GST set to rollout on June 30 midnight

NEW DELHI, June 20: Reminiscent of India's tryst with destiny at the midnight of August 15, 1947, Parliament's historic Central Hall will host a function on the intervening night of June 30-July 1 to ring in the nation's biggest tax reform — GST.

Announcing that the switch-over to the Goods and Services Tax (GST) will kick in at the stroke of midnight, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley said the hour-long function will mirror the contribution made by different political parties and States to the revolutionary new tax regime.

The circular-shaped Central Hall had previously hosted a function that marked 50 years of Independence. — PTI

Presidential poll Numbers in Kovind's favour

NEW DELHI, June 20: The electoral college numbers seem to be stacked in favour of NDA's presidential candidate Ram Nath Kovind and he may well end up getting more votes than incumbent President Pranab Mukherjee and his predecessor Pratibha Patil.

With Shiv Sena tonight aligning other NDA allies in backing Kovind and Odisha's ruling YSR Congress and Telangana's ruling TDP too extending support, the 71-year-old daft leader is expected to have a smooth sailing in the event of an election.

The BJP may also seek the support of rival factions of AIADMK or DMK — parties dominating Tamil Nadu.

The opposition parties are meeting on June 22 to decide on fielding a consensus candidate for the presidential election.

CPI General Secretary S Sudhakar Reddy told PTI in Hyderabad that the opposition parties would "certainly" field a nominee.

The total strength of the electoral college which votes to elect the President consists of all elected MPs and members of legislative assemblies of all states and UTs of Delhi and Puducherry.

The total comes to 10,98,903 votes with each MP carrying a vote value of 708.

The weight of an MLA depends on the population of the state he or she represents.

A candidate needs 50 per cent plus two votes to win the poll. Halfway mark comes to 5,49,452. The NDA, led by the BJP has 5,37,683 votes and this includes the Shiv Sena, a sengen chadar, a citation, a sashrai and a cheque for Rs one lakh. The awardees, in their acceptance speeches, expressed gratitude to the government for selecting their names for this prestigious award.

Addressing the gathering, Sonowal appealed to the YSR's youths to engage themselves in the process of development so that Assam can become as the best state in the country on all fronts.

Sonowal said that Kalaguru too had dreamt of establishing Assam as a strong entity on the global stage through the unity of people and participation of youth.

Referring to Rabha's song 'O Asomiya deka dol', the Chief Minister said the clarion call given by Rabha to the youths clearly indicated that he attached maximum importance to realising their potential.

Referring to the revolutionaries in Bishnu Rabha, Sonowal said Kalaguru wanted emancipation of the downtrodden and the underprivileged section of society, which is also one of the International Yoga Day celebration today

NEW DELHI, June 20: From Central Park in Central Park in New York, the stage is set for the third International Day of Yoga tomorrow with Prime Minister Narendra Modi leading the celebrations – and 55,000 enthusiasts – performing asanas in Lucknow.

"About 5,000 events will be held across the country to mark International Day for Yoga (IDY)," a senior official from AYUSH ministry said. Besides, celebrations will take place in 150 countries with Indian missions coordinating activities in landmark places such as Eiffel Tower in Paris, Trafalgar Square in London and Central Park in New York, the official said.

In India, the biggest gathering will be at Lucknow's Ramabai Ambedkar Maidan where Modi and about 55,000 others will stretch and bend in various yogic postures.

Elaborate security arrangements have been put in place with commandos and paramilitary forces deployed to ensure that nothing goes wrong.

On Sunday, Modi had shared photographs of practise sessions in the run-up to Yoga Day in several countries through his Twitter handle. – PTI

China mints BRICS Plus, rules out military alliance

BEIJING, June 20: China today ruled out the chances of BRICS turning into a clique or a military alliance, saying its recently-proposed concept of 'BRICS Plus' is only aimed at enhancing cooperation with developing nations.

Several rounds of dialogues were held with the other developing countries outside the BRICS during the previous summit of the bloc, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Geng Shuang told reporters when asked about Beijing's proposal for BRICS Plus at the just-concluded Foreign Ministers' meeting which was also attended by Minister of State for External Affairs V K Singh.

"This is way for us to enhance our connection with other developing countries to further coordinate our positions," Geng said.

"So the BRICS Plus concept proposed by Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi means that in future development, China will enhance our cooperation with other developing countries, enhance our interaction with them, so that BRICS cooperation can better reflect the collect-tive position on aspiration of developing countries," he said.

China, which is due to host this year's BRICS summit in Xiamen city in September, reportedly plans to invite a number of countries.

A Chinese official cited how India invited leaders of the Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi-Sectoral Technical and Economic Cooperation (BIMSTEC) during last year's Brazil, Russia, India, China (South Africa) (BRICS) summit in Goa.

China too wants to invite a number of developing countries for the Xiamen meet as it is the discretion of the host country to invite countries for interaction on the sidelines.

Chinese officials said Beijing, however, is unlikely to invite Pakistan keeping up with the sensitivities of India, a leading member of the BRICS group.

Geng said BRICS countries are all major countries with influence and they are very representative in the family of emerging markets.

"So cooperation among the countries will better reflect the call and voice of the developing countries. Since the inception of BRICS, it members never seized cooperation and interaction with other developing countries," he said.

Geng, however, said while the bloc of emerging economies plans to deepen political and security cooperation from economic collaboration, it will not become a military alliance.

"I want to emphasise that BRICS cooperation has always followed the principle of openness, inclusiveness and win-win cooperation," Geng said.

"BRICS cooperation does not intend to form a clique or political and military alliances. They do not intend to target, offset, challenge or replace someone," he said.

He said the BRICS nations are willing to work with other countries to form a community of shared fate for mankind.

"The Chinese side is willing to work with other BRICS countries to promote the development of BRICS cooperation and make positive contribution to world peace and prosperity and jointly tackle global challenges," he said. - PTI

Lightning kills 22 in Bangladesh

DHAKA, June 20: Lightning strikes have killed at least 22 people in Bangladesh in the last 48 hours, authorities said today, a week after monsoon rains triggered a series of deadly landslides in the country. The deaths came as storms swept the country on Sunday and Monday, the head of the disaster management department said.

Among the dead were a couple and their young daughter who were working on a peanut farm when they were struck by lightning.

Hundreds of people die every year from lightning strikes in Bangladesh and experts say climate change has exacerbated the problem.

The proposal said the number of mobile units will be increased and the time gap of visits by such units would also decrease in the times to come.

Chief Minister Sarbananda Sonowal, terming the mobile medical units as historic, said that the 80 mobile medical units would cater to the medical needs of 21 lakh tea garden population in a year. "We do realise the healthcare deficit the gardens are facing. The government is committed to providing best possible healthcare facilities to the tea garden population and it is working towards it," Sonowal said.

