Pak denies charge India toughens stand against 'dastardly act'

NEW DELHI/ISLAMABAD, May 2: Mutilating the bodies of two soldiers was "a dastardly and inhuman" act that merited unequivocal response, the Indian Army told Pakistan in a strongly worded statement in an emotive day of tears at the lives lost and a categorical denial from Islamabad.

As the families of Naib Subedar Paramjeet Singh and BSF Head Constable Prem Singh bid them farewell, Pakistan denied India's allegations of ceasefire violation and mutilation, ensuring that the troubled equation between the two neighbours was back in the national spotlight with cries of a "befitting reply" being heard once again.

The army said the DGMO also conveyed India's concern

Military Operations (DGMO) Lt Gen AK Bhatt spoke to his Pakistani counterpart this morning to express his "grave concern" about the killing and beheading of the two soldiers in the Krishna Ghati sector of Poonch in Jammu and Kashmir yesterday.

"The DGMO of the Indian Army conveyed that such a dastardly and inhuman act is beyond any norms of civility and merits unequivocal condemnation and response," the Indian Army said in a statement.

The DGMO conveyed to his Pakistani counterpart that "full fire" support was provided by the Pakistani Army post located close to where the incident took place.

Jamiat vows to defend Assam Accord in SC

SPL CORRESPONDENT

1951 as the base year, said the

NEW DELHI, May 2: A day after Assam Jamiat expressed its opposition to a proposal to fix a new cut-off year, the Jamiat Ulama-e-Hind today said they will take a strong stand to defend the Assam Accord in the Supreme Court.

Addressing a press conference here, the organisation's national president Qari Mohammad Usman Mansoorpuri, general secretary Maulana Jamshed Madani and Assam Jamiat president Maulana Badruddin Ajmal alleged that some groups with vested interest had filed cases in the Supreme Court, claiming that instead of the cut-off year of 1951 the base year should be 1951 to decide the citizenship of people of Assam.

These very groups also have challenged the validity of the Assam Accord claiming it as unconstitutional and they want the National Register of Citizens (NRC) to be updated with causing annulment of the IMDT Act by filing a weak and poor affidavit and by not properly placing fact before the court," he said.

Secondly, by constituting the Assam Police (Border) Department for detection of foreigners arbitrarily and without any basis and exempting those illegal action of the police from the purview of the RTI Act, 2005, he said, adding, the third blow came in the form of withdrawal of ration cards from the custody of such card holders and suspension of documents in preparation of the NRC.

Launching a direct attack on the Congress party, Ajmal said that the State Government under their leadership has always consented to regularization of Hindu, Christian, Sikh and Buddhist migrants from Bangladesh and Afghanistan till December 31, 2014 as citizens of India and the Central Government has notified it duly.

The Jamiat leader claimed that the Congress Government of Assam had inflicted three serious blows to the minorities of Assam. "Firstly, by

Eviction begins in Dibrugarh riverbank

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

One concrete house and several huts built on bamboos

EC cancels Anantnag LS bypoll

NEW DELHI, May 2: The Election Commission (EC) has cancelled the May 25 Anantnag Lok Sabha bypoll in view of the "scary" situation in Jammu and Kashmir.

State government officials had informed the EC that the situation in South Kashmir "is not good, the overall situation is scary and not very conducive (to the holding of polls)," the EC said in a 10-page order issued late last night.

The three-member commission visited various rules of the Representation of the People Act and the Constitution while rescinding its earlier order for holding polls to the Lok Sabha seat which fell vacant last July after Mehbooba Mufti took over as the Chief Minister of the state.

The bye-election to the Anantnag seat will be held when the situation becomes conducive to a free, fair and peaceful election, it said.

The J-K government had informed the commission that the election needed to be postponed since security agencies wanted to resume operations to counter militancy related activities, it said. — PTI

Aadhaar for PAN to check terror finance, Govt to SC

NEW DELHI, May 2: Government today asserted in the Supreme Court that Aadhaar was made mandatory for PAN card to weed out fake PAN cards which were used for terror financing and circulation of black money, while terming the contours over privacy as "bogus".

The idea behind bringing Aadhaar was to have a "secure and robust system" to ensure that the identity of a person cannot be faked, it said.

"Today, you have black money which is being used in drug financing and terror financing, were being used for "unscrupulous" activity causing a loss to the exchequer.

He said that 113.7 crore Aadhaar card had been issued in the country till date and the government has not found any case of duplication of PAN card, out of 29 crore permanent account number (PAN) in India, 10 lakh PAN cards have been cancelled as it was found that there were concerns over privacy as "bogus".

The top law officer, who was opposing the challenge to making Aadhaar mandatory for PAN card, said out of 29 crore permanent account number (PAN) in India, 10 lakh PAN cards have been cancelled as it was found that there were concerns over privacy as "bogus".

Conceding to the rising pollution levels in the State, the government has decided to install additional testing stations across the State to monitor the parameters.

The station in Dispur will be built at a cost of Rs 1.10 crore. The Central Government will fund 90 per cent of it, while the State will bear the rest. The station will have a digital board where the quality parameters will be displayed for the public," he said.

While work on the water quality monitoring stations has started, the station at Dispur is expected to be functional by August this year. The additional monitoring stations will help give a more microscopic view of the situation in the present setup.

The air quality index in Guwahati in March last was 164, which in terms of pollution officials is classified as "moderately polluted". The average

Holistic approach must to tackle Brahmaputra flood: expert

AJIT PATOWARY

GUWAHATI, May 2: Noted environmental scientist Prof Dulal Chandra Goswami has asserted that pie-meal and half-hearted bids to solve the problems of flood and erosion caused by the Brahmaputra and its tributaries are not going to bring about any enduring relief to the people of the Brahmaputra Valley.

