Silapathar violence Wanted Subodh Biswas arrested in Bengal

STAFF REPORTER

Subodh Biswas after his arrest in North 24 Parganas

GUWAHATI, March 22: After evading arrest for nearly 16 days, the prime accused in the March 6 Silapathar incident, Subodh Biswas was arrested along with one of his close accomplices in the wee hours today by a team of Assam Police from a remote village in North 24 Parganas district in West Bengal, located close to the Indo-Bangla border.

Both the accused were brought to Guwahati later in the evening by air.

A few hours after their arrest, both the accused were produced before the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, also directed the investigating officer to submit the compliance report before the court within seven days.

The bail petition of Subodh Biswas was also rejected by the ACJM, Bongaon.

The team of Assam Police's Criminal Investigation Department (CID), assisted by officials of the West Bengal Police, acting on multiple tips-off, finally zeroed in on the house of a retired schoolteacher where Subodh Biswas was hiding along with his associate Subhas Biswas.

Subhas, a senior leader of the Nukhil Bharat Udbastu Samanay Sangha (NBUS) was the man behind the ransacking of the AASU office

Terror attack near British Parliament, one killed

LONDON, March 22: A British police officer was today stabbed in the Houses of Parliament in central London, in what police said was a "terrorist incident".

The incident prompted lockdown within the House of Commons chamber. Prime Minister Theresa May was seen being ushered into a car as what sounded like gunfire rang out at Parliament during the incident, the BBC reported.

Commons Leader David Lidington told MPs the "alleged assailant was shot by armed police." There are also reports of as many as five people being "mowed down" on nearby Westminster Bridge. MPs said they had heard three or four gunshots.

"Incident in #Westminster: We are treating this as a terrorist incident until we know otherwise," the Metropolitan Police tweeted.

"#Westminster: We thank the public for their assistance & urge people to remain calm, be alert & vigilant."

"Officers – including firearms officers – are on scene and dealing with the incident in #Westminster," it said. Staff inside Parliament were told to stay inside their offices.

Press Association political editor Andrew Woodcock, who witnessed the scenes unfolding from his office window, said, "Heard shouts and screams from outside and looked out, and there was a group of maybe 40 or 50 people running round the corner from Bridge Street into Parliament Square."

"They appeared to be running away from something."

"As the group arrived at the Carriage Gates, where policemen are posted at the security entrance, a man suddenly ran out of the crowd and into the yard. (See page 4)

Concern over misuse of media by parties

NEW DELHI, March 22: Expressing concern over alleged misuse of the media by political parties during elections, members in Rajya Sabha today said paid news was distorting the electoral system and sought a law to restrict media owners from holding cross-businesses.

Participating in a short duration debate on electoral reforms, JD(U) leader Sharad Yadav strongly pitched for media reforms, saying democracy was in "danger" as the media was being controlled by capitalists.

Observing that journalists were being hired on contract basis, he said the recommendations of the Majithia wade board for newspaper industry employees should be implemented at the earliest to protect mediapersons.

"We have seen the media in earlier days and we are seeing the media now. We are not getting true news. ... Journalists are honest but they cannot write true stories because of their owners. We have capitalists owning media houses now," he said.

The capitalists controlling the media followed "hire and fire" policy. Not only this, the media does not have any connect with the people because of the media owners, he said.

"So there is no point talking about electoral reforms without discussing media reforms.... We must have a law to restrict those who run media houses from being involved in other businesses," Yadav said, adding that "one of the capitalists" owned 40 per cent stake in a media house.

Elaborating on the matter, Yechury said there was no country in the world which allowed crossholding of print and electronic media.

"What is happening to the media needs to be seriously discussed. There should be a separate discussion about the role of the media," he said. -PTI word was published. Owners of media don't allow...." He also suggested a debate on functioning of media in the House.

CPI(M) leader Sitaram Yechury said the prevalence of paid news in the media was a serious issue which required a separate discussion.

"One of the distortions in our electoral system is the growth of paid news. Times has now come to identify such news and the party or person who has paid for such news," he said and stressed the need to "formulate some new laws" to end this activity.

Elaborating on the matter, Yechury said there was no country in the world which allowed crossholding of print and electronic media.

For dialogue, Pak should commit to end terror: Govt

NEW DELHI, March 22:

India today clearly put the onus on Pakistan for resumption of dialogue, asserting that it should commit to end the state-sponsored terrorism.

Home Minister Rajnath Singh also said in the Rajya Sabha that the government was ready to talk to all stakeholders in Jammu and Kashmir to normalise the situation there.

"Pakistan should at least make a beginning and it is willing to talk and end terrorist activities and to normalise in Kashmir. We are ready to cooperate with everyone and have taken all initiatives in this regard."

He noted that he had visited the Kashmir valley thrice during the unrest last year. "When there was unrest, I went to the Kashmir valley twice. I have spoken each time. The government wants the Kashmir situation to improve. We have taken every initiative," he said.

"I also want to inform the House that there has been no dearth of official communication," he said.

While talking about steps and schemes initiated to normalise the situation in Jammu and Kashmir, the Home Minister said he does not, at the same time, dismiss the work done by the previous governments.

"We never want to take credit of anyone. We do not claim that we alone can improve the situation and solve the Kashmir problem. The support of every political party and every citizen is required to solve the Kashmir problem," he said.

He said the Modi government was trying to take forward the initiatives taken by previous governments.

Listing some of the initiatives taken, he said the selection process for the armed police forces is over and job opportunities for Kashmiri youth have increased.

He added that never before have there been recruitment of as many as 10,000 SPJs in Kashmir valley and five new India Reserve Battalions have been raised there with as many as 4,500 personnel.