State Labour and Employment Minister Pallav Lochan Das, Member of Parliament Kamalika Prasad Tasa and others were also present on the occasion.

The Nepali delegation was led by Foreign Ministry's Secretary Shanks Darbari and Chinese delegation was headed by Chinese Assistant Minister of Foreign Affairs Kong Yuan Xua. The meeting comes shortly after Nagaon signed a memorandum of understanding on China's One Belt One Road (OBOR) initiative. - PTI

"Since childhood, I had been hearing about Bishnu Rabha's works and gradually, as I got to know him more, I revered his talent and unmatched zeal for work in the cultural field," he added.

Noted actress Molya Goswami was specially honoured at the programme on the occasion of completion of 25 years of the first National Award for best actress to an Assamese artiste. Goswami had received the award in 1991 for her role in the film Firingoti.

Addressing the gathering,

Goswami lauded the All Assam Students' Union and its Guwahati branch for giving due recognition to the artistes of Assam, including music maestro Dr Bhupen Hazarika.

She exhorted the younger generation to know more about the cultural and literary figures of Assam like Kalaguru Bishnu Rabha, which would inspire them to carry forward the legacy.

Rabha Divas was also celebrated at the Assam Jatiya Bidyalay, Noornati. A district level inter-school Bishnu Rabha Sangeet competition was organised in keeping with the occasion. Ghanashyam Medhi, Principal of the school lighted the ceremonial lamp. This was followed by a well-organised literary and cultural programme.

Mukul Das, a make-up artiste, who has worked for a number of films, TV serials and theatres, was honoured for his contributions.

Look into student vandalism:

Himanta to VC
STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, June 20: Commenting on the issue of a group of students from Cotton University resorting to vandalism last night at Prashanti Lodge, Panbari, State Education Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma today said that he has asked the Vice-Chancellor (in-charge) to look into the matter.

"Due to the wrongdoings of a handful of students, we cannot blame an entire institution. Though I cannot intervene in the matter as Cotton University is an autonomous body now, I think such students should be suspended for some time or even rusticated so that their parents get to know about their conduct," he said.

"Not only Kovind is a Dalit leader, representing a backward segment of the society, but he also has a distinguished political career. We will also reach out to MLAs outside the ruling alliance, requesting their support so that maximum votes from Assam go in his favour," he added.

Both Mahanta and Daimary also declared their parties' stand on this issue.

"On June 22, the alliance members will sign the nomination, which will be filed on June 23," he further added.

Also commenting on the State Government's decision to appoint teachers from English medium background in the model schools, Sarma said the government has streamlined the process so that candidates educated in Assamese medium would teach in the Assamese medium schools. "Similarly, for Bodo, Hindi and Bengali medium schools, we will appoint teachers who studied one of these languages as his/her MIL subject," he added.

The District Disaster Management Authority (DDMA),

Angamuthu said that special care is being taken to ensure that the wildlife at Nilachal is not harmed in any way due to presence of the large number of pilgrims.

"Designated places for parking of vehicles and embarking and disembarking of visitors have been marked. Street vending will be placed in front of Bhairamukh to Maligaon and from Kamakhya to Bhubaneswari hill top during the period of the Mela. Besides, a health management plan has been formulated and emergency will be in place at all the vantage points," he said.

The District Disaster Management Authority (DDMA),

along with NDRF and SDRE, has formulated an emergency disaster response and rescue plan to deal with any contingency. CCTV's have been placed at important locations.

The NDRF and River Police have started patrolling the Brahmaputra.

MESSAGE FOR TODAY

My interest is in the future because I am going to spend the rest of my life there.

— CHARLES KETTERING

The Assam TribunePolitical choice

The days when the election of the President of India used to be a non-political affair brought about through consensus are long over. It would have been unrealistic to expect that, in these days of no holds barred political pugilism, the BJP-led NDA Government would not make a political choice while deciding on its presidential candidate, or actually strive sincerely towards attaining a consensus candidate. Thus the choice of a little known, non-controversial politician from the Hindi heartland should evoke no surprise. As far as the BJP is concerned Ramnath Kovind, a former two-time member of the Rajya Sabha and currently the Governor of Bihar, is an ideal candidate because he fulfills certain basic requirements brought about by existent circumstances. The most important of these qualifications is that Kovind is a Dalit. Various developments during the tenure of Prime Minister Modi had served to project the BJP as an anti-Dalit party, the tragic suicide of Dalit scholar Rohith Vemula and the flogging of Dalits by so-called gurukshaks being just two of these. It may be noted that Kovind is from Uttar Pradesh, where certain measures by Chief Minister Adityanath have estranged the Dalit community, with militant organizations like the Bhim Sena openly taking on upper caste vigilante groups. The choice of Kovind is thus akin to offering an olive branch by the BJP to re-attract Dalits to its fold.

An equally significant rationale for the choice of Kovind as the official BJP candidate is that he has the capability to stymie the Opposition, which now finds itself in a Catch-22 situation. If political parties oppose Kovind's nomination, it would give the BJP a pretext to tar them with an anti-Dalit brush, while acceptance would amount to capitulation to the NDA's strategy, since none of them were "consulted" in this unilaterally made decision. The Opposition's plight is symbolized by the Bahujan Samaj Party's predicament in UP, where its image as the champion of the oppressed Dalit community might be at stake if it does not agree to Kovind's candidature. At the same time, if the Opposition parties, in particular the ideologically secular ones, decide to put up another Dalit as a contesting candidate, they might lay themselves open to charges of playing caste politics. At the moment the BJP appears to have all the winning cards in its hand though there is a strong possibility that the Opposition, bolstered by murmurs of dissent emerging from BJP allies like the Shiv Sena, might attempt to put up a fight. Especially after the enormous win of the BJP in Uttar Pradesh from where Kovind hails, the numbers are indubitably on the NDA Government's side. Thus, whatever whether there is a contest or not, it appears almost inevitable that Ramnath Kovind would be the next President of India.

Welcome change

The past few years have had some positive developments in the spheres of sports in Assam with some notable performances by our sportspersons – the latest being the selection of young Riyan Parag Das in the India Under-19 cricket squad. Coming close on the heels of Laimon Narzary's record-breaking high jump (she broke a 25-year-old national record) at the 15th Federation Cup National Junior Athletics, it shows that the State is not lacking in sporting talent. The need is to build on the success at junior level and pushing it further so that our sportspersons can make a mark at the international circuit. There have also been a few outstanding individual performances in other disciplines such as football, archery, boxing, etc., by our sportspersons in recent years, making for a refreshing change in Assam sports. It is also good to see more and more youngsters taking to sports other than cricket, and making a mark as well. Developments such as this – together with the fact that we have witnessed some much-needed augmentation of sports infrastructure in the State – can go a long way in inspiring our youths and creating the ideal sporting ambience. It is also worth mentioning that both the parents of Riyan – swimmer Mithu Baruah and cricketer Parag Das – had been distinguished sportspersons and this goes to show how an ideal environment can be crucial in nurturing sporting talent.