Managing the problems of flood and erosion of the Brahmaputra, which is a river of enormous size and extreme complexity carrying massive volume of flow and sediment load over an alluvial landscape immediately downstream from the geodynamically sensitive, geologically fragile and monsoon-drenched Himalayayas, is no doubt an awesome task. It involves strictly factual knowledge and understanding of various scientific, socio-economic aspects and appropriate technological and engineering know-how, said Prof Goswami, who claimed that since the 1960s he has been maintaining this stance on the issue.

The problem should be treated at the national level on a holistic manner attaching due seriousness it deserves by taking into consideration all the inter-state and international ramifications and the complexity of its geo-physical and eco-biological systems and the immense dynamism of the natural processes that are involved.

He fears that paucity of these relevant databases will put up a formidable challenge in the course of any scientific investigation into the riddles of the Assam rivers. For instance, he said, leaving aside the tributaries, the recorded data on different aspects pertaining to the main channel of the Brahmaputra seem to be so inadequate that unless something vigorous is done to make intensive observations, experiments and analysis at great many more locations over extended time frames, no headway could readily be made in the study of its various problems.

More import of extraneous ideas and opinions would serve no purpose if the same are not based on accurate firsthand knowledge and sufficiently long field-based observation. It has, therefore, become

Modi conveys concerns over visa issue to Aussie PM

NEW DELHI, May 2: Prime Minister Narendra Modi today conveyed to his Australian counterpart Malcolm Turnbull India's concerns about the impact of the recent decision to abolish a popular work visa used by a majority of Indians. Modi conveyed the concerns during a phone call initiated by Turnbull, a PMO statement said.

"Prime Minister Modi expressed concern about the possible impact of the recent changes in Australian regulations for the skilled professionals' visa programme," the statement said.

The two Prime Ministers agreed that officials from both sides will remain in close touch on the issue, it added. A majority of those using the visa programme are Indians.

About three weeks back, Turnbull had announced his decision to abolish the 457 visa, which allows businesses to hire foreign workers for up to four years in skilled jobs.

"We are an immigration nation, but the fact remains: Australian workers must have priority for Australian jobs, so we are abolishing the 457 visa," he had said.

During the telephonic conversation, Turnbull thanked Modi for the success of his recent visit to India. - PTI

NGT to inspect most polluted parts of Ganga

NEW DELHI, May 2: In an unprecedented move, the National Green Tribunal today said it would itself inspect the most polluted parts of Ganga between Hardwar and Kannpur to get first hand information for its roadmap to fill up the vacancies in the force.

The apex court, which is monitoring the filling up of police vacancies in all States, said it will visit the Nitish Kumar government to revise its roadmap and submit a fresh one.

"This proposal is completely unacceptable. You want time till 2019 to fill up the posts of 174 stenographers. This is not done. You are making fun of this court. You can hold one single test for stenographers and recruit them," a bench headed by Chief Justice JS Khehar said. - PTI

"In the interest of expediency disposal of this case and to bring the controversy to end, it will be in the interest of justice to have site inspection of most polluting parts of Ganga in segment B of Phase-I."

"Therefore, we direct the State governments (Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand), Environment Ministry, Ministry of Water Resources, Central Pollution Control Board, UP Jal Nigam to make all preparatory steps for inspection at Kannpur at the first instance," the bench said.

The tribunal said the NGT Registrar General would communicate the date and time when it would carry out the inspection. Besides Justice

Kumar, the bench hearing the Ganga case comprises Justices Jawad Rahim, RS Rathore and Expert Members BS Sawan, Ajay Deshpande and Nagin Nanda.

The tribunal had earlier said that excessive extraction of water between Hardwar and Unnao in Ganga floodplains was a serious issue and should be immediately stopped. It had said the water which was being diverted into various canals should be regulated so as to help maintain a minimum flow of the river.

The CPCB had informed the NGT that the Ganga, spanning a distance of 543 km between Hardwar and Kannpur, was affected by 1,072 seriously polluting industries. - PTI

Regulate water use, Kerala appeals people

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM, May 2: Kerala Water Resources Minister Mathew T Thomas today appealed to people to use water judiciously with the drought situation prevailing in the State. Water sources and reservoirs are fast drying up due to scorching summer heat and lack of summer rains added to the woes, he told the State Assembly. The government had already declared the State drought hit in October 2016 due to drastic rainfall deficiency. "We are passing through a time of acute water scarcity. The government is trying its best to address the present crisis. People should cooperate with the present situation and avoid misuse of drinking water," Thomas said, replying to a submission on the matter. The minister also warned of stern action against those who use treated water for construction work. - PTI

'Procedural lapse' leads to delay in Disability Act implementation

NEW DELHI, May 2: The process for implementation of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act has been delayed by over a month after the Social Justice Ministry, "in a procedural lapse," tried to notify the rules before the Act came into effect.

The Act was passed by Parliament in its last winter session and then sent for Presidential assent. After the President's nod, the ministry had issued a Gazette notification on December 28.

"However, a separate notification mentioning the commencement of the Act had to be issued, which was not done," the source said.

Now the draft rules have been again put on the www.e-gazette.nic.in for people to give their opinion on it. - PTI

INTERNATIONAL'Pak using proxies against India, Afghanistan'

WASHINGTON, May 2: Afghanistan's close relationship with India is not acceptable to Pakistan, which is using proxies like the Haqqani network and the Taliban against its two neighbours, eminent experts have told US lawmakers.

"Afghanistan's strongest regional ally is India, that is unacceptable to Pakistan. India is an enemy...while the Afghan government is an ally in the Indian government," Seth Jones, director, International Security and Defense Policy Center, Rand Corporation, said during a Congressional hearing last week.

