, Hamilton will face renewed competition from Ferrari and Red Bull, who are expected to close the gap on dominant Mercedes, as well as his new teammate Valtteri Bottas of Finland.

Hamilton is revelling in the new generation of quicker cars, which coincides with American group Liberty Media's takeover and the exit of long-time ringmaster Bernie Ecclestone.

"I'm finding the car is much more physical to drive than in the past," said Hamilton, who is seeking his fourth world title after victories in 2008, 2014 and 2015.

"It's so much faster in the corners. The force you feel on your body and on your neck is much higher. I've got bruises and bumps where I've never really had them before."

An overhaul of technical regulations has ushered in wider cars with broader tyres, which are expected to be noisier and provide faster racing, but also put greater physical demands on the drivers.

"Having spoken to the drivers, these machines are violent – just like Formula One cars should be," said Mercedes chief Toto Wolff.

The target with these new regulations was to make this generation of F1 cars the quickest in the history of the sport.

"And looking at the results from testing, we're well on the way to achieving that. It's something that's never been done before and that's a radical change."

Hamilton and Rosberg had a fractious relationship in the Mercedes garage, but Wolff said the Briton and Bottas were "in a great place".

"They have a respectful and friendly relationship from what we've seen in our team briefings so far," he added.

Bottas is yet to win a race but is confident of improving on his best finish of fifth ahead of the Melbourne circuit, for his former team Williams in 2014.

"It's a big challenge and I'll definitely need to prove myself to a lot of people and my team that I deserve the place," Bottas said.

"But I see it very positively. It's a great opportunity for my career to fight for the wins and even for the championship."

While the Silver Arrows have dominated F1, winning the drivers and constructors titles over the last three years, pre-season testing pointed to other teams pushing hard.

Ferrari topped the timesheets at testing in Barcelona, with Kimi Raikkonen fastest ahead of teammate Sebastian Vettel.

Ferrari last won at Albert Park in 2007 through Raikkonen, who went on to win the championship that year – the last time the Italian team lifted the drivers title.

"It's impossible to predict anything," said Ferrari's Vettel, a four-time champion with Red Bull from 2010-2013.

"Even the tests in Barcelona only give a basic idea where you stand."

"It is only in the first race that you will know how well you and the others have worked over the winter. We will only get real clarity after three or four races."

Daniel Ricciardo, attempting to become the first Australian F1 world champion since Alan Jones in 1980, believes Red Bull can loosen Mercedes' grip on the titles.

But Ricciardo, who finished third behind Rosberg and Hamilton in last year's standings, said it would be tough to win in Melbourne. - AFP

2-3 reporters trying to tarnish Virat's image: Clarke

NEW DELHI, March 22: Former Australia captain Michael Clarke has said that Indian skipper Virat Kohli should not be "bothered" by a couple of Australian journalists who are trying to "tarnish his image".

Australia's Daily Telegraph in its report had compared Kohli to the US president Donald Trump.

"Just like President Trump, Kohli decided to blame the media as a means of trying to hide the egg smeared right across his face," the report stated to Kohli's allegations about Australian team disrespecting physio Patrick Farhart. However Clarke today firmly supported the feisty Indian captain.

"Comparing Virat Kohli with Donald Trump – what a load of s is that. What Virat did, even Smith would have. Bear in mind, I love Kohli and the Australian public love him. I always somehow find an Australian in him the way he plays and I always love how he accepts challenges. It's just two or three reporters who are trying to tarnish him but Virat shouldn't be bothered," Clarke told a news channel today.

Clarke said even Steve Smith won't be bothered by what Australian media is writing.

"I don't think even Steve Smith would bother about what the Australian media is saying. In fact both the captains would be telling their teams to concentrate on how to win in Dharamshala."

"It is more like the Ashes 2005 we played where every Test was life and death and the players gave it all on the field. But off the field, both teams remained friends. It is only befitting of the way this series has been played that it will be decided in the last Test." - PTI

Federer on course for No.1: Wawrinka

MIAMI, March 22: Roger Federer's comeback from injury has been so successful that his compatriot Stan Wawrinka believes he can become the oldest world number one in history at the age of 35.