The State witnessed some much-needed induction of quality sports infrastructure from last year's SAF Games in Guwahati and Shillong. In addition, such occasions also serve to provide a lot of exposure to young talents of the region. However, we need to have adequate sports infrastructure across the State if we were to identify and nurture budding talents. For this, the State Government and our sports authorities need to make the required interventions and create and sustain the ideal sports environment. Matters such as talent hunt, providing modern training to the players, grooming next generation players and development of sports infrastructure assume utmost significance for producing top-class sportspersons. It is in this context that our sports federations need to deliver on the mandate they have. They have the onerous responsibility of hunting and honing talent but regrettably, these have turned out to be rehabilitation asylums for politicians and bureaucrats who use it as their personal fiefdom. In Assam, too, all the apex sports associations are headed by politicians, and it merits little surprise that these have been rendered dens of murky politics dominated by money and power in utter disregard to pursuance of sporting excellence. It also largely explains why the State despite having abundant talents continues to lag behind the rest of the country. Indeed, the few sporting accomplishments made by our sportspersons owe it to their sheer grit and perseverance than to the bodies that manage sports.

Assam floods need a permanent solution

■ AN Mohammed

Enbankments enhance the water carrying capacity of a river to some extent and thus prevent submergence of the low-lying areas. Dredging of the Brahmaputra is also a short-term measure which may increase the discharge capacity of the river to contribute temporarily towards control of flood. But due to the high siltation rate of the Brahmaputra, dredging in one season will be replenished during the subsequent flood waves. Construction of highways on both the banks of the Brahmaputra and dredging will tremendously improve surface and water transport systems but will have nominal contribution towards flood control. A team of experts from Assam has been proposed to study the management of the Huang He river in China. It is well known that once termed as the sorrow of China, Huang He has been transformed to be a mark of development by building many dams along the river to control the silt and flood water. China has built several hydroelectric stations and irrigation facilities to make full use of the river water.

All water resources engineers are agreed to the fact that the only permanent solution to the State flood problem is to store the flood water in the reservoirs created by dams across the river along with the existing schemes of embankments. It is not possible to construct dams on the Brahmaputra in Assam due to its flat valley and weak foundation. Rock is not available even up to a depth of 100 metre for the dam foundation. Even if a dam barrage is constructed across the Brahmaputra, due to the flat nature of the valley, the reservoir will be extended to very large areas covering paddy fields, roads and villages displacing a large number of people who will need rehabilitation and resettlement. Land acquisition will be almost impossible and investment for the projects will be very high making the projects unviable. Oppositions to the construction of dams are usual from the dislodged people as they are adversely affected by losing land, homestead, etc.

The 3-MW Pagadiga multipurpose project in Assam with an estimated flood relief to 40,000 Ha land and irrigation to 53,640 Ha land in Nalbari and Baksa districts could not be implemented even after allotment of fund in 2002 by the Government of India due to protests by about 3,000 displaced people. On the contrary, the world's biggest hydro project, the 23,500-MW Three Gorges Dam in China, displaced 11 lakh people without any opposition.

Reservoir dams for flood control must be constructed on the tributaries of the Brahmaputra in the hilly contours of the Arunachal Pradesh. The cost of such reservoir projects may require investment of Rs 4-5 lakh crore which cannot be expected from the Centre. Other States will not allow submergence rain in the catchment areas, the reservoir should be emptied to store the flood waves and regulate it through spillways to moderate the flood in the downstream. Reservoir operation for flood moderation will stop the power generation temporarily which the power developers may be reluctant to agree for loss of substantial revenues. As suggested by experts, the Government of India may create an independent authority for reservoir operations of all the power projects with prime objective of flood control in Assam. Thus, the Assam flood can be controlled without any significant investments.

Apart from flood control in Assam, the power thus generated can mitigate the power shortage problem of the North-East States. Hydropower is clean and cheap. Unlike the thermal and solar power projects, after initial investment, running and maintenance cost is negligible in the hydro projects. The electric tariff for hydro projects almost remains constant whereas in case of others, it increases with the passage of time. The selling price of electricity from the 1225-MW Bhakra Nangal project constructed in 1962 is 33.05 paise per unit. The unit selling price of 200-MW Kopili Hydro Project completed in 1997 is 120.20 paise, 120-MW Lakow gas-based and 133-MW Namrup coal-based thermal projects are 396.95 and 395.95 paise respectively. The Assam Power Generation Company Ltd. (APDCL) is purchasing solar power for Rs 9.72 per unit as per agreement signed in 2014 though the selling price has gone down to Rs 2.44 now due to several concessions and privileges received by the solar power projects. The production cost of a unit of power in the mega hydro projects without subsidy was around Rs 5 in the 2014 price index. The production cost of per unit electricity for the 20,000-MW Dehang (Siang) and 4800-MW Subansiri multipurpose projects planned by the Brahmaputra Board in 1983 was 19.05 paise and 21.22 paise respectively. Had they been completed at that time, we would have excess power with much lower electricity bills.

The spy from the cold?

■ Vijayanta Sharma Pathak

If India has acknowledged that Kulbhushan Jadhav is indeed an Indian citizen, then the naval commander could be no spy for the Research and Analysis Wing (RAW). This derives from the nature of elementary spycraft at work. Countries seldom openly claim or own up the identity of captured spies. Kulbhushan Jadhav is a retired Indian naval officer. Pakistan feels they have hit the jackpot apprehending an Indian national with links to the defence establishment. Naval officers do go on deputation to the RAW, as have senior naval officers from the Northeast, but not in the manner that the Jadhav case shows. RAW officers in general serve their time as diplomats in Indian embassies abroad. Spies who work on the ground in a target country are assets who have their handlers in the agency. It's unlikely for the agency to send someone like a Navy captain as a spy. An asset has the ability to merge in the local culture and be aware of the latest turnaround in the local ethos and milieu.