"Pakistan has responded to proxy organisations to further its foreign policy goals both in places like Jammu & Kashmir against the Indians and in Afghanistan, and that means support to organisations like the Haqqani Network and the Taliban, so it is a proxy war," Jones said in response to a question from Congressman Ted Poe.

Bill Roggio, editor of the Long War Journal, agreed with Jones' assertion. The Pakistani government is continuing with its policy, the strategy of strategic depth, that it views everything through the lens of fighting India, Roggio said during the hearing organised by the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Terrorism, Non-proliferation.

"That unfortunately some of these jihadist groups that have spawned from the Pakistani efforts to fight India to establish strategic depth in Afghanistan, it has come back to bite them with groups like the movement in Taliban and Pakistan, and other groups which have attacked the Pakistani state," Roggio said.

"Until the Pakistani government and leaders and military intelligence, until they come to grips with this, this problem is going to exist for decades," he said. Poe, who chaired the Congressional hearing on Afghanistan and Pakistan, said that in recent years, the US has given over USD 33 billion in some form of aid to Pakistan.

"Pakistan directly or indirectly supports the Haqqani Network in theory. That network as we mentioned earlier, has killed many Americans in the region than any other terrorist group. To me that is something that we should not accept. We should not accept sending money to a country that kills Americans. I think there is a real problem with that," Poe said. Jones said this was a serious problem.

11 killed in B'desh storm

DHAKA, May 2: At least 11 persons, including two women, have been killed and many injured when a severe storm lashed parts of Bangladesh. Four persons were killed and over 100 houses were damaged as the storm lashed Rajshahi district yesterday evening.

"Pakistan directly or indirectly supports the Haqqani Network in theory. That network as we mentioned earlier, has killed many Americans in the region than any other terrorist group. To me that is something that we should not accept. We should not accept sending money to a country that kills Americans. I think there is a real problem with that," Poe said. Jones said this was a serious problem.

Two women were killed in lightning at Shibganj in Chapainawabganj. Also, five persons were killed when a boat, carrying six passengers, capsized in the Padma river in Dorgapara area during the storm yesterday, the Daily Star reported. - PTI

Call for due stress on animal husbandry

STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, May 2: "There is an urgent need to create public awareness about hygienic production of animal products. Assam has a lot of potential in animal husbandry and veterinary, but proper attention and importance is not being given for its overall development. Human health and animal health are two sides of a coin and one cannot ignore either." This was the observation made by Harekrishna Deka, former DGP and litterateur as the chief guest at a programme held at the College of Veterinary Science, Khanapara recently.

In his address, Deka stressed the need for giving importance to animal husbandry and veterinary science and said that one should not differentiate the veterinary profession and the medical profession.

He made a strong pitch for creating public awareness about the vital sector so that people's voices are heard by the policy-makers and administrators for healthy animals and a healthy nation.

Dr Bibeka Nanda Saikia, chairman of the organising committee delivered the welcome address. Dr Bindra Nath Goswami, Dean Faculty of Veterinary Science, Khanapara, chaired the meeting and stressed the need for overall development of the veterinary profession in the State.

"At present about 700 veterans are serving in the State, out of which 300 are in administrative posts and the rest 400 veterans have to manage the burden of the overall livestock and poultry population of the State," he said.

Mathletics postponed

GUWAHATI, May 2: Mathletics 2017, an annual two-member team competition organised by the Assam Academy of Mathematics (AAM) which was earlier scheduled to be held on May 7, will now be held on May 21.

Any two students studying in the same institution in Class IX or X can form a team and participate, a release stated.

Legal discourse on Muslim women

STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, May 2: A legal discourse on the topic 'Muslim women – law, religion and politics' was held at the NEF Law College auditorium in the city on Monday.

The invited speakers at the discourse were Flavia Agnes and A Fazir Rahman, who were in the city to participate in a programme hosted by the National Law University, Guwahati.

A lawyer with expertise in marital, divorce and property law, Agnes stated that most of the issues relating to denial of a woman's rights are prevalent in all communities, and as such, it would be wrong to blame any particular community for oppression and suppression of the women.

"In 1990, we formed an all-women group and from there we started our work. Our keyword is 'justice'. To start with, we took up programmes for training lawyers, orienting the judges and creating awareness among the stakeholders about how law works," she added.

A Fazir Rahman, an independent researcher on Islamic jurisprudence, explained the system of marriage and divorce in Islam in very simple and lucid language, in the light of the holy Quran. He pointed out that the total number of divorced Muslim women, according to the latest Census report, is only 0.025 per cent of the total number of women in the Muslim population in India. Only a smaller percentage of these women could be affected by triple talaq. He stressed that the number is so minuscule that there is no reason to get panicky over it.

The interactive session that followed generated a number of queries, which the speakers tackled with facts and figures. Zakir Hussain, Director, NEF Law College, offered the formal vote of thanks.

Nearly 150 lawyers, teachers, students, and members of civil society attended the discourse, said a press statement.

Call for public movement to fight communal forces

STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, May 2: The 69th foundation day of the Socialist Unity Centre of India (Communist) was observed recently with a call to build up a strong public movement against the communal forces in the country as well as in Assam.

At a public meeting organised in the District Auditorium, noted leftist leader and a politburo member of the party Asit Bhattacharya explained the history and growth of the leftist movement in the country. He said that as a true communist party of India the SUCI (C) has been vocal against the anti-peasant steps and policies of those at the helm of affairs.