Federer beat Wawrinka in the final of Indian Wells on Sunday for his second win of the year following his triumph in the Australian Open – his 18th grand slam title and his first in four and a half years.

Those wins have propelled the Swiss master to sixth in the world as he makes excellent progress after a six-month layoff caused by a knee injury.

Companions Wawrinka believes that not only is Federer back in form but he is playing in a noticeably different manner that gives him a chance to return to the pinnacle of the rankings.

"He's playing really well, what is different maybe is he is playing closer from the baseline, preferring, using less his slice, he is using more top spin, putting more pressure all the time, returning better that's the difference I see," Wawrinka said yesterday at the Miami Open.

"For sure he has a shot for number one, he has just won the first Masters final. For sure he has a big shot," he told reporters.

Andre Agassi holds the record for being the oldest player to hold the men's No.1 ranking, at the age of 33.

"It is going to be interesting to see Rafa (Nadal) is playing well also and we will see when Novak (Djokovic) and Andy (Murray) are back from injury, it is going to be really interesting for tennis fans," Wawrinka said.

Wawrinka said it wasn't a shock to see Federer, who now has 90 career titles, back to such form but that he was particularly impressed by his movement.

"From him nothing is a surprise, but for sure to see him moving that well at that age it is something amazing. It is good for me to see that you can be at the top (at that age). It is amazing to see how he is playing after a six-month injury." - AFP

BCCI doubles central contracts; Dhoni in Grade A, Raina out

NEW DELHI, March 22:

The BCCI today doubled the Annual Retainer fee of India's 32 centrally contracted cricketers with current skipper Virat Kohli and former captain Mahendra Singh Dhoni in the Rs 2 crore Grade A bracket along with five others.

The COA today announced that Grade A players would now be getting Rs 2 crore as compared to the earlier Rs 1 crore, while Grade B and C players will get Rs 1 crore and Rs 50 lakh respectively.

The match fee for Tests matches has been hiked to Rs 7.50 lakh per match from Rs 7.50 lakh earlier, while ODI and T20 Internationals will make them richer by Rs 6 lakh and 3 lakh respectively.

All the payments will be in effect from October 1, 2016.

The seven cricketers who are Dhoni, Kohli, Cheteshwar Pujara, Ajinkya Rahane, Ravichandran Ashwin, Ravindra Jadeja and Murali Shami.

While seniors like Yuvraj Singh and Ashish Nehra have found a place in Grade B and C respectively; the biggest name missing is Suresh Raina, who till recently was a permanent member of the limited overs fixtures.

Young Rishabh Pant is a part of Grade C contract.

Raina had in fact played after October 1, 2016 but is not there in the 32-member list. Harbhajan Singh and Gautam Gambhir are not in the list as they have played before the said date, from which the contracts are to come into effect.

The decision was taken in consultation with the national selection committee.

Believe It or Not!

Why? What?

When was the Reign of Terror?

The Reign of Terror or simply The Terror (French: la Terreur) was a period of about ten months during the French Revolution where political beliefs and family values were under radicalisation, which took on a violent character – with mass executions by the guillotine. It is generally associated with figures of Maximilien Robespierre and Georges Danton, and is popularly represented as

The Terror itself started on September 5, 1793. The repression accelerated and finally, the Committee of Public Safety formed The Committee of Public Safety and lasted until the executions following the coup of Thermidor Year II (July 27, 1794), in which several key leaders of the Reign of Terror were themselves executed, including Saint-Jean and Saint-Just. The Reign of Terror ended with about 40,000 people (estimates vary widely, due to the difference in the Terror the bloodshed was caused by various competing factions radicalising each other).

In the single month before it ended, 1,800 executions took place.

While some consider modern tyranny to be the legacy of the Reign of Terror, others argue that this view overlooks the French Revolution's influence in the ascendancy of representative democracy and constitutionalism and assert that totalitarianism is marked by a strong state where in the Terror the bloodshed was caused by various competing factions radicalising each other.