Captured by the Taliban and later sold to the Pakistan Army, Kulbhushan Jadhav was officially arrested by the Pakistan authorities in March 2016. A military court in Pakistan pronounced Jadhav guilty of espionage and sentenced him to death for sponsoring terrorism in that country. As India moved the International Court of Justice, the court stayed the death sentence. The Indian authorities have stressed that Pakistan had carried out a secret trial in a military court where no evidence was given. Pakistan has claimed that RAW operative Jadhav was arrested trying to enter the country. India has maintained that Jadhav is a former Indian naval officer-turned-businessman. He was on a routine business trip to Iran when he was abducted by Pakistani intelligence agencies. Denied consular access at least 14 times, global human rights watchdog Amnesty International has also opposed the death sentence.

Jadhav has confessed to being a RAW agent, then the confession would have been extracted under duress and torture. If he was indeed a legitimate spy from India, he would have entered Pakistan on a diplomatic Indian passport. RAW agents, just like CIA and Mossad, including the ISI, are usually posted in embassies, with diplomatic passports. Using third country passports in cross-border missions is also a standard practice for any major intelligence agency. It provides the base for immediate denial made by the nation concerned if the agent is caught by enemy forces. The much-talked-about video where Jadhav allegedly admits to being a RAW spy doesn't tell. In the video, Jadhav allegedly says that he arrived in Iran in 2003 and started a small business in Chabahar. In fact, India has been using the strategic Chabahar port in Iran as a counter to the China-Pakistan strategic and tactical narrative on the Asian subcontinent. The video has too many eddies and inconsistencies at key places that cloud its authenticity. India wouldn't have acknowledged Jadhav as an Indian citizen if he had been an "expendable asset". There are two categories of people in an agency – intelligence officers and assets. For example, if all Jadhav is involved in anything, he would be an asset, not an officer. Officers operate at a different level.

Commander-level officers in the Indian Navy are equivalent to the rank of a Lieutenant Colonel in the Army. Such rank officers are not sent on cross-border operations. Spying is a part of extended diplomacy, and may include non-State and State actors. Diplomacy involves statecraft. If Ajmal Kasab could have been tried by a civil court under the due process of law in India, Jadhav should have at least given consular access. If a civil court could send Zulfikar Ali Bhutto to the gallows, Jadhav should have been tried by the civil judiciary. Pakistan is in a state of paralysis, and this gives a chance to the rulers to deviate from the burning issues facing the people of Pakistan.

The grapevine has it that Pakistan has been trying to convince China that all the unrest in the strategically-sensitive Balochistan is the fallout of Indian subterfuge and surveillance. Pakistan has reportedly accused India of fomenting unrest in Balochistan, the country's largest province. If the spotlight is on Kulbhushan now, the integral truth is that India dumps and forgets its spies in Pakistan. Excluding terrorist attacks, India uses all the weapons available in the covert and tacit arsenal for both defense and offence. India is wary because Pakistan has been using all the tricks of the trade, including espionage, subversion of currency, promoting separatism and terrorism. India has important strategic interests in Balochistan principally because of the spike in naval activities of the Chinese in Gwadar, including plans for the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor. For the past two decades, India has made no secret of its activities in Iranian Balochistan. It has sought to develop the port of Chabahar for alternative routes to Afghanistan and Central Asia. It has used its consulate in Zahedan near the Pakistan border to monitor Pakistani activity.

Arrested from the Chaman area of Balochistan, Pakistan's Dunya News channel said Jadhav's address in Mumbai was No. 502B Silver Oak and had been at Powai, Hinjewadi Gardens. His passport number was L9630722, with a valid Iranian visa made out in the name of Hussein Mubarik Patel. The channel said Jadhav had joined the RAW in 2013 and was initially based in the Chabahar port. Media reports in India have confirmed that Jadhav does indeed live where the Pakistani report said he does. Son of a police officer in Mumbai, Jadhav is said to have business interests all around the globe. Nobody, however, knew about the kind of business that Jadhav did. He was caught after speaking to his family in Marathi over the cell phone. Calls from Pakistan to India are under scanner, and Jadhav was thus caught by Pakistani intelligence. Pakistan's permanent representative to the UN Maleeha Lodhi had early on handed over a dossier to the UN Secretary-General Antonio Gutierrez, citing "evidence" of Indian subversive activities in Pakistan and Jadhav's consequential statement. The video of an Indian Navy submarine sneaking into Pakistani waters on November 18, 2016 and the nexus between Indian intelligence officials at the Indian High Commission in Islamabad and terrorists are reported to be part of the dossier.

Born in 1968, Jadhav had joined the Indian Navy in 1987. His associates remember him as a person who suspiciously remained absent for long periods. But unlike Jadhav, spies who have served the country with fortitude and suffered torture, including long terms of imprisonment, are left to fend for themselves. When they do return home after a long spell of time behind bars in target countries, they are ignored. In that sense, Jadhav's is a tricky case, it seems.

Letters to the EDITOR

Sir, – Most of the engineering students are struggling very hard to subsist in an extremely challenging environment. Nowadays students feel insecure to choose engineering as an academic career although they have a passion for it. In Assam there are four government engineering colleges – AEC, JEC, JIST and BBEC. But the students get desperate after attaining degrees; due to the lack of opportunities, these students are bound to change their track and start to settle in different unrelated professions. Our State Government is mainly in focus in opening new engineering colleges. What is imperative is to reform this fruitless system by improving the infrastructure, laboratories, research works, faculty, qualitative education, skill development, etc. Hiring at campus has slowed down because the recruiters are changing their strategy. The Centre has also taken several steps for prevention of such

Self-defence as subject

Sir, – Crime against women, particularly rape, is a burning issue today. With the flow of time, such crimes are rapidly increasing. If we go through the morning newspapers and other media, we get to see a minimum of two-three rape and molestation cases in a day. The recent statistics revealed that a total of 796 cases have been reported as crime against women during this year. As the situation deteriorates, it's time for the women to wake up and learn self-defence techniques. There is a need to revise and include self-defence as a special subject in the school curricula. The Delhi Police has started giving self-defence training and uploading motivational videos on YouTube for the women. The Centre has also taken several steps for prevention of such crimes. The Government should step forward to take more positive initiatives to make all the women both physically and mentally strong to prevent such crimes. Yours etc., ROUSHNI SHAIKH, Gauhati University.

Exam date clash

Sir, – I'd like to bring to the notice of the authorities concerned the issue of clash of dates of various State Government recruitment exams. It's very unfortunate that while holding the recruitment exams, the various government departments/organizations seem to have ignored the interest of the unemployed youth of the State. There's a lack of communication between the departments which leads to a clash of dates of various recruitment exams. In a very recent case, the recruitment exams for the post of junior assistant in the State Forest Department, for the post of junior accounts assistant in the Treasury Department, Kamrup Metro district and for the post of inspector of boilers of the APSC have been slated on the same date, i.e., July 9, 2017. This clash of date is bound to affect a large number of deserving unemployed candidates who have applied for all these three posts. The departments concerned should take urgent steps to rectify this lacuna. Yours etc., PM BHARADWAJ, Guwahati.