State committee president of the party Chandrakanta Das presided over the meeting. "After Independence the people of India inspired for a country free from exploitation, where people would enjoy equality and justice. However, due to the lack of proper policy decisions, and compromises made at several crucial junctures, the capitalist forces rose to prominence and also captured power," Bhattacharya said.

Also expressing concern over the growth of communal forces in the country and its impact on the economic, social, political and cultural milieu of the country, he stated that communism together with staunch capitalism patronised by the BJP and the RSS has created a dangerous situation in the State and the country. He further added that public mobilisation against the divisive and anti-social forces can only deter the growth of such elements in society.

"A pure movement based on the principles of Marx and Lenin ensuring the participation of people of all castes, creeds, tribes and religions is the need of the hour to protect social harmony," he added.

Chandrakanta Das also called upon the people to raise their voices against the politics based on divisive policies.

MESSAGE FOR TODAY

The miracle isn't that I finished. The miracle is that I had the courage to start.

— JOHN BINGHAM

The Assam TribuneBlack day

Even for a region in ferment like Kashmir, and the continuing violence witnessed there because of Pakistan army's intrusion as well as terrorist infiltration, May 1 proved to be one of the blackest of days. Ever since the attack on the Pathankot airbase early last year, for which India had held the Jaish-e-Mohammed terrorist organization and its chief Masood Azhar responsible, there have been no let up on incidents of violence on the India-Pakistan border. The 'surgical strike' by the Indian army on terrorist bases in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir has not led to a easing off of cross-border tensions, as illustrated by the latest heinous happenings on May 1. Protected by heavy mortar fire from the Pakistani army, a special forces team from that nation laid an ambush on an Indian army contingent patrolling the Line of Control and not only killed two jawans, but also committed desecration by beheading their bodies. "Despicable" and "inhuman," words used by the Indian authorities while condemning this, do not do full justice in describing such a gruesome act of barbarism. Armed forces of no civilized nation indulge in such acts of savagery; that the Pakistani army has done so illustrates the desperation that it has been reduced to. It may be noted that the latest assault has taken place after the visit of the Pakistani army chief to areas near the LoC.

In another act of atrocity on the same day, terrorists across the border infiltrated into India and shot dead seven, including five policemen, while robbing a cash van in the Kullam district of South Kashmir. Defence Minister Arun Jaitley has asserted that India will not sit idle and react "appropriately" to these acts of mayhem. However, with Pakistan being bent on fuelling the boiling pot that is Kashmir, how effective would another round of surgical strikes be is moot. Thus, though hawks in the BJP are already calling for tit for tat measures, it is imperative that despite the grisly nature of the acts, the Indian authorities keep the communication links with Pakistan open. The spate of infiltration and terrorist action are designed to stoke the India-Pakistan conflict; to allow the hostilities to continue without at least an attempt at rapprochement would be playing into the enemy's hands. India must bear in mind that the de facto Prime Minister of Pakistan, Nawaz Sharif, is engaged in a perpetual wrestling match with his army and intelligence agencies. It may be recalled that earlier attempts to reach out across the border had caused consternation in certain quarters in Pakistan and had resulted in actions such the Pathankot terrorist assault. Yet it is equally pertinent that dialogue between India and Pakistan is the sole solution towards ending enmity and vested anti-India interests must not be allowed to scuttle them.

Rail connectivity

In a welcome development, the Dibrugarh-Guwahati Shatabdi Express has been flagged off, adding to the ongoing process of expansion and augmentation of railway services in the State and the North-east. Premium long-distance intra-State train services have been a dire need for Assam where people are compelled to undergo tedious and prolonged bus journeys for want of efficient and fast train services. The addition of the Shatabdi Express has fulfilled a long-standing need but there is a strong case for further expansion and improvement of the railway network in Assam and other parts of the North-east. Arunachal Pradesh was recently brought under broad gauge connectivity and similar services are required for linking the north-eastern State capitals. Apart from meeting the local commuters' needs, an extended train service in the North-east will also do a world of good to the fledgling tourism industry of the picturesque region. Given that train services in most of the north-eastern States had been nonexistent for decades, the Centre needs to maintain a sustained focus on railway expansion in the region. With more and more people going outside the region for jobs, study and travel, the need for rapid expansion of train services across the North-east does not need reiteration. We need more trains connecting the State with different metropolises of the country as also with the headquarters of the north-eastern States. The region's geographical isolation also makes for a strong case for railway connectivity, as this historical seclusion can be bridged to a great extent through an expanded railway network.

Indian Railways have an ambitious plan of augmenting rail connectivity across the nation involving an expenditure of Rs 14 lakh crore within the current decade. The North-east deserves to figure prominently in the scheme of things of the railways, as this will be critical to expediting the backward region's development process. Apart from being a cost-effective and environment-friendly mode of public transport, railways can also be a determiner in the success of commerce and industry. The strategic location of the region sharing several international boundaries also justifies enhanced railway connectivity. Our parliamentarians should take up the issue of railway linkage in the North-east as a matter of priority and exert pressure on the Centre not just to expedite the pending railway works but also to extract more concessions in this regard. Then, the perennial irritant of uncalfed for delays in the execution of railway projects in Assam should be addressed. Last but not the least, reliability of train services in the region has taken a severe beating due to late running of trains and disruptions caused by frequent bandhs and blockades. It is for the State Government to ensure that train services are not disturbed by bandhs and protests. Security inside trains is another serious matter that deserves utmost attention from the railway authorities.