My viewpoint

“My tips to do well in studies.”

Barnali Sandilya,
Class-X, Model
Higher Secondary School, Guwahati.

I am a student and so my prime duty is to study. I have some tips for studying well. I follow a routine of going to bed early and early to rise – which keeps me fresh in the morning. I always sleep for one hour in the morning. After I wake up from school, I play for an hour with my friends, which helps me relax. Then I have a bath for a few minutes, I study for two to three hours. Every evening, I practise sums for an hour and read some other books which are not included in my course.

Every student has his/her own way of studying. Regular studying is essential for the students, because study is a must for our future and wise. We should try to secure good marks in all the subjects. We can study successfully only by proper use of time. To do well in studies and to succeed in life, we should also spend time with our family as it is also a medium that gives us ample opportunities to learn. We should be able to give equal time to studies and other work.

Exams are here and we are buckling ourselves up for it. I always try to always stay calm and never attempt to panic before the exams, and to do so, I am always up-to-date with my studies. I always follow a strict routine, which helps me a lot. I always make plans on how to complete my studies. For this, I make a list of all the things I need to study, the time required and how long each topic will take. I always try not to be nervous, and that helps me concentrate fully on my studies. Sometimes, while practising maths, I do listen to soft music to relax my mind.

I always try to do better than the best. I work hard at all the subjects. I am first though. I read a storybook in between my studies, to relax my mind. I never think that I may not do well in my examinations because I believe in myself. I think that whatever I have studied is enough and it really works. Gradually, as it takes away all the nervousness from my mind. I pray to God before the exams and I give my best.

That day, I come across a very interesting news of Moran, where we appreciate our Prime Minister Narendra Modi even more. Perhaps, all of us have read the news about how the PM saved an infant girl in New Delhi, a few days back. Yes! That news makes that hole in our heart feel less. In August, All of us know about the eight-day-old baby girl hailing from Moran, who is suffering from a rare disease. When our Prime Minister was informed about the little girl's condition, he immediately took steps to help her infant reach hospital in time.

What struck me most about the incident was his love for the entrepreneurs, as also his approach to save a girl child. He has set an example not only for Assam, but for the whole of India. Nowadays, we frequently come across cases of female infanticide in India. In fact, there is a village in India which is full of boys, but not a single girl child. Have we come to such a situation? Elsewhere, on the one hand, we kill Goddess Durga, Lakshmi, and on the other hand, we kill a Goddess who was actually born on this planet? It is said that when women are honored, the Gods are pleased; whereas these are not honored, the deities become futile. Women represent Should or power, without which nothing is achieved!

Many people represented India in the Rio Olympics, and it is our women who came back to their native lands with laurels, the medals which they fought for all old and new. Women's Day recently to pay recognition to the sacrifices of women, but does that day bear any significance if the women need days to get to hear their voice? If the women are not heard, what's the use? If we continue at this rate, there will be no females left to celebrate Women's Day in the future. And slowly, the entire human race will become extinct. The advancement of science and technology, no one can give motherly love. Even the first word uttered by a baby sounds like 'Mum or Mama, isn't it?' Women are the backbone of the society. They pull everywhere they want. While some silently bore the pain like Goddess Sita and Sati Jayanti, others decided to fight for the voice of the society like Radha Rani, Rabindranath Tagore, etc.

The person who influenced me the most.
I come from from a particular region, but I have been greatly inspired by women who have overcome great odds to reach their goals. My parents and my husband owe my gratitude for supporting me in all my endeavours.

The biggest turning point of my life.
With the formation of the NGO, I quit my programme and was deeply frustrated by the bureaucratic red tape and apathy. It was then that I decided to form my own NGO and work in a different manner.

The happiest moment in my life.
I have three children and I was ecstatic when my firstborn, a daughter came to this world.

The changes that I would like to see in the society.
My desire is that everyone – man, woman and child get equal opportunities to advance in life.

My message for today's youth.
You must always aim high and seek to achieve your goals with focus, hard work and determination. Remember, there are no shortcuts to success.