CCE Prelims

Sir, – Recently the APSC released the CCE Prelims 2016 admit cards online along with the selected and rejected list of applications. I am one of those candidates whose name didn't show up on either list even after sending a complete application. What has worried me was that if my application was rejected, don't I have the right to know the reason for it? Through this letter, I would like to request the other candidates who might have faced a similar situation to speak up to make the people at the helm notice this. Yours etc., ABINASH PATRI, Sivasagar.

(II)

Sir, – Understanding the concerns of the rejected candidates of the CCE Prelims 2016, I through your esteemed newspaper, want to request the APSC to give a chance to correct their application forms. Many candidates who are not accustomed to online filling of forms might have erred unknowingly. Some might have filled in the wrong format; some have forgotten to put optional subject. However, they should be given an opportunity to rectify the mistakes. The APSC should look into the matter. Yours etc., BIKRAM NEWAR, Tinsukia.

Road condition

Sir, – The road condition of Tezpur is very much deplorable and needs early improvement to avoid fatal accidents. The authority should take the matter seriously in and outside Tezpur town for the welfare of the community. There are several badly damaged areas near Mission Chariali, Maigaon and elsewhere of the town which need urgent repair. Yours etc., RAM-CHANDRA CHUTIA, Tezpur.

Irregularities in selection of peons, jarikaraks in CBI courtsSTAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, June 20: Some unsuccessful candidates of the tests held for selection of candidates for four temporary posts of jarikarak and an equal number of temporary posts of peon in the Additional CBI courts I and II of the Special Judges of the CBI here, have brought allegations of large-scale irregularities in the selection process to fill up these posts. Some of them have now moved the Chief Justice of the Gauhati High Court with their complaints in this regard.

According to these candidates who have been declared unsuccessful in the interviews for the posts in question, the written tests for the posts were held after several years from the date of the advertisement issued inviting applications for these posts. Call letters were not sent to the applicants for the posts but they were asked to appear in the interviews through an announcement made on the court's website and through a newspaper advertisement issued on December 4, 2016.

This has deprived a huge number of the 12,139 (5581 for the posts of peon and 6558 for the posts of jarikarak) applicants from appearing in the tests. Only 390 of them (154 for the posts of peon and 235 for jarikarak) could appear in the tests.

From the RTI reply of the authorities concerned it was found that those declared successful in the selection tests were given extra marks in a biased manner. Even the attendance sheets, which were signed by such successful candidates, were found to be tampered with.

For example, the signature of such a candidate on two sheets showed much difference. Even the invigilators' signatures were found to be doubtful, as, only initials were used by some of the invigilators, while there was a clear instruction to put the signature in full. Though the results were declared on May 18 last, the selection board chairman put his signature on the result sheet on May 19, while the member of the selection board put his signature on May 18 itself.

Moreover, the details of the written tests conducted for the purpose of selection of the candidates for the above posts were not provided to the RTI applicant, despite his depositing the due fees for it, alleged the unsuccessful candidates.

Training for staff involved in socio-economic survey begins

STAFF REPORTER

GUWAHATI, June 20: A three-day regional training camp (RTC) for the field officers and staff to be involved in data collection procedure, survey instruments, etc., in connection with the forthcoming nationwide socio-economic survey by the Field Operation Division (FOD) of the National Sample Survey Office (NSSO) under the Ministry of Statistics & Programme Implementation got underway in the city on Monday.

The next round of the socio-economic survey (NSS 75th round) will be conducted between July 1, 2017 and June 30, 2018.

The NSSO (FOD), Regional Office, Guwahati, is conducting the training camp, which started with a brief inauguration by SB Singh, Deputy Director General.

In his inaugural address, Singh referred to the history of data collection by NSSO at national level.

"The surveys undertaken by NSSO are of specific importance and the results are being used in estimating various important indicators like GDP, workers' participation rate, and impact of sectors like health, education, tourism, services, etc. This particular survey on household consumption, education and health will likely give various estimates related to these sectors," he said.

Singh added that for comparable and reliable estimate, the basis is the quality data collection and hence is the need for quality data collection for a bigger cause. He also requested all the field workers to go through the instructions properly and apply them in their field work to collect reliable data.

The inauguration was followed by a detailed discussion on various technical aspects.

The NSSO (FOD) has been conducting nationwide sample surveys on various aspects of socio-economic, industrial and agricultural statistics, etc., since its inception in 1950.

The socio-economic survey is one of the most important surveys the NSSO (FOD) conducted nationwide. Generally, it conducts surveys on different aspects in a year-round manner, which is called rounds.

Jumbo havoc

CORRESPONDENT

TEZPUR, June 20: Following forcible occupation of an elephant corridor for setting up of the AIDC complex Ghoramara area here and developing it into a mega herbal food park by Patanjali Herbal Production Company, an impending conflict between the workers of the company and wild elephants in the area has been going on.

A herd of wild elephants numbering between five to ten entered the food park recently and broke a boundary wall constructed over their regular route, which was used by them over the years as their ancestral corridor.

While talking to this correspondent, Assistant Conservator of Forests of West Sonpur Division, Jasim Ahmad stated that since the area falls under an elephant corridor, hence for protection of the area from the attack of wild elephants, installation of solar fencing is a must.

Meanwhile, wildlife activist Saumav Barkatuli alleged that the aforementioned land will never officially come into the hands of the Patanjali authority. "We appeal to the authority concerned to look into the matter seriously." He added that illegal occupation of prime wildlife habitat will continue if no action is taken.

Barkatuli said that due to illegal occupation of wildlife habitat, a couple of days back two persons under Rangapara PS in Sonpur district were killed by a herd of wild elephants.

Dulijan and Margherita, while the remaining portion can continue to travel to Dibrugarh via Moran as per the existing route.

"Similarly, the Down train, with its bifurcated rake can be joined at Simaluguri and run upto Guwahati. That will ensure that people of Tinsukia district are not deprived of the services of Shatabdi, which has been discontinued due to lack of patronisation by the commuters. This should not be allowed to happen with regard to the Guwahati-Dibrugarh Shatabdi Express," said the ARPA secretary.

He added that the same rake which arrives in Dibrugarh is then used as the rake for the Guwahati-Naharlagun Shatabdi.