Need for a sensible drug control strategy

■ Dr Kawai Deep Kour

The statistics about the drug prevalence in India will present enough reason why the problem of drug abuse is serious enough to be viewed with concern. In fact, it should be dealt with as a pan-Indian problem rather than as being a specific state issue. Here again, a major lacuna with statistics is that they are, in many instances, unverifiable. The lack of availability of a consolidated data base from a single source/institution creates hurdles in undertaking a realistic assessment of the extent, pattern and nature of the problem of drug abuse prevalence in the country. The result of a national survey to ascertain the extent and pattern of drug use in the country (conducted after a hiatus of 12 years), being conducted under the aegis of the National Drug Dependence Treatment Centre of the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), Delhi is expected in 2018. However, an official statement from the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment has estimated the number of addicts at 7.21 crore. Data provided by the National Crime Records Bureau record 10 suicides per day due to alcohol or drug addiction. Official statistics released for the years 2011-2013 further reveal a 455% increase in seizures of illicit drugs from Punjab topping the list followed by Mizoram and Manipur. The situation is scary in Punjab as per the Opioid Dependence Report, 2015 with a staggering 2,30,000 people in the State addicted to the use of drugs with Rs 75 billion worth of drugs being consumed on an annual basis in the State.

A cursory glance at the statistics available for various Indian states (including Kerala where prohibition is in place and which has registered a 78% increase in drug-related crimes since 2014 when prohibition was enforced) will reveal how we have chosen to ignore lessons from history. Recently, a group of doctors from Bihar undergoing training at NIMHANS (National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences, Bengaluru) shared that they were perturbed to find that almost 25% of cases handled by them post-prohibition were related to abuse of opioids, cannabinoids and other synthetic variants like inhalants, pharmaceutical drugs, etc. This appears to be a 'balloon effect' of the prohibition in promulgation since 2015 and should be a cause of concern for not only the medical but also the policy-makers. The other States fare no better – across Maharashtra, Pune, Mumbai, Satara, Sangli, Kolhapur are high on drug abuse map. Haryana witnessing a four-fold increase in the number of addicts registering for treatment in the de-addiction centres at Ambala, Hisar, Gurgaon and Karnal, Kurukshetra, Sirsa, Narnaul and Kaithal grapple with increasing instances of abuse of prescription drugs among youngsters. A study conducted by the AIIMS, John Hopkins University and YRG Centre in Uttar Pradesh found disturbing figures of increase in prevalence of HIV infections due to injecting drug use. The lack of adequate treatment facilities and complete absence of such facilities in many cities across the State is a cause of serious concern.

There is the need of a major structural overhaul of the enforcement agencies involved with regulation and control of narcotics production, diversion and trafficking. Special Task Forces (STF) should be formed in each State with representation from local and self-governing bodies, public health, child and women welfare, elected representatives and community level participation as well. The STF should constitute district-level and municipal-level task force which can play a key role in assessing the nature of the drug problem and formulating a targeted response. This will also enable to identify existing and emerging fissures in areas of supply reduction, prevention and rehabilitation, treatment and research.

CM's official residence to get new security features

SANJOY RAY

GUWAHATI, May 2: A slew of new security features would be added to the Brahmaputra State Guest House located at Kharjhuri here, fueling speculations that the chances of Chief Minister Sarbananda Sonowal shifting to the Minister's Colony anytime in the near future appear remote.

There are also feelings suggesting that the decision to merge two separate hostels (quarters) into one to accommodate the Chief Minister's official residence in the new-look Minister's colony did not get the nod from the General Administration Department (GAD), after which the plan to add to prevailing security cover in the Brahmaputra State Guest House, which also houses the Chief Minister, was reportedly mooted.

After Sonowal's predecessor in Tarun Gogoi exuded reluctance in vacating the housing facility atop Koinadongha hills, Sonowal made the Brahmaputra State Guest House as his official residence ever since he had taken over as the Chief Minister.

"Among the new to-be-introduced security features include an electro-hydraulic bollard system, which is meant for providing a formidable obstacle to an approaching vehicle at the main entrance," sources told this newspaper.

Also, the Public Works Department responsible for the work would have to assess the ground situation before things take final shape.

Besides, an electronic boom barrier would also be installed to ensure controlled entry and exit of vehicles, especially when multiple numbers of vehicles tend to enter or exit the premises.

Sources divulged that under-vehicle scanners would also add teeth to the security set-up.

While informing that the entire plan is in the tendering process, sources stated that there are also plans to increase the number of closed-circuit television cameras, including dome cameras, in and around the guest house.

"Already, the guest house has some CCTV and dome cameras installed. The entire security map will be reassessed, once the exact plan is finalised. Going by the area in question and the sensitivity of the matter, we would need more cameras installed," sources said, adding that there is a committee which would eventually clear the new additions in the existing security system and the nod of the police department would also have a bearing on the final security map.

Although sources abstained from divulging finer details of the proposed stepping up of the security cover, they however did mention that the number of security personnel guarding the guest house might also go up.

Also, the Public Works Department responsible for the work would have to assess the ground situation before things take final shape.

Other animals like goats, pigs and poultry were also treated during the day-long programme. The villagers were also offered medicines free of cost for their cattle and poultry.

A meeting organised on the occasion at the Borabandhu Community Hall highlighted the significance of the day with the theme: 'Antimicrobial Resistance - From Awareness to Action'.

In Kakojan: Meanwhile, the Assam Animal Husbandry and Veterinary Service Association's Jorhat branch observed World Veterinary Day with a day-long programme at Kakojan on Saturday, adds our Teek Correspondent.

BJP leaders and its ministers for the good work in all the meetings, which obviously irked the district-level workers at Hailakandi.

Meanwhile, Gautam Roy threatened to resign from his party's vice presidential post if representatives of Muslims, Manipuris and tea garden communities are not included in the State committee from Hailakandi district. It may be mentioned here that in the newly-constituted committee of APCC-I, only Gautam Roy and his son Rahul Roy were inducted, which created heavy resentment among the workers. However, Roy justified that he wanted to run the party with representatives of all the communities.