Besides, he said, central armed police battalions have been raised in J&K with 1200 personnel. -PTI

DTO, traffic police to inspect city school buses

ity, DTO in-charge (Enforcement) Bapan Kalita said.

GUWAHATI, March 22: The District Transport Officer along with the Traffic Police will carry out inspections to see whether school buses of various private schools in the city are maintaining safety norms.

Deputy Commissioner of Kamrup Metro Dr M Angamuthu gave an order to this effect at a meeting of the Regional Transport Authority (RTA) held here today.

Dr Angamuthu said that the RTA would follow Supreme Court directions with regard to safety norms and within 30 days, the Transport department would inspect the school buses.

In this context, the onus has been put on the principals of the schools concerned to ensure that safety norms are adhered to.

Almost 300 school buses have been seized by the Transport Department as they have crossed their period of longevity, DTO in-charge (Enforcement) Bapan Kalita said.

Parking places for school buses will also have to be provided by the school authorities and 60 days' time has been allowed to school authorities to identify the pick-up and drop-off locations for students who use their parents' own vehicles for travelling to and from schools.

The meeting also discussed the issue regarding plying of e-rickshaws in the city and it was decided that e-rickshaws will be allowed to ply as the last mile connectivity. It decided that all e-rickshaws must be registered within May 30.

Assembling of foreign-made e-rickshaws will be inspected by the Transport department, the DC said in his order. The DTO (Enforcement) was asked to convene a meeting with the E-rickshaw Association and dealers next week.

The DC also ordered the DTO to take initiative for a route plan and permit regulation process for e-rickshaws.

The meeting also discussed the issue about regulation of city buses and the DC ordered the DCP (Traffic) to take strict action against city bus operators who violate traffic rules in the city.

The participants were informed that in the National Highway 37, from Juhkbari to Khanapara, the Transport department has identified 22 spots to be used as bus stops. They were also informed that the State Transport Authority has decided not to give more permits to share taxis and city buses from April 1. The meeting also took a resolution not to allow diesel autos to ply in the GMC area.

It was also decided to ask the transport association to ply city buses on a few routes like the Lokhra-Nepali Mandir (Palitan Bazar), Gauhati-Fatasil Ambart, Gauhati-Maligaon and Narengi-Six Mile.

Orientation programme at Nethralaya

GUWAHATI, March 22: An orientation programme on the tool for HR and Infrastructure Mapping under eye care service delivery was conducted at the Sri Sankaradeva Nethralaya today. It was a joint programme of Vision 2020 - Right to Sight and the National Programme for Control of Blindness (NPCB) and operation theatre nurses under the State health service were present.

Medical director of Sri Sankaradeva Nethralaya Dr Harshu Bhattacharjee, Dr Anup Kumar Daitary, State Programme Officer of the NPCB and two more faculty members conducted the programme.

This mapping is essentially designed and will be conducted throughout Assam and the entire country for proper planning on human resource and infrastructure development so that barrier-free eye care services are made available to all citizens of India. Emphasis is given to establish wellness and prevention rather than cure treatment for blindness.

At today's meeting ophthalmologists, district programme officers of NPCB and operation theatre nurses under the State health service were present.

Impractical recommendation

However well meaning it might be, the recommendation of a three-member bench of the Supreme Court of India headed by Chief Justice JS Khehar, that the contending parties in the Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid land dispute in Ayodhya settle the matter out of court, is to say the least, impractical. One needs to bear in mind that the dispute has been hovering over the socio-political scenario in Uttar Pradesh for quarter of a century without moving an inch towards possible resolution. Thus there is ground for scepticism as to how any new initiative towards a settlement would bear fruit now, unless the changed circumstances are used to hoveat off the contending parties into doing so. In fact, the conditions are even more inauspicious at the precise moment; the BJP has just won a spectacular victory in the State's Assembly elections; though the development card was flaunted by the party during the campaign, there was an underlying interface between the party's saffron wings and the electorate vis-a-vis the temple building issue. That the new Chief Minister is a die-hard champion of those who willy-nilly wants to build a temple even if they have to disregard minority sentiments in the process enhances the scepticism about meaningful dialogue between the contending parties, a reality augured by the fact that the BJP might be on its way to removing the Raja Sabha obstacle.

This is the hint thrown by one of the main petitioners in the case currently lying before the Apex Court, the maverick BJP politician Subramanian Swamy, while reacting to the Apex Court's recommendation. Swamy has allegedly threatened to use Parliament to enact a law to build the Ram Janmabhoomi temple unless Muslims accept his proposal to build a mosque across the Sarayu river as he had earlier suggested. Various Muslim bodies have made it abundantly clear that they are not amenable to this suggestion and any concessions from them is highly unlikely, even if, as the Chief Justice has said, he himself is invited to act as an adjudicator. The Apex Court, while making the recommendation for an out of court settlement and urging all the parties to make another attempt towards that end, has stated its willingness to hear out the petitions submitted before it after the controversial Allahabad High Court judgement allotting equal share of the land of 2.77 acres to three claimants. Given the negligible prospect of any amicable out of court settlement, it would be more practical for the Apex Court to scrutinize the petitions before it and pronounce a judgement. A firm ruling and clear-cut directives by the Apex Court would work more effectively towards bringing a final and irrevocable end to a sensitive issue which has been festering for too long and was working as a catalyst for communal tensions.