"Passenger response to the Guwahati-Naharlagun Shatabdi has so far been even less than that of the Guwahati-Dibrugarh Shatabdi Express. So it will be sensible if NFR bifurcate the rake of the train at Harmuti, with one half of the coaches continuing to Naharlagun and the other going to Mungkongselek. This will also mean that commuters from Lakhimpur and Dhemaji districts wanting to travel to Guwahati will benefit," Sharma said.

Sharma also called upon the Northeast Frontier Railway (NFR) to give better service regarding the Shatabdi Express.

Capacity building workshop on TB

CORRESPONDENT

GUWAHATI, June 20: A capacity building workshop on public-private mix across the State, spoke on the scope of private sector engagement in TB and responsibilities of PPM.

One important recommendation that emerged from the workshop is that all tea gardens should be involved in the TB programme as the tea community is most vulnerable to TB.

Addressing the workshop, State TB Officer Dr Das appealed to the district private mix coordinators to involve all private stakeholders and help make Assam TB-free by 2025.

The technical session of the workshop was led, among others, by Dr NJ Das, State TB Officer; Dr G Buragohain, WHO consultant; Dr DJ Deka, WHO consultant; Dr S Bora, State TB HIV Coordinator; P Bordoloi, State IEC Officer; Dr Bharati Kalotek, REACH and Dr Kuru Dindi, REACH, WHO consultant Dr Buragohain spoke on the scope of private sector engagement in TB and responsibilities of PPM.

Commenting on the importance of private sector engagement, he said that several project evaluations have shown that PPM could help increase case detection and improve treatment outcomes, reach the poor and save costs.

S Barthakur, State BCC expert, National Health Mission Assam also spoke about the need of convergence in TB programme management.

Dr Bharati from REACH took a session on overview and objectives of the 'Call to Action' project and facilitated a participatory session on piloting the pharmacy model for TB in Assam.

REACH is a non-profit organisation dedicated to the fight against TB for almost two decades, with offices in Chennai and New Delhi. The TB 'Call to Action' project is being implemented with support from USAID in Jharkhand, Odisha, Assam, Bihar and Uttar Pradesh. Through this project, REACH seeks to amplify and support India's response to TB by involving previously unengaged stakeholders and broadening the conversation around the disease.

The Bengali translation of the novel done by Jahabni Das and published by Kolkata-based Dey's Publications received wide acclaim and appreciation amongst the women activists and research scholars of Bengal, and the presentation of this award to Dr Sarma was in recognition of her endeavour in this regard.

Dr Sarma has already carved a niche for herself in the literary world of Assam through a series of thought-provoking novels.

It may be pertinent to mention here that Matangini Hazra was a martyr in India's Freedom Struggle and a woman of immense valour who had the courage to raise her voice in support of women's rights back in those days.

Therefore, the presentation of the Women Awareness Award in the hallowed memory of Matangini Hazra to Dr Anuradha Sarma was the recognition of the latter's powerful and dynamic portrayal, through her novel Dominator Dostobez, of the varied trials and tribulations confronting the womenfolk of our society at large.

As part of this occasion, Alauddin Mandali, Associate Professor in the Department of Bengali, Assam University, was presented the Shyamaprasad Mookherjee Personality Award; Bela Bhattacharjee, former Professor of Pali at Calcutta University, was honoured with the Rabindra Boudhika Philosophy Award; and Shukla Chakraborty, former Professor of Tamil, was honoured with the Tagore-Bharati Literary Award.

The intellectual significance of this event was further augmented through an academic discussion on Rabindranath Tagore and Buddhism.

In her acceptance speech, Dr Anuradha Sarma remarked that it was her privilege to have received the award from the hands of the former Governor Shyamal Sen and further emphasised the significance of this first recognition of literary merit being conferred in the name of Matangini Hazra.

Dr Sarma further conveyed her feelings of encouragement at being honoured in the name of such a woman as Matangini Hazra, who had dedicated her life to fight for the holistic development of women as well as to the cause of her motherland's emancipation from slavery and bondage. Dr Sarma concluded by reiterating her commitment to the ongoing struggle of the have-nots of the society and to humanity at large.

Incessant rain inundates low-lying areas of Barpeta dist

CORRESPONDENT

BARPETA, June 20: Incessant rain for the last few days has inundated all the low-lying areas of the district and as the rivers flowing through the district show rising trend, the situation is likely to worsen in the days to come.

Flood waters of Burdihua river has entered through the broken embankment at Kalatali and submerged several villages under Sarbari revenue circle of the district. The embankment of the river was washed away during the devastating floods in 2012 but the Water Resource department did not repair it putting the lives and properties of the people of that area at stake.

The Deputy Commissioner of the district informed this correspondent that barring some minor works, all the breaches of the embankments in the district have been plugged. But he expressed his apprehension that some embankments may not work properly due to some reason. Moreover, the ongoing erosion has created havoc in some embankments and roads protecting outward flow from the river. Though the embankment at Bardanga has been plugged and it is safe for now, the portion of PMGCS' road that has been working as the safeguard that area has faced threats from the continuous erosion of Beki. Similarly, the Barparatoda Bansbari road has also faced threats from erosion.

The executive engineer of the PWD (Roads), Barpeta division has also expressed the view that a stretch of the road at Safakamar may not be able to protect itself this year as the erosion of Beki has turned serious there.

He informed that the responsibility of preventing erosion lies with the Water Resource department. Though the PWD (R) undertakes measures to protect its roads, it can not do the same in a large number. As the stretch of the road facing erosion at Safakamar is very long, it is not possible for the PWD (R) to undertake any scheme there.

The Deputy Commissioner further stated that some schemes to check erosion have been undertaken under MGNREGA by the rural development agencies of the district. But it is also not possible to perform on a large scale as it also violates guidelines.

Meanwhile, the district administration has kept a strict vigil on the likely situation to be created by flood in the district.

The administration in collaboration with the District Disaster Management Authority has completed mock exercises for rescue and relief operations in almost all the areas of the district.

They have identified vulnerable areas and the places where relief camps are to be set up in case of emergency.

An amount of Rs 1 crore has been received in advance to carry out relief operations.

Besides, an amount of Rs 10 crore has been received for payment of compensation to those who had lost their dwellings during natural calamities during the recent years. Relief committees have been formed in the subdivisions and circle office level.

AIZAWL, June 20: Union Minister of State for Railways Rajen Gohain arrived in Aizawl today to attend the International Yoga Day to be observed at Assam Rifles ground on Wednesday. In the Christian-dominated State where majority of Christians believe that yoga clashes with their belief, the International Yoga Day will be observed as Healthy Mizoram Campaign by the Assam Rifles.