Hailakandi BJP opposes Gautam Roy's entry

CORRESPONDENT

HAILAKANDI, May 2: Members of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) have resolved to oppose the entry of former Congress Minister and six-time MLA from Kathichern constituency into the party.

The issue of Gautam Roy's joining the BJP came into focus after the publication of news items in a cross-section of newspapers. A meeting of the party was held here under the chairmanship of district president of the party, Subrat Nath, which unanimously decided to oppose the inclusion of Roy into the party fold.

It may be mentioned here that the Deputy Speaker in the

nounced in a meeting at Hailakandi that the BJP did not want a Congress party leader like Gautam Roy. It may be noted that Roy was placed third in the last Assembly election in Kathichern constituency, i.e., after AIUDF and BJP.

The meeting was attended by presidents of the mandal presidents of the district, those who addressed the meeting included vice president of the party, Subrat Nath, general secretary Sandipan Paul, Bibhas Sinha, Subrata Sarma Mazumdar, Amiabha Rai, president of Hailakandi Mandal Committee, Manab Chakraborty, Sami Deban and Banshihar Kurmi, among others.

All of them held the view that the inclusion of Gautam Roy into the party will definitely tarnish the image of the party and dissidence may crop up in no time. They decided to inform the party high command in Guwahati regarding their decision. They said that the workers of the party were the target of the supporters of Roy during the last Congress Government and venues of many meetings of the party were damaged under the instructions of Roy. After the meeting, president Subrata Nath informed the decision of the party to the State president in Guwahati.

It may be mentioned here that Gautam Roy praised the

5 more held in connection with attack on Manoj Tiwari's staff

NEW DELHI, May 2: Delhi Police has arrested five more persons for allegedly barging into the residence of BJP MP Manoj Tiwari and attacking his staff members.

The five, whose names were not disclosed by the police, were held late last night, hours after two brothers - Jai Kumar and Jaspant - were arrested in connection with the matter.

The brothers were travelling in a car which bumped into a vehicle driven by one of Tiwari's staffers just outside the MP's house in Lutyens' Delhi at around 1.30 am yesterday. They then called their friends, who arrived armed with rods in a tempo, entered the MP's residence and thrashed his staff. The act was caught on the CCTV cameras installed on the premises, a senior police official said.

On the basis of the CCTV footage, the police are trying to find the other accused.

Tiwari, an MP from North East Delhi, had alleged a conspiracy behind the attack on his personal assistant, cook and driver and the ransacking of his residence.

The police, which had earlier dubbed it as a case of "road rage", later said it could be a planned attack. - PTI

MCD poll win lays foundation to BJP govt in Delhi: Shah

NEW DELHI, May 2: Bharatiya Janata Party president Amit Shah today dubbed the victory of the party in the just-concluded Delhi civic polls as a "stamp of approval" for the Modi government, saying it would serve as the "foundation" for a BJP government in Delhi.

Shah also took a veiled jibe at Delhi Chief Minister and AAP supremo Arvind Kejriwal for his accusations of EVM tampering, saying the MCD poll victory of the saffron party had put an end to the "atmosphere of negativity and non-performance".

The BJP won the MCD polls for the third consecutive term last month, securing 181 of the 270 wards in the city's three municipal corporations and decimating the AAP and the Congress in the process. The polls were postponed in two wards due to the death of candidates.

"Our opponents were expecting the winning run of (Prime Minister) Narendra Modi to come to a halt in Delhi, but due to the hard work and passion of the party workers, a massive victory was secured," Shah told the party's newly-elected councillors at a "Vijay Parv" function at the Civic Centre here. - PTI

President for joint action by internat'l community on terrorism

NEW DELHI, May 2: Terrorism is a major threat to societies and collective action by the international community against it can no longer be postponed, President Pranab Mukherjee has said.

He said there can be no justification for terrorism and its use as an instrument of state policy is perilous and reprehensible.

Welcoming Turkey's President Recep Tayyip Erdogan at Rashtrapati Bhavan yesterday, the President said terrorism is a major threat to all societies and India unequivocally condemns terrorism in all its forms and manifestations.

"We believe that the international community should cooperate closely to address this menace. Collective, coordinated action by the international community against terrorism can no longer be postponed," Mukherjee was quoted as having said in a press release issued today by Rashtrapati Bhavan.

The President also hosted a banquet for his Turkish counterpart. In his banquet speech, Mukherjee said the scourge of terrorism has afflicted India and Turkey for decades.

"India believes that there can be no justification, whatsoever for terrorism. Its use as an instrument of state policy is perilous and reprehensible. We believe that closer coordination and concerted efforts by the international community are necessary to tackle this menace effectively," he said.

Mukherjee said another global challenge of unprecedented scale is the impact of climate change.

"There is an urgent need for the world to use science, technology and best practices to achieve the agreed targets so that we can honestly claim to have made the world a better place to live in," he said.

The visiting President was accompanied by his wife Emine Erdogan at the event.

Welcoming the President of Turkey on his first State visit to India, the President recalled his visit to Turkey in October 2013.

Mukherjee's expressed confidence that President Erdogan's State visit will impart new impetus to bilateral cooperation between India and Turkey.

The President said he was happy to note that the bilateral trade turnover between India and Turkey has grown manifold during the last 10 years. Presently the bilateral trade is at the level of about USD 5 billion.

"The potential is much more. Our business community and investors on both sides should actively work together to explore the current opportunities," Mukherjee said.

The President said the relationship between India and Turkey pre-dates the establishment of the diplomatic ties of these two modern and independent nations.