Dear Ishani Aunty,
My friend in class always borrows my notes and does not give them back. What should I do?

- Ankita

Dear Ankita,

She is certainly taking advantage of your kindness. The only thing left to do is to not lend her your notes till she owns up to her fault and makes amends. As for myself, I think everyone should make their own notes.

Dear Ishani Aunty,

I often lose my temper on the smallest things and use bad words around. I also shout at people. This upsets them and makes me repeat this. Please tell me what to do.

- Kartik

Dear Kartik,
Since you have come up to your fault, it appears that you fully aware and responsible about it. There are many anger-management tips you are certain to get on the internet. Please do have a look and get back to us.

Dear Ishani Aunty,

We are shortly going to go and live in a part of the city I don't know. I am very apprehensive. I know I am going to miss my old home and hate it there. Please advise.

- Jilmi

Dear Jilmi,
Please accept the fact that every kind of change can be a little scary. You are currently going through something new. After the initial period of adjustment, I am sure you will grow to love your new home and end up really exploring that part of the city. Best of luck!

Poetry Day

Poetry reaffirms our common humanity by revealing that individuals, everywhere in the world, share the same emotions and feelings. Poetry helps communicate the innermost values of diverse cultures. A decision to proclaim March 21 as World Poetry Day was adopted during UNESCO's (the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization's) 30th session held in Paris, in 1999.

One of the main objectives of the Day is to support linguistic diversity through poetry expression and oral exchange. It offers the opportunity to be heard within their communities.

The observance of World Poetry Day is also meant to encourage a return to the traditional poetic recitation, to bring the art of poetry to a dialogue between poetry and the other arts, such as theatre, dance, music and painting, and to support small publishers and create an attractive image of poetry in the media, so that the art of poetry will no longer be considered an outdated form of art, but one which enables society as a whole to regain and assert its identity.

The purpose of the day is to promote the reading, writing, publishing and teaching of poetry throughout the world and, as the UNESCO session declaring the day says, "give fresh recognition and impetus to national, regional and international poetry movements".

It was generally celebrated in October, sometimes on the fifth, but in the latter half of the twentieth century, the world community decided to move it to October 21, the birthday of Virgil, the Roman epic poet and laureate under Augustus. The tradition to keep an October date for national or international poetry day celebrating still holds in many countries. It is observed in the US, Australia, India, Canada, UK, France and even November date is celebrated. In the US, a poetry month is celebrated. The National Poetry Month, which takes place in April, is a celebration of poetry, introduced in 1996 and organized by the Academy of American Poets as a way to increase awareness and appreciation of poetry in the United States.

What's the BUZZ?

A unique book

T here are very little writings for children on the lives and cultures of indigenous communities in India. But publishers like Tara Books are addressing the gap with their beautiful books. One such book is 'Tangled Words' which involves a lot of interactions between writers, artists and communities of different tribes.

Solution: A Village is a Busy Place is the outcome of such initiative by writer V. Geetha and young artist Rohini Chitrakar.

The book, designed as a scroll, invites readers to participate in the life of a tribe, one of Santhals, one of India's most prominent Scheduled Tribes.

Chitrakar's artwork is a collage of mixed media.

The scroll is more like a jigsaw puzzle than a picture book.

Geetha's text provides clues to the scenes in Chitrakar's busy universe, but it is only the patient and avid reader who can unravel this.

drishbras, which is the name of a river, which is a tributary of the Brahmaputra. It flows for 12 long kilometers, as he was cursed by Nard Mum. The river has dried up in the recent past and now it is a rocky dry place. Next, we went to the famous Surya Mandir of Konark. On the way to the temple, there are two ancient statues of a man, an elephant, and a lion. This temple looks like a chariot with 12 wheels. There is a small entrance to the temple. And the seven horses in front of the temple deserve the name of the Lingaraj Temple. And the seven horses in front of the temple deserve the name of the Lingaraj Temple. Each horse is like a chariot wheel as the temple is built on seven horses. Next, we went to the Lingaraj Temple. Inside the temple, there are 108 shrines. There are 108 shrines – of which the Lingaraj Temple is the most famous. Our State Asseem was well developed than Khurda. There are hills with numerous caves. Udayagiri only has caves, while Ruanjan has both caves and temples. The most interesting destination, however, was the Nandan Kali Temple. It is located near the Naren

One can see many animals there, ranging from lions and tigers to穿山甲.