Kaziranga concerns

The past few years have seen a spurt in rhino poaching in the celebrated habitat, the Kaziranga National Park. The mounting rhino toll laces bare the glaring lapses on the part of the KNP authorities, the Forest Department, the local administration and the State Government vis-a-vis management of this prime wildlife habitat. Authorities such as CAG and NGT also keep voicing concern over the inadequacy of the measures taken so far to contain the menace of poaching. Apparently, a lot remains to be done in strengthening the frontline staff in matters of arms, training and intelligence gathering so that they can take on poachers which operate with a lot of dexterity. The assertion of the Government that rhino poaching has come down in the past couple of years is hardly any solace, given that the dip in rhino fatality is only marginal and a substantial number of rhinos were killed during the period. Rather than gloating over the 'diminishing' trend of rhino deaths, the authorities would do well to address the glaring anomalies in frontline manpower management as well as lapses in other anti-poaching measures. Given the magnitude of the poaching, training in sophisticated arms is a must, and it is a welcome development that decks have been cleared for the purpose. It should be remembered that the forest frontline staff in Kaziranga as also across many other wildlife habitats work in harsh jungle conditions bereft of adequate amenities. This is having an adverse bearing on their efficiency and motivation levels, and the sooner such concerns are addressed, the better would it be for long-term conservation prospects of our precious wildlife and their habitats.

Poaching aside, other debilitating concerns too continue to plague Kaziranga – not the least being the spurt in tourist facilities and commercial activities in the Park's periphery. Regrettably, the Forest Department and the administration chose to turn a blind eye to the developments imminent to the Park's interests for a long time for reasons best known to them. The spurt in tourist facilities, industrial activities and expanding human settlements along the park's southern boundary and beyond has disrupted Kaziranga's much-needed contingency with the forested hills of Karbi Anglong. From the point of conservation, it is imperative to treat the Kaziranga-Karbi Anglong landscape as a single entity – more so in view of the critical role the Karbi Anglong highlands play during the recurring floods when the park remains submerged and the animals in their hordes invariably find shelter in the hills. Things have worsened this far that even the very few existing animal corridors linking Kaziranga with the hills stand highly degraded today in the face of increasing commercial activities and expanding settlements. The fallouts of the disappearing corridors are already palpable in the form of an escalating man-animal conflict in the fringe areas. If the Government is serious about Kaziranga's long-term interests, it needs to act firmly and regulate the spurt in tourist facilities and other commercial activities besides the expanding settlements by making a policy decision.

Is market economy antithetical to democracy?

ROUGH & TUMBLE
By Patricia Mukhim

Prime Minister Narendra Modi came to power against the backdrop of how he transformed Gujarat into a business and investor-friendly State apart from good governance. Business summits organized by the Modi Government were big ticket events and became the talking point even among foreign business delegations. Modi's idea of a progressive India is based on his Gujarat experiences. So going by this logic, Gujarat should be a State where poverty is largely eliminated because the gains made by big investments would have trickled down to the lowest common denominator. But is that really the case? Can the markets address the evils of unjust social structures marked by casteism? Can it put to rest religious intolerance and communism? Has India now got it wrong by believing that a new market-driven economic order would flatten out all the uneven socio-economic spaces and that the new generation would leave behind the dissonance that has plagued Indian society? Many have serious doubts.

The market economy did not enter our vocabulary in 2014. It was an imperative that India had to embrace it in 1991 when the economy hit rock bottom. The Nehruvian idea of a mixed economy did not really work. While some basic infrastructure was created, the pace of development was not in sync with the aspirations of a new nation whose citizens had high expectations from their leaders post Independence. All that one can remember of that generation were the five-year plans that led to the institutionalization of the Planning Commission. This later became a super body – a monolith that was not accountable to Parliament but had enough powers to craft out schemes that were implemented across States, as if their needs were homogeneous and so too their geography and demography. As a result of the Planning Commission's 'one size fits all' model of development, many ill-conceived schemes failed.

There was the Integrated Rural Development Programme (IRDP), which failed big time in States like Meghalaya. The self-help groups (SHGs) created to meet targets for implementing the scheme were not bottom-up institutions that were need-based but suffered from a top-down approach where government officials herded a few people whose economic interests were antagonistic to each other. Hence, they failed the moment they were created but were listed in the government's books. If the SHGs had been set up the way they should be – through a process of participatory rural appraisal (PRRA) including training rural folks – to train their own idea of development and to form groups in accordance with their economic inclinations, they would have survived and thrived and ventured into individual enterprises after five or 10 years. SHGs are not meant to remain small borrowers or clients of micro-enterprises forever. The members are trained to manage their small businesses and their books so they graduate into medium-sized businesses and later to big businesses. But government officials hardly cared about outcomes. They only managed their targets on paper and the rest is history.

India continues to be a nation with very high poverty levels even today. The fact that subsidies in LPG and food grains still have to be doled suggests the means and the sources of funding to meet this ambitious, albeit noble project. The National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (NREGS) that promised 100 days work for one member from each rural household was launched. The daily wages were well defined in the scheme and the local panchayats (village durbars in tribal areas) identified deserving individuals within their jurisdiction. Village Employment Councils (VECs) were formed to oversee the implementation of the scheme. These VECs were answerable to the Block Development Officers (BDOs) who in turn were accountable to the district administration.

In its audit report of 2011, the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) of India found significant deficiencies in the implementation of NREGS. Later a study titled India's National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme as it is – Interpreting the Official Report by R Jha and R Gaiha, using official data, concluded that NREGS has not performed well. They found that official claims of higher agricultural wage rates and lower migration were mostly exaggerated even while those who benefited from the scheme felt a growing sense of entitlement. The study also found that durable community assets were not created, especially in tribal States where community land is rapidly converted into privately-held property. Recently 87 lakh names of non-existing persons were dropped from the NREGS list. Indeed, as someone rightly observed, the NREGS had democratized corruption bringing it down to the village level.