The Young Mizo Association, the largest civil organisation in Mizoram, today decided the invitation to participate in the launching of the Healthy Mizoram Campaign on the occasion of the International Yoga Day. In a press release today, the central committee of the YMA said it does not support the propagation of yoga in Mizoram as it goes against the teaching of Christianity and urged the Mizo Christians to refrain from Yoga. However, Governor Lt Gen (retired) Nirbaj Sharma has made a fervent appeal to the Mizos to practice yoga as it is related to "Hinduism".

Arunachal Correspondent adds: Along with rest of the world, Arunachal Pradesh has a certain misconception about Yoga, which must be dispelled. Some people believe even in Mizoram that Yoga is a religious activity impinging on other faiths. It must be clearly understood that Yoga does not adhere to any particular religion, belief system or community; it has always been approached as a technology for inner well-being. It works on the level of one's mind, body and energy," the Governor said in his message on the occasion of the Yoga Day.

"You will agree that no one needs it more than us in Mizoram. Despite having a vibrant civil society, high literacy, good climate and all the other necessary ingredients, we still have the dubious distinction of suffering from cancer, drug addiction, alcoholism, HIV and so on in a big way. In that our youth is affected in particular. It calls for a change of mind set and major life style changes," the Governor added.

Last year, ahead of the International Yoga Day, the Mizoram Kohima Institute Committee, an umbrella organisation of 15 major churches of the State, urged Christians to refrain from practising yoga as it is related to "Hinduism".

In his message, the Governor said that Yoga is one of the most invaluable gifts of the ancient Indian tradition. Yoga embodies unity of mind and body and promotes harmony amongst the people and nature. It encourages more holistic approach towards good health and happiness. Yoga provides physical and mental well-being of the people. For sound health and mind, we need to incorporate Yoga as part of our daily life, he further said.

Meanwhile, Arunachal Governor P B Acharya has appealed to the people to participate in the International Yoga Day celebrations across the State. He expressed the hope that the great movement initiated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi will continue to promote healthy mind and body.

YMA to raise funds for flood victims

NEWMAY NEWS

AIZAWL, June 20: Mizoram's largest civil organisation the Young Mizo Association (YMA) on Tuesday said that it will raise fund for the flood victims that hit the state since June 9.

The executive committee of the central committee of YMA met on Monday unanimously decided that donation would be collected in all YMA branches across the State in aids of those victims who have been badly affected by floods, landslides and other natural calamities'. The YMA also asked the people to generously come forward and extend aids and helping hands to the victims.

Sources said that some NGOs, including Mizo Zaini Insukhawm (MZI), Mumbai based Getto, Delhi based NGO Goonj and the Salvation Army international headquarters in London are raising funds in aid of Mizoram flood victims.

Landslides and floods triggered by incessant rains that lashed Mizoram since June 9 wreaked havoc in the State as at least 12 people were killed and 877 houses destroyed in different parts of the State.

State Disaster Management and Rehabilitation report said that at least 10 people, including a three-year-old boy died in Tlabung sub-division in south Mizoram's Lunglei district, while one person each died in Aizawl and Serchhip districts during the past 11 days due to massive landslides and flash floods.

As many as 877 houses have also been damaged by landslides and floods triggered by incessant rainfall in different parts of the State. Landslides triggered by incessant rains also blocked national highway and state highways at several places which are now cleared of debris.

NASA's Kepler telescope spots over 200 new planet candidates

Eye in the sky

NASA's Kepler space telescope has spotted 219 new potential planets, of which at least 10 are near-Earth size with conditions suitable to host life.

This brings the total number of planet candidates identified by Kepler to 4,034, of which 2,335 have been verified as exoplanets. Out of the roughly 50 near-Earth-size habitable zone candidates detected by Kepler so far, none of 30 have been verified.

The new data is the most comprehensive and detailed catalogue release of candidate exoplanets, which are planets outside our solar system, from Kepler's first four years of data. It is also the final catalogue from the spacecraft's view of the patch of sky in the Cygnus constellation.

The results using Kepler data suggest two distinct size groupings of small planets. Both results have significant implications for the search for life.

The final Kepler catalogue will serve as the foundation for more study to determine the prevalence and demographics of planets in the galaxy, while the discovery of the two distinct planetary populations shows that about half the planets we know of in the galaxy either have no surface, or lie beneath a deep, crushing atmosphere – an environment unlikely to host life.

The Kepler data set is unique, as it is the only one containing a population of these near-Earth analogues – planets with roughly the same size and orbit as Earth," said Mario Perez, Kepler programme scientist in the Astrophysics Division of NASA's Science Mission Directorate.

"Understanding their frequency in the galaxy will help inform the design of future NASA missions to directly image another Earth," Perez said.

The Kepler space telescope hunts for planets by detecting the minuscule drop in a star's brightness that occurs when a planet crosses in front of it, called a transit.

This is the eighth release of the Kepler candidate catalogue, gathered by reprocessing the entire set of data from Kepler's observations during the first four years of its primary mission.

This data will enable scientists to determine what planetary populations – from rocky bodies the size of Earth, to gas giants the size of Jupiter – make up the galaxy's planetary demographics.

One research group used the Kepler data to make precise measurements of thousands of planets, showing two distinct groups of small planets.

The team found a clean division in the sizes of rocky, Earth-size planets and gaseous planets smaller than Neptune. Few planets were found between those groupings.

Using the W M Keck Observatory in Hawaii, the group measured the sizes of 1,300 stars in the Kepler field of view to determine the radii of 2,000 Kepler planets with exquisite precision. – PTI

Germany start campaign with narrow victory over Australia

Leon Goretzka of Germany celebrates after scoring against Australia during the FIFA Confederations Cup match at the Fisht Stadium in Sochi, on Monday.

SOCHI, June 20: A young German side weathered a second-half fightback by Australia to start their Confederations Cup campaign with a 3-2 win over the Socceroos on Monday.

Goals by Lars Stindl and Leon Goretzka, either side of a penalty by Julian Draxler, saw Germany home to leave them second in Group B behind Chile, who they face in Kazan on Thursday.

Celtic midfielder Tommy Rogic had made it 1-1 in the first half and Tomi Juric added Australia's second after the break from a goal that was allowed to stand despite a suggestion of handball leading to a review from the video assistant referee.

The Socceroos then had a string of late chances to equalise, but Germany held out.

"First and foremost, I am happy we picked up the three points," beamed Germany coach Joachim

Loew, who punched the air at the final whistle.

"We played well in the first half – the only bad thing was that we only 2-1 up at the break."

"We lost our way after 60 minutes and need to work on retaining our stability, but a lot of things worked well."

Australia next face Cameroon, who lost 2-0 to Chile in their opening game, in Saint Petersburg on Thursday with both teams needing a win in their bid to reach the semi-finals. "It's disappointing, we were barely clinging on in the first half," admitted Australia's coach Ange Postecoglou.