The President said today, as two emerging economies in a globalised world, we both seek to enhance our economic cooperation to avail the current opportunities and build on our complementarities for mutual benefit.

"India's recent economic reforms and flagship initiatives have made us an attractive business destination. India welcomes Turkish companies to invest in India – especially in the infrastructure sector where they have exceptional expertise.

"Equally, we encourage Indian companies to explore prospects in Turkey," Mukherjee said. - PTI

Good relationships may put older people at reduced risk of developing dementia, says a study

'Caring' to defeat dementia

Having a reliable, approachable and understanding relationship with spouse or partner, children and other immediate family members may put older adults at reduced risk of developing dementia, says a study.

Conversely, negative social support characterised by experiences of critical, unreliable and annoying behaviour from spouse or partner, children and other immediate family is linked with increased risk, according to the 10-year follow-up study published in the Journal of Alzheimer's Disease.

"It is well-known that having a rich network of close relationships, including being married and having adult children, is related to a reduced risk of cognitive decline and developing dementia," said one of the study authors Muzan Khondoker from University of East Anglia in England.

"However, a relationship or social connection that does not work well can be a source of intense interpersonal stress, which may have a negative impact on both physical and mental health of older adults. It is not only the quantity of social connections, but the quality of those connections may be an important factor affecting older people's cognitive health," Khondoker explained.

The study was based on data from the English Longitudinal Study of Ageing (ELSA).

The researchers analysed a decade of data that followed 10,050 core participants from ELSA who were dementia-free at the start of the study in 2002-2003.

Participants were interviewed every two years during 2004-2012 and incidence of dementia was identified from self-reports by participants or information given by nominated informants.

Measures of positive and negative experiences of social support were calculated at baseline (2002) using a set of six items within the 'Health and lifestyle of people aged 50 and over' questionnaire of ELSA.

The scale ranged from one to four with higher values indicating more of positive or negative support.

An increase of one point in the positive social support score led to up to 17 per cent reduction in the instantaneous risk of developing dementia, the findings showed.

But negative support scores showed stronger effects – an increase of one point in the negative support score led to up to 31 per cent rise in the risk. – IANS

Weather had a love for Charlotte.
Such as words could never utter;
Would you know how first he met her?
She was cutting bread and butter.

China demands halt to US missile shield in S Korea

BEIJING, May 2: China today demanded an immediate halt to a controversial US missile shield, hours after Washington announced that the defence system was now operational in South Korea.

Washington and Seoul agreed to the Terminal High Altitude Area Defence (THAAD) battery deployment in July in the wake of a string of North Korean missile tests.

But its deployment has infuriated China, which fears it will weaken its own ballistic missile capabilities and says it upsets the regional security balance.

"We oppose the deployment of the THAAD system in (South Korea) and urge relevant sides to immediately stop the deployment. We will firmly take necessary measures to uphold our interests," Foreign Ministry spokesman Geng Shuang said at a regular press briefing.

While Beijing lashed out at the shield's deployment, the Foreign Ministry expressed support for US President Donald Trump's surprise comments that he would be "honoured" to meet North Korea's leader Kim Jong-Un under the right conditions.

"It would be appropriate for me to meet with him. I would absolutely. I would be honoured to do it," Trump said in an interview with Bloomberg.

Asked about Trump's remarks, Geng said that China "has always believed that dialogue and consultation... is the only realistic and viable way to achieve demilitarisation."

"We also said many times that the US and DPRK... should make political decisions at an early date, take action and show good faith so that we can create a better atmosphere for resuming the peace talks and settling the issue," he added.

Earlier, US Forces Korea said THAAD is "operational and has the ability to intercept North Korean missiles and defend the Republic." A US defence official told AFP however, that the system has only "reached initial intercept capability."

This initial capability will be augmented later this year as additional hardware and components arrive to complete the system, officials said.

The THAAD system, which is being installed on a former golf course in the southern county of Seongju, is designed to intercept and destroy short- and medium-range ballistic missiles during their final phase of flight.

Beijing has imposed a host of measures seen as economic retaliation against the South for the THAAD deployment, including a ban on tour groups.

Retail conglomerate Lotte, which previously owned the golf course, has also been targeted, with 85 of its 99 stores in China shut down, while South Korea's biggest automaker, Hyundai Motor, has said its Chinese sales have fallen sharply. - AFP

'China has vested interest in mediating to resolve Kashmir issue'

BEIJING, May 2: China now has a "vested interest" in mediating between India and Pakistan to resolve the Kashmir issue because of its nearly USD 50 billion investment in the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor that passes through the PoK, an article in a state-run daily has said.

The article in the Global Times, a ruling Communist Party of China publication, indicated Beijing's latent interest in playing a bigger role in the region.

Claiming that China had mediated between Myanmar and Bangladesh over the Rohingya refugees issue, the article said, "China has always adhered to the principle of non-interference in the internal affairs of other countries, but that does not mean Beijing can turn a deaf ear to the demands of Chinese enterprises in protecting their overseas investments."

"Given the massive investment that China has made in countries along the One Belt, One Road, China now has a vested interest in helping resolve regional conflicts including the dispute over Kashmir between India and Pakistan," it said.

China's recent mediation between Myanmar and Bangladesh over the Rohingya issue shows the increased ability of Beijing in resolving conflicts with other big powers, India included in the region," it said.

"In fact, mediating between India and Pakistan over Kashmir issue would perhaps be one of the toughest challenges facing China in dealing with regional affairs to safeguard its overseas interests," the article said.

There is so much to learn for China about how to play its role as a regional power at a time when the country is witnessing a boom in outbound direct investment, the article said.