In this grim scenario and with a Prime Minister intent on rooting out corruption, what economic formula would work best? Leftist ideologies blame neo-liberalism or the free market economy as the enemy of the poor and accuse the state of being in league with big business and alienating land belonging to impoverished tribals to hand them over to mining companies. Does the NDA Government at the Centre have an economic design that is crafted with clarity and a long-term vision for this country? Is the demonetisation drive which the ordinary citizen believes was a surgical strike against the wealthy, enough to address intrinsic corruption? Economists are yet to pronounce a clear verdict on the long term impacts of demonetization. But what other economic formula does the NDA Government have? The Goods and Services Tax (GST), a uniform taxation regime, is intended to speed up movement of goods to empower the States better. Even the NITI Aayog is an exercise in granting more autonomy to the States to decide their development priorities.

But the bigger initiatives of the NDA Government are easier land acquisition rules for public-private partnerships, industrial corridors and social infrastructure. Earlier, permission was required from villagers to industrial units located in exclusive economic zones. This clause has since been removed from the Land Acquisition Act. The Modi Government has also been working overtime to attract foreign investments, especially from Japan, China and the United States which have together committed to invest over $100 billion. Whether this investment actually comes in is a question mark.

The concern is that the Modi Government had to take the ordinance route to push through major reforms. The Opposition calls this a subversion of democracy since these ordinances bypass Parliament. This raises the question as to whether democracy actually slows down economic reforms. Can any government imblie the core principles of democracy and yet make economic progress? Increasingly, voices of dissent term Modi as a PM who will bypass democracy, encourage polarization along religious lines, encourage the forces of Hindutva as is happening in Uttar Pradesh to get his way. We will have to wait until late 2018 to see if Modi is good for India or otherwise. By then it might also be revealed whether the market economy with its preying instincts can pull India and its millions out of poverty.

Rising expectation on Judiciary

■ Satya Nath Sarma

In a democracy, the role of the Judiciary is crucial. The Judiciary is a faithful keeper of the constitutional assurances and in view of that, the judiciary is entrusted with an important duty of protecting and safeguarding the rights of individuals and putting a check on arbitrary actions of the state and other organizations. It is only an independent and impartial Judiciary that can make the legal system vibrant. Our Indian Judiciary, Credibility, success and activeness of judicial process ultimately depend on the manner of doing administration of justice. The welfare of citizens greatly depends upon speedy and impartial justice based on objectivity.

The efficiency factor primarily affects the efficacy of justice delivery system. Judicial incapacity, lethargy, disinclination to learn, lack of effective and strict law-teaching mechanism to equip judges, lack of common sense are worrying factors that affect the delivery of justice.

The Judiciary being one of the organs of our system of government should fulfill the hopes and aspiration of the common people. It is an accepted fact that the Indian justice system is highly deficient and negligent. This could be evidenced by the various incidents; one such case is Rudul Shah State of Bihar and Another decided on August 1, 1983. Rudul Shah was arrested in 1953 on charges of murdering his wife. He was acquitted by an additional sessions judge, in 1968, who directed his release from jail, pending further orders. Rudul Shah languished in jail for 14 years after his acquittal, until his plight was highlighted in the media in 1982 and led to the filing of the PIL on his behalf. That is why James Bryce has rightly pointed out that there is no better test of the excellence of a government than the efficiency of its judicial system.

It is almost found in various transactions that whenever there appears a quarrel or a dispute between two parties, the weaker party being helpless takes the name of court and makes up his mind to go to court. The common people, who are physically, mentally, economically or socially weak, always take resort of the court. For them, the only machinery to help them is the court – the Temple of Justice.

The Constitution of India provides for a single integrated judicial system with the Supreme Court at the top, High Courts at the middle (State) and District Courts at the ground level. The Judiciary enjoys full autonomy in its working. The Judiciary is not only the protector and guardian of the Constitution but also the protector against the possible excesses of the Legislature and the Executive organs which make the Judiciary most respected. The independent Judiciary being one of the basic structures of the Constitution makes the institution vibrant, strong and justice-oriented. Although the people in India have their reservations about the fairness of the Executive, it is not denying the fact that up till now, the people in India have complete faith in the Judiciary which is good for the health and survival of democracy.

The Judiciary being one of the organs of our system of government should fulfill the hopes and aspiration of the common people. It is an accepted fact that the Indian Judiciary stood on the edifice of the British colonial rule and their imposed system should need modifications favourable and suited to the common people of India. In the last two decades, the Apex Court's contribution to the legislative policy-making is noticeable. The rights to food, housing, education and information have all foreshadowed parliamentary legislation. In this connection, we may refer the direction of the Apex Court passed in the famous Vishakha's case (Vishakha and Others vs State of Rajasthan). In this case, the direction and guidance given by the Apex Court in the year 1997 to prevent the sexual harassment in workplace ultimately led to the passing of the Sexual Harassment of Women in the Workplace (Prevention and Redressal) Act, 2013.

Similarly, while dealing with a writ petition dated April 18, 2011 in the famous Bachpan Bachao Andolan vs State of India and Others, Justices Dalbir Bhandary and AK Patnaik of the Supreme Court prohibited the engagement of children in the circus. In the said judgment, the Apex Court directed the Central Government to rescue all the children who were engaged in the various circus parties and handed over them to their parents or to rehabilitate them. The said judgment is a classic example of upholding the basic rights of a child by the Supreme Court.

In the present scenario, the Judiciary is the source of confidence and fearlessness. The decision given by the court really determines the meaning, nature and scope of the laws passed by the Legislature. The proper interpretation of law by the Judiciary amounts to law making which really defines the law. The expectation of the common people on the Judiciary is very high and it is the solemn duty and responsibility of the Judiciary to decide the matter quickly, impartially, honestly and without fear or favor to anybody. If that is not done, there would be a threat to democracy in near future. The court must take care to see that it does not overstep the limits of its judicial function and trespass into areas which are reserved to the Executive and the Legislature by the Constitution.