On the second Eve, we came back to our home with happy faces and a lot of sweet memories. But while visiting all the places of Odisha, I thought that to come to my own conclusion that our State Assam is not at all inferior to Odisha. In fact, Assam is more developed than Odisha. As a matter of fact, Assam has more tourist attractions than

Odisha, but we are not showcasing them properly. I hope that I have shown that Assam would be a famous tourist site, not only for its one-horned rhino, but also for the other tourist attractions that it has

Efflorescence of Spring

Dear Bhaity, Bhonti,

There is something about the season of Spring that makes poets of us all. We long to express the playfulness of the breeze, the petals of flowers unfolding, the countryside awash with green and the cuckoo singing from some enchanted treetop. Here, at Planet Young, we have always welcomed your poems, write-ups and sketches celebrating Nature's bounty and we invite you to splash our pages with words and colours.

With love, as always,

Kakashi

Maharishi Vidya Mandir-IIMy pet

I have a pet.
Whose name is Cat.
He likes me:
He likes me, too.
And I like him, too.
I like a rubber bone:
And also a dirty hat.
And I like him very much.
When he sees me coming,
He likes to sleep in.
Sometimes, he takes a scoop of butter.
And goes to swim.

The rains

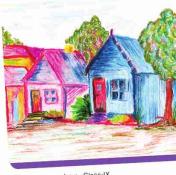

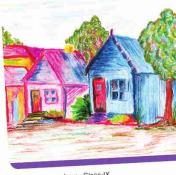

Where there is rain,
The children are happy.
Where there is no rain,
The children are sad.
Where there is rain,
The children are happy.
Where there is no rain,
The children are sad.
The farmer is sad,
Where the rain is there,
The don't take place.
The rain falls away,
A rain falls away,

POEM OF THE WEEK*Durabikhya Gogoi, Class-X,
Kendriya Vidyalaya, Golaghat.The clown

I don't know
How you smile,
Even when your life is totally messed up.
I don't know
How you can be funny,
Even when you are crying inside.
I don't know,
How you pour sad emotions
Behind that coloured mask of yours.
I don't know,
How you make others laugh
When you are finding reasons to cry?
But I know,
You know what you shout,
And I know,
You are broken from inside.
But you manage to keep that smile,
That beautiful smile on your face.
I know not how
You pull it down.
They say,
A ruler you are,
But you are sad like me,
I know,
But not as sad as me.

The precious pearl

Pitter patter
Raindrops falling on the ground.
Soothing is the gentle raindrop sound!
Soothing is the gentle raindrop sound!
Thick clouds blend with the blue sky.
The gossamer clouds dance nearby.
I feel the freshness of the misty air.
I feel the breeze swirl through my hair.
Feel the breeze swirl through my hair.
The kah green leaves glow brighter than ever.
The kah green leaves glow brighter than ever.

Manish Vidya Mandir, Barisal, BangladeshTwo hues of green

We all know that there are quite a few colours and we all are aware of the fact that there are numerous shades of each colour. But have you ever noticed that green too has a few shades of its own. Then, why am I only talking about two?

On a bright moonless night while I was relaxing in my verandah, I noticed something really exquisite. As it was moonless, the sunlight was shining bright only on one half of the field. The other half of the field, with no sunlight, appeared so dark and dull. I was caught up in an awe-inspiring sight. The two halves of the field showed up in two hues! Nature can be so beautiful! And see, how we are degrading it day by day!

Who is the author of this? "Earth, sweet Earth ? As a Nature child, I request each and everybody reading this to please graciously take charge of your own actions and do your bit to protect our mother Earth and Nature. Green is the prime colour of the world, and that from which its liveliness arises. So friends, let's just live happily and peacefully with the greens, blues and beauties."