"For instance, while China has the capability to resolve conflicts through mediation given its increased economic influence, the nation needs to be very prudent in dealing with the turmoil in Kashmir in particular," the article said.

China's official media started floating Beijing's interest in playing a mediatory role to resolve the Kashmir issue.

China's official said that the Kashmir issue left over from history should be resolved between India and Pakistan though Beijing has been stepping up its investments in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK). - PTI

IS attack kills 32 at Syria refugee camp

REIRET, May 2: At least 32 people were killed in an Islamic State group attack near a refugee camp on the Syrian side of the border with Iraq, a monitor said. The attack came as the Kurdish-Arab alliance known as the Syrian Democratic Forces presses an offensive against the IS in the town of Tabqa as part of an assault on the jihadis bastion of Raqa.

The dawn IS attack hit a makeshift camp where some 300 families were waiting to cross into the SDF-held territory in Hasakeh province in northeastern Syria.

"At least five suicide attackers blew themselves up outside and inside a camp for Iraqi refugees and displaced Syrians in Hasakeh province," said Rami Abdel Rahman, the head of the Syrian Observatory for Human Rights monitoring group. - AFP

10 soldiers killed in Iraq IS attack

HABBANIYAH (Iraq), May 2: Jihadist fighters killed at least

10 soldiers in the western Iraqi province of Anbar today in their latest deadly attack on security forces in the area, officers said. The attack near the remote outpost of Rutba brought to at least 26 the number of members of the Iraqi security forces killed by the Islamic State group in the area in recent days.

"We had 10 soldiers killed and six wounded in an attack by Daesh early this morning," an army lieutenant colonel told AFP, using an Arabic acronym for the IS. A police officer and a local official confirmed the attack and casualty toll.

The army officer said IS fighters attacked a 1st Division base in the Sagheer area, east of Rutba, using mortars and rockets before fighters armed with rifles tried to storm it. He said ensuing clashes lasted two hours until about 7 am (local time). - AFP

Le Pen fights plagiarism charges, Macron camp frets

PARIS, May 2: French Presidential far-right candidate Marine Le Pen fought off accusations of plagiarism today as supporters of her rival, Emmanuel Macron, warned that a high abstention rate could hurt his chances of victory. It emerged that Le Pen had copied parts of a fiery speech she made yesterday from one made about two weeks earlier by one-time conservative candidate Francois Fillon, the former frontrunner who was eliminated in the first round of the election.

In an address on April 15, Fillon made specific mention of the geography of France's borders, paid tribute to the French language and spoke of a third "French way" for the 21st century. Analysis by the Rightside TV YouTube channel showed Le Pen repeated these passages almost verbatim from Fillon's speech.

Florian Philippot, the vice president of Le Pen's National Front (FN) party, said it was "not plagiarism," but "a nod to a short passage in a speech about France."

Emmanuel Macron
Marine Le Pen

Le Pen's spokesman David Rachline said the copied passages in the speech were "appreciated by Fillon's voters."

Just days ahead of Sunday's run-off, 39-year-old Macron remains the frontrunner in the race with polls predicting a 19-point lead, putting him on track to become France's youngest president.

Macron's economically liberal approach worries many voters on the left. While they will not back Le Pen, many say they will stay at home rather than vote for him. Opinion polls say abstention could be as high as 30 per cent, higher than in recent Presidential elections, as the "Neither-nor" camp gains strength.

Cedric Villani, a high-profile mathematician and commentator, wrote in the left-wing Liberation newspaper today that abstaining "is the equivalent of giving half of one's vote to Marine Le Pen in the most important election that France has had for several decades." Daniel Cohn-Bendit, a veteran rebel of French politics, called on supporters of hard-left firebrand Jean-Luc Melenchon, who scored 19.6 per cent in the first round, to put aside their "hate" of Macron.

Le Pen and Macron will face off tomorrow in what promises to be a fiery TV debate when the far-right candidate is likely to sharpen his attacks on a candidate she says embodies "the world of finance, of arrogance, of money as king." Macron fought off accusations from Le Pen that he was controlled by banks. - AFP

Pak blames India for scuttling opportunities for dialogue

ISLAMABAD, May 2: Pakistani today claimed that the international community has rejected India's contention that the turmoil in Kashmir is primarily a cross-border terrorism issue, as it blamed India for "scuttling" all opportunities for a "meaningful" dialogue to resolve the issue.

The Pakistani Prime Minister's Foreign Affairs adviser Sartaj Aziz, in a hard-hitting statement, said Islamabad has always welcomed the endeavours aimed at addressing the human rights situation in the Valley and the resolution of the Kashmir issue.

"India's official contention that the Kashmir issue left over from history should be resolved between India and Pakistan though Beijing has been stepping up its investments in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK) is a claim that no one in the world is prepared to accept today," Aziz said in a statement issued by the Foreign Office. He also welcomed Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan's suggestion of having a multilateral dialogue to resolve the issue.

The recent offer of the Turkish President Erdogan to strengthen the dialogue process among the stakeholders for resolving the Kashmir issue and his call for a multilateral approach to settle the issue must be welcomed, Aziz said.

"In this context, the Indian counter proposal that it is ready for a bilateral dialogue with Pakistan is no longer credible because in the past two decades, India has scuttled all opportunities for a meaningful dialogue to resolve the Kashmir issue in accordance with the UN Security Council's relevant resolutions on Kashmir," Aziz said. He alleged that the Indian government has broken its "own record of brutality" in Kashmir by "indiscriminately killing unarmed Kashmiri protesters.

Aziz said the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation's (OIC) Declaration adopted by the 16th Summit in Istanbul April last, "outrightly rejected India's attempts of equating the Kashmiris' freedom struggle with terrorism." - PTI