Letters to the EDITOR

Sir, — Through these columns, I would like to draw the attention of the Railway Minister Rajen Gohain to the fact that unlike in other States where most intercity trains have vendor coaches, which help the rural, small agricultural and handicraft producers carry their products to the markets of the cities, the trains in Assam do not have the same. We are a group of educated youths trying to set up agro-based enterprises in Jonai (Murmongsele). However, when we tried to transport eggs, chicken and ducks to the Kamakhya station on the Murmongsele Express, the station master informed us that only dogs, horses and pigs (certified by veterinarian) are allowed to be transported. I have seen how marginal farmers are harassed by the RPF personnel when they carry their products (unofficially) in the normal express trains. This facility of vendor coaches has the potential of empowering the local people by eliminating a lot of middle men. Such coaches are needed in all the intercity trains which leave their originating places at night and reach Guwahati the next morning. Yours etc., MONJIT DUTTA, Jorhat.

Traditional practices

Sir, — With time, indigenous knowledge is gradually on the verge of extinction. The North-eastern region has many traditional practices which are effective and economic. The Energy and Research Institute (TERI) and the Indira Gandhi National Centre for the Arts with the National Institute of Technology, Silchar organized a workshop on the role of information communication technology in preservation of indigenous knowledge of the North-east recently. I am thankful to the organizers for this endeavour. Indigenous knowledge on different facets of life is in abundance which needs to be tapped and documented. Scientific research will benefit everyone and it's overdue to act on preserving the data still left within our region. Yours etc., Dr PINAKI CHAKRABORTY, Silchar.

NCERT textbook

Sir, — This refers to the letter 'HS Physics paper' (AT, March 17) written by K Bhuyan. The ground reality is that the HS Physics paper 2017 definitely had a shift of standard as compared to the previous 20 years. The language was tricky but not ambiguous. Several questions which looked odd including conversion of cobalt nuclei were directly set from the NCERT textbook (Page No. 451) which is recommended by the AHSEC in its syllabus. With the disaster faced by the examinees now, it is time to verify whether the NCERT textbook is followed in letter and spirit in the teaching-learning system under the AHSEC.

We would like to remind the writer that in the new UGC syllabus in the undergraduate Major courses, the Dirac Delta function will be present in the Semester I, which means the study of BSc will be a challenging one in future. It's high time that we should move on and look for the standards of the CBSE in AHSEC Science stream. Let the academicians of Assam come forward to suggest modifications in the AHSEC system like amendments to remove MIL as a core subject in the Science stream of HS so that the students are less burdened and concentrate more on the elective subjects. We also request the AHSEC to do the needful so that the students are not at the receiving side due to the shift in the standard of the HS Physics paper 2017. Yours etc., LEEPLADHAR CHOUDHURI, Kokrajhar.

Silapathak attack

Sir, — We are all aware about the shocking and unfortunate incident that took place at Silapathak on March 6 last. We vehemently condemn the incident of vandalism. The State has been witnessing widespread protests from various organizations after the incident. We feel that whoever is behind the incident should be punished and they should be dealt with by the Government with an iron hand. Yours etc., USHAKANTI DAS, Rukniganj, Guwahati.

Wind power

Sir, — This is with reference to the letter 'Developing solar power' (AT, March 22). I would like to mention that the heat generated by the sun consists of radioactive substance and larger amounts of radiation can cause illness and deaths. To me, the production of clean energy through wind power is more feasible and eco-friendly than developing solar power. Yours etc., KAMALIJIT DAS, Pub Sarania, Guwahati.

A very pious woman by nature, she was a staunch devotee of Satya Sai Baba, spending most of her time in worship and the like. She was very much popular in the Gandhi Basti locality of Guwahati, where she stayed, due to her genial and helpful nature.

My childhood memories will always be special. To be honest, when I used to accompany her with koka Upendranath Bhagawati to every Theosophical Society meeting, I used to get bored, but now I consider myself lucky that I got those opportunities, because of the influence those meetings had on my later life. She was a master story teller also, in the way she used to narrate to us the stories of Burhi Azir Sadiha etc.

Today, on the occasion of her ashyashradha, I pray to the Almighty to grant eternal peace to the departed soul.

Uncertain clouds hover over completion of East-West corridor

CORRESPONDENT

SILCHAR, March 22: Despite umpteen assurances of early completion of the long awaited Silchar-Saurashtra East-West corridor via Dima Hasao district, clouds of uncertainty are still hovering over the dream project of the people of Barak Valley.

The last date for opening of the tender was March 21 but even that had to be deferred because of administrative red-tapism. The vexed issues have also disappointed the contractors who have lost interest in taking up assignments as well.

However, according to the officials of National Highways and Infrastructure Development Construction Limited (NHIDCL), the NOC on the Forest and Environment clearance is posing a major hindrance towards the completion of the project. The officials are hopeful that since tender has been called, the long awaited project will soon see the light of the day.

It may be mentioned that the foundation stone for the East-West corridor was laid in 2004.

Over the years, though there has been significant progress, but the controversial 31 kms of road from Balachora to Harengeajao on the Borail Hill range remained a debatable issue so far mainly because of necessary environmental clearance.

Speaking on the developments, Cachar Deputy Commissioner S Viswanathan said that out of the 31 kms, 25 kms 250 meter falls within the administrative purview of Cachar district. Questions have been raised on the decision to call partial tender regarding NOC now. But there are complexities with the portion lying within Dima Hasao.