"The second half was better, we composed ourselves and got back into things."

"It's a loss and the loss falls on me, it's my responsibility."

Much had been made before kickoff of Germany bringing a young international appearance.

With Bayer Leverkusen's Brando causing mayhem down the right flank, striker Sandro Wagner had two clear chances, a diving header and then a shot, both of which went wide. Australia barely escaped their own half in the opening 30 minutes, but they eventually started to build some momentum.

Defender Trent Sainsbury wasted a golden chance when he headed Aaron Mooy's free-kick wide with the goal at his mercy.

Their breakthrough came when a Roig shot was blocked, but the Celtic midfielder slammed home the rebound to put the Socceroos level at 2-1 at the break. – Agencies squad and their starting line-up had just 138 international appearances between them.

The arrival of the world champions in Sochi failed to excite local fans and only 28,605 of the Fisht Stadium's available 47,700 seats were filled.

Those who did turn out saw Germany waste no time in taking the lead with just five minutes into the game. After Goretzka went close,

Pietersen has no regrets over T20 pioneer role

LONDON, June 20: Kevin Pietersen has insisted he was happy to have paved the way for current England stars to play in Twenty20 franchise cricket even if it helped curtail his own international career and saw him labelled the 'bad guy'.

Pietersen, one of the outstanding batsmen of his generation, has not played for England since being frozen out following the team's return from a 5-0 Ashes thrashing in Australia in 2014.

Having once held out some hope of a return to England duty, Pietersen has spent most of the intervening period playing in the growing number of Twenty20 franchises around the world, having been an early oversers star in the Indian Premier League.

Monday saw Pietersen being announced as one of eight international marquee players for South Africa's T20 Global League that is due to start later this year.

The England and Wales Cricket Board once had little time for events such as the IPL, but has recently softened its stance, with the likes of all-rounder Ben Stokes named player of the tournament at this year's edition.

Pietersen said he was proud of his pioneering role, for all the criticism that came his way at the time.

"I'm lucky to have these T20 tournaments where I can still produce on the big stage," Pietersen told reporters at the Global League launch in London on Monday. – AFP

Faf hopes Global League can halt South Africa talent exodus

LONDON, June 20: Faf du Plessis is optimistic that the creation of a new Twenty20 Global League in South Africa will help prevent the country's top cricketers leaving in search of greater financial opportunities.

The combination of a relatively weak economy and the lure of the English county game has seen a number of Proteas cricketers call time on their international careers.

South Africa has a trade agreement with the European Union which means players in England are regarded as 'home' selections under the Kolpak rule.

The likes of Kyle Abbott, Rilee Rossouw, Dane Vilas, David Wiese, Simon Harmer, Hardus Viljoen and Stiaan van Zyl have all opted to play county cricket rather than continue to represent South Africa, sparking fears of a mass exodus.

While financial security has been the often cited reason, there have been concerns regarding transformation targets designed to correct the legacy of apartheid, when non-white players were effectively barred from representing South Africa, could have played a part too.

But Test and Twenty20 captain du Plessis, who played for Lancashire under the Kolpak rule and has appeared in Twenty20 leagues around the world, said he hoped the new tournament would help provide opportunities currently only available outside of South Africa.

"I spoke about it when the Kolpak thing started happening in South Africa – it was probably important that South Africa looked at different ways to try and keep players in the country," explained du Plessis at the eight-team Global League's launch in London on Monday. "I think this is a huge step towards that," the 32-year-old batsman added.

"Players don't have to look outside anymore, from an opportunity point of view and from a financial point of view – they don't need to go overseas and look for other stuff."

"This is going to be really important in keeping most of the players in the country."

The November-December time frame for the new event will also mean South Africa's leading players are available for the whole of a domestic Twenty20 competition.

"We've always come back from long tours and there was a lot of important cricket coming up so we haven't always been around to play as much domestic cricket as was needed," said du Plessis, a veteran of 40 Tests.

"For the whole South African team to be available to play in this tournament is the most important thing."

Each one of the teams, six of whom have overseas owners, has been assigned a 'marque' South Africa player, based on a connection with the city concerned.

Hashim Amla (Durban), Quinton de Kock (Benoni), AB de Villiers (Pretoria), du Plessis (Stellenbosch), JP Duminy (Cape Town), David Miller (Bloemfontein), Kagiso Rabada (Johannesburg) and Imran Tahir (Port Elizabeth) are the players who fall into this category. – AFP

ICC mulls 2 WT20s in 4 years

LONDON, June 20: The next Champions Trophy scheduled in India could be scrapped to accommodate two World Twenty20 Championships in a four-year cycle, the International Cricket Council's CEO David Richardson has revealed.

India, who hold the hosting rights for the next Champions Trophy in 2021, lost the title to Pakistan by 180 runs in the final at The Oval on Sunday.

Despite the question-marks over its relevance, the event received huge response from global audience as millions tuned in to catch the action on television.

However, Richardson said there is no guarantee that there will be another Champions Trophy after 2021 and the issue will be discussed during the ongoing ICC annual conference at The Oval.

"What we want to do is differentiate our global events from each other so that they can be standalone and create maximum interest every time the event happens. At this stage, the next Champions Trophy is still scheduled for India in 2021. Whether that gets changed, the consideration has been given to changing to two T20s in a four-year cycle which would mean swapping the Champions Trophy for a World T20," Richardson told reporters. – PTI

Kumble quits as India coach

NEW DELHI, June 20: Anil Kumble has reportedly stepped down as India's chief coach amid speculation of a rift with captain Virat Kohli.

Although, none of the BCCI top officials, who are in London for the ICC Annual Conference, were available for confirmation it is being widely reported that Kumble has submitted his resignation.

Kumble's decision comes in the wake of reports claiming rifts between him and Kohli, and just two days after India's embarrassing loss to Pakistan in the Champions Trophy final.

His one year contract expired at the end of the Champions Trophy but he was given the option to travel with the team to the West Indies for the limited overs series beginning on Friday.

However, Kumble decided to stay back in London for the ICC Annual Conference as he is the chairman of the Cricket Committee while the Indian team boarded the flight to Barbados.

The BCCI had invited fresh applications for the post of head coach days before the start of Champions Trophy. Kumble was a direct entry into the coach selection process while the others who applied for the post were Tom Moody, Richard Pybus and Lallachand Rajput among others.

On the sidelines of the Champions Trophy in the UK, the Cricket Advisory Committee Sachin Tendulkar, VVS Laxman and Sourav Ganguly held meetings with Kumble as well as Kohli to sort out the differences between the duo. - PTI