On the other hand, project director of NHIDCL Sanjiv Jain said "the tender call was augmented eying a solution to the burgeoning problems on the Dima Hasao portion of the road stretch. Central Government has also taken a proactive stance towards completing the task at the earliest possible period. But due to financial and administrative loopholes, the opening of tenders had to be rescheduled on March 28." He was not ready to buy the argument that contractors are reluctant to accept assignments. Interestingly, the tender has been called for 25.250 kms work within Cachar district. Questions have been raised on the decision to call partial tender regarding which the project director had no satisfactory replies before the media.

Cachar Deputy Commissioner has however said that because of the impasse, a plan was made for two-lane road on the 31 kms road stretch to ease the passenger traffic towards Guwahati from Silchar. But with the tender for four-lane roadway, things became difficult.

Meanwhile, PWD Minister Parimal Suklabaidya has claimed that the requisite clearance for the road falling within the administrative territory of Dima Hasao has been obtained. "The completion of the much awaited project shall not be deterred by anything now. Once the papers reach the concerned department, the efforts to wrap up the work shall be accelerated," the Minister maintained.

Dibrugarh KVK imparts training on Farmer's Producers' Organisation

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

DIBRUGARH, March 22: The Krishii Vigyan Kendra (KVK) of Dibrugarh, which is an institution under the Assam Agricultural University of Jorhat, organised a two-day training programme on, 'Role and Scope of Farmer's Producers' Organisation in Economic and Social Sustainable Development of Agriculture' in its premises at Kordoba near Lohab on March 17 and 18 last.

It may be mentioned here that the Union Government's Department of Agriculture has identified Farmer's Producers Organisation (FPO) as the most appropriate institutional forum which has the potential to mobilise farmers and build their capacity to collectively leverage their production and marketing strength.

The course director of the training programme Hemchandra Saikia, a specialist in Agricultural Economics at the Krishii Vigyan Kendra here, exhorted the participating farmers, including women participants that by forming very effective Farmer's Interest Group (FIG) for undertaking various specialised farm activities separately, farming communities can derive advantage of both internal and external economy in their respective fields. This will turn help in forming effective Farmer's Producers' Organisations (FPOs) which will ultimately help in enhancing productivity and profit of the agriculturists, especially small farmers in our country, he said.

Participating as resource person, the DDM of NABARD in Dibrugarh district, Lipi Debnath explained in detail about several important aspects of FPOs, such as importance and advantages of FPOs, how to constitute them and function as FPO for realising sustainable agriculture, production and profit from the farming sector in Assam, and so on. She also highlighted about several important schemes of NABARD devoted to development of the rural farming community.

Interacting with the participating farmers, Head and Senior Scientist of the Dibrugarh Krishii Vigyan Kendra, Dr HK Bhattacharya urged them to go for location-specific improved agricultural technologies in a very commercial way.

Altogether, 30 farmers and farm women from Tengalhat, Haldihibari, Kuthia and Melengia localities of Dibrugarh district participated in the training programme, a release stated.

Interactive programme: The Equal Opportunity Centre (EOC) and the IQAC of DHSK Commerce College here jointly organised an interactive session with eminent writer and profound thinker Mayur Bora recently.

Bora may be mentioned, is a faculty member at the Indian Institute of Bank Management located at Khampani in Guwahati. He delivered a talk on 'Contemporary Socio-Economic Scenario and Youth Mindset' in the presence of the Principal of the college Dr KM Bhagawati, Vice-Principal Professor Pulin Rajbongshi and other faculty members, along with students and non-teaching staff of the college.

Bora touched upon diverse pertinent issues in the present socio-economic context of Assam. To him, cultural rootedness is the need of the hour to meet the huge burden of expectations and to inculcate the creative endeavours of the youth in the global arena. "Every individual is incomplete without being culturally rooted to his or her individual cultural tradition", he said. The writer also urged the college fraternity to torch-bearers of change and asked the students to play a decisive role in this regard.

After the academically rewarding interactive programme, Dr KM Bhagawati in his presidential speech thanked Bora for his consent to be a part of the session and for enlivening the occasion with his insightful deliberation.

Earlier, Professor Pulin Rajbongshi welcomed the prominent writer along with the gathering. The entire session was coordinated by Luku Morang, the coordinator of the EOC, while the vote of thanks was offered by Professor Satya Ranjan Doley, a release stated.

Mahanta calls for united resistance

AJIT PATAWARY

GUWAHATI, March 22:
 Former Chief Minister and senior Asom Gana Parishad

(AGP) leader Prafulla Kumar Mahanta today made an appeal to all those organisations championing the causes of the State's indigenous people to unitedly resist the Union government's move to amend the Citizenship Act of the country by the greater interest of the indigenous peoples of the State.

Talking to this newspaper, Mahanta warned that if these organisations fail to resist the move, the indigenous people of the State would face a bleak future.

Describing the provisions of the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, 2016 contrary to the very essence of the Indian Constitution and a betrayal to the people of Assam, the former Chief Minister said that if enacted, this piece of legislation will also infringe the provisions of the 1985 Assam Accord.

He alleged that time and again Assam has been subjected to gross injustice. During the partition of the country, Sylhet and Rangpur, which opted to remain with Assam, were ceded to benefit East Pakistan. The Illegal Migrants (Determination by Tribunals) Act, now scrapped, was also imposed on it only to make the determination and deportation of illegal Bangla migrants a top proposition, he said.

Assam is the worst victim of the 1947 partition of the country. It lost Sylhet, Rangpur and Cooch Behar, etc., areas and was heavily burdened with innumerable refugees, which had an adverse impact on the society.

The spectacular win of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) candidates from the State during the 2014 Lok Sabha elections and the victory of the BJP-AGP alliance during the last Assembly elections were possible because of the high expectations of the indigenous people from the BJP and the alliance. He also maintained that compared to the issues of distribution of ministerial portfolios and chairmanship of the public sector undertakings, safeguarding the interest of the State and its indigenous people is more important.

Former Health Minister Abhijit Sarma no more

which is located at DCB Road here.

JORHAT, March 22: Abhijit Sarma, former Health Minister of the State and MLA of Jorhat, revered social organiser and a successful philanthropic tea-planter, breathed his last at the St. Ganga Ram Hospital in New Delhi this morning at the age of 58, following severe infection in lungs and kidneys.

Sarma was admitted to the hospital in February this year after doctors of a private nursing home here detected severe injuries in his spinal-cord and infection in his respiratory system.

The mortal remains of Sarma will be flown to Jorhat tomorrow afternoon from Delhi and the cremation will be done at the Tarajan Crematorium possibly around 5pm after his relatives, friends, admirers and organisations pay tribute to the departed soul at his home.

Born and brought up in Jorhat, Sarma was associated with social organisations since his school-days. He was general secretary of the JB College students' union during the 1977-78 period and later became a secretary of the district unit of the AASU during the undivided "Sibsagar" district during the Assam Agitation.

Sarma was jailed during the Assam Agitation as he rallied thousands of people behind him to raise their voice against the then government. He became the Health Minister of the State in the first Cabinet of the AGP government in 1985 after winning the popular mandate as MLA of Jorhat Assam Constituency. He, however, did not participate in any poll after completion of his only term, although his love and devotion to the regional political party remained till his death.

The loss is irreparable to the entire State," said AGP's central executive member Nirna Sarma of Jorhat who was very closely associated with him since the Assam Agitation.

Expressing sorrow in his death, Vice Chancellor of Jorhat-based Assam Agricultural University Dr Kamal Malla Buparbar said that the university, as well as the State, lost a pragmatic figure in the death of Sarma who was a former member of the university's board of management. Dr Bujabahar said that it was rare to find a personality like Abhijit Sarma, who always extended "unbiased suggestions" for constructive works.

Along with several social, student and academic organisations, the Assam Tea Planters' Association (ATPA), many political personalities and senior citizens of Jorhat mourned the demise of Sarma.

Distinguished personality in the State's political arena with his vision and hard work. Apart from a brief political career, late Sarma also earned significant success as a tea planter and was a pioneer entrepreneur of the State, said the Chief Minister.

Sonowal also conveyed his deepest sympathies to the bereaved family of Sarma.

In a condolence message, Chief Minister Sonowal termed the death of Sarma as an irreparable loss to the social life of the State and stated that the contributions of late Sarma as a leader of All Assam Students' Union during the Assam Agitation will always be remembered.

Late Sarma, who represented the prestigious Jorhat Legislative Assembly Constituency (LAC) in the Assam Assembly and became a Minister of State (Health) in the first term of the AGP government in 1985, could emerge as a distinct personality in the political scenario of the State.

Sonowal said that the death of Sarma is not a loss to the regional politics of the State, but an irreparable loss for the entire society and the tea industry of the State.

"If 2 lakh people take the loan in one year, an amount of Rs 30,000 crore will be infused into the economy. People will purchase materials and engage workers," he said.

Employees who have already taken loans can switch over to the scheme after a year.

The application forms for the housing loan, christened as Apun Ghar, will have to be submitted to the District Development Officers (DDO) and there will be no need to mortgage property for loan amounts up to Rs 15 lakh.

Airfares in India among 'lowest' globally: Sinha

NEW DELHI, March 22: India has one of the lowest and "most competitive" airfares in the world despite high cost of planes and fuel, Union Minister Jyant Sinha said today.

"These are the two most important costs for an airline. Our taxes are also quite high," said the Minister of State for Civil Aviation.

"But when you look at pricing in India, as far as Indian airlines are concerned, I can assure you that we are among the lowest and most competitive air fares in the world," he added.

In efforts to make air travel more affordable as well as connect unserved and under-served airports, the government has come out with the regional connectivity scheme.

Under the scheme - UDAN (Ude Desh Ka Aam Naagrik) - fares are capped at Rs 2,500 for one-way flights.

"Our effort is to provide air services at an affordable cost and the regional connectivity scheme UDAN is aimed at that only," Sinha said.

At an event organised by All India Manufacturers Association (AIMA), Sinha said the country's economy is delivering high quality products and services at very affordable prices for the consumers.

"We are frugal economy because we are poor country... So we have to deliver product and services at price points which are affordable. This forces us to really think about affordability and cost management at all the time," he noted.

In terms of purchasing power parity, India's GDP is around $8 trillion while it is about $18 trillion for both the US and China.

According to Sinha, India is growing at 7-8 per cent while the US is expanding at 2.5 per cent and in the case of China the growth rate is pegged at 6 per cent.

"It effectively means that the contribution that the Indian economy is going to make in the next decade in terms of relative contribution of growth of rest of the economy, is 180 per cent," he noted.

Further, he said that India's contribution to global GDP growth in PPP terms in the next decade would be almost twice what the US is going to add.

"...It is 60 per cent of China which is still going to be larger. But we are one-tenth of China, which is a much larger piece of $18 trillion," he added. — PTI

Further, implementation of the Goods and Services Tax (GST) regime, while not necessarily negative for road traffic, may alter the type of vehicles that would be used on certain routes, it said.

"Variation and volatility in traffic could reduce returns. Investors would take a hard look at this, including the impact of DFC and GST, when placing bids. They would also be wary of latent defects in roads that are not detected during technical examination," CRISIL Research Senior Director Prasad Kopardikar said in a statement.

According to the rating agency, investors would face in the freight-heavy nature of nation's highway traffic, the associated volatility, and reduction in road freight growth expected after the implementation of the Dedicated Freight Corridor (DFC) before placing bids.

Further, implementation of the Goods and Services Tax (GST) regime, while not necessarily negative for road traffic, may alter the type of vehicles that would be used on certain routes, it said.

"Variation and volatility in traffic could reduce returns. Investors would take a hard look at this, including the impact of DFC and GST, when placing bids. They would also be wary of latent defects in roads that are not detected during technical examination," CRISIL Research Senior Director Prasad Kopardikar said in a statement.

"Theoretically, Rs 40,000 crore can fund the construction of 2,800 km of four-lane national highways, which would be equal to the execution expected in fiscal 2017," it said.

CRISIL estimates that between fiscals 2018 and 2020, construction of highways would require investments of Rs 2.2 lakh crore, or more than twice the Rs 1 lakh crore set to be spent between fiscals 2015 and 2017, with higher execution of publicly funded projects.

"TOT could achieve the dual objective of releasing both the bandwidth of public agencies, otherwise used up for road maintenance activity, and funds for road construction. While traffic risk does exist in this model, offering bundles of diversified stretches – both by geography and traffic composition – could mitigate some of this risk," its Director Ajay Srinivasan said. — PTI

Monetisation of 75 highways likely to fetch Rs 40,000 cr: CRISIL

NEW DELHI, March 22: The first 75 operational highway projects, which will be monetised by the NHAI under the toll-operate-transfer (TOT) model, are likely to fetch around Rs 40,000 crore, much lower than the government estimates, says CRISIL.

According to the rating agency, investors would face in the freight-heavy nature of nation's highway traffic, the associated volatility, and reduction in road freight growth expected after the implementation of the Dedicated Freight Corridor (DFC) before placing bids.

Further, implementation of the Goods and Services Tax (GST) regime, while not nec-

SBI-Mahila Bank merger on April 1: RBI

MUMBAI, March 22: The Bharatiya Mahila Bank will be merged with the State Bank of India on April 1, along with five associate banks, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said today.

All branches of Bharatiya Mahila Bank (BMB) will function as branches of the SBI from April 1. Customers, including depositors of BMB, will be treated as customers of SBI.

It was earlier notified that five associate banks - SBBI (State Bank of Bikkaner and Jaipur), SBM (State Bank of Mysore), SBT (State Bank of Travancore), SPB (State Bank of Patiala) and SBH (State Bank of Hyderabad) - will be merged with the SBI on April 1.

The government had issued the acquisition order for Bharatiya Mahila Bank Limited on March 20. On Monday, the Centre said it had decided to merge the bank with the SBI to ensure greater banking services outreach to more women.

The objectives of affordable credit to women as well as propagation of women-centric products need to be quickly achieved through a wider network and lower cost of funds, the Finance Ministry had said. — IANS

Ookla claims data accuracy; Jio says data contaminated

NEW DELHI, March 22: Clarifying on its testing method, broadband speed test Ookla today said data accuracy and neutrality is of utmost importance and the company goes to great lengths to ensure that the information collected on any Speedtest internet test is correctly reported.

Ookla also said that much of the commentary had focused on the Speedtest Android application is based on the 'active carrier' value returned by the device. Due to limitations of the Android platform, the 'active carrier' does not always indicate the actual data provider to devices with multiple SIMs."

"In these situations, Ookla applies additional data sources and mechanisms during post processing to help determine the actual data carrier being tested," it added.

Pointing out Ookla's flaws, Reliance Jio today said: "With the carrier displayed in the Speedtest Android application there is a clear contamination in the primary data collected by Ookla in India, where nearly 90 per cent of smartphones are dual-SIM devices, it said.

"Any results that are based on incorrect and contaminated primary data cannot be definitive, only probabilistic," it said. "It is a truvest that such results are being passed off as 'official' results by a market-leading operator. We will continue to expose such misleading practices and raise it at suitable forums," Reliance Jio added. — IANS

Digital and TV industry can co-exist: Experts

MUMBAI, March 22: Even as the increasing digital content viewing is perceived as a threat to the television industry, experts feel both can co-exist as the latter still continues to hold ground because of its reach.

Digital has been gathering steam in the last couple of years with many domestic players and international video streaming service providers like Netflix and Amazon launching their over-the-top (OTT) services in the country.

"The big advantage that television has is its reach. Television has become what connects the dots in this country. As digital takes over, viewers would go there but they would still want to have the same shared experience on TV as well," Star Content India President and Head of Content Studio Gaurav Banerjee said at the FICCI Frames here today.

He said people have predicted decline of various media and entertainment segments but nothing has really turned out to be true.

"Radio was supposed to die in 1950s. Doordarshan was over in the 1980s. We keep forgetting these deaths but in reality it has never happened. Even in America where a lot of these changes have happened, television is still incredibly big. This continues to happen in India as well," he said.

According to Discovery Networks Asia-Pacific Senior Vice-President and General Manager Karan Bajaj, India is a unique market where people might look to consume long format contents on television and short-format digital.

"Such a large medium, such a large voice, will it get marginalised by technology? I don't think so. Its challenges give birth to more fresh and interesting content," she said.

As per a Chrome Data Analytics and Media report, around 6 per cent of the Indian urban population access over-the-top (OTT) content on a daily basis and 24 per cent on weekly basis, while noting that more than 50 per cent of the viewers still prefer TV as the first screen for viewing media contents.

According to Discovery Networks Asia-Pacific Senior Vice-President and General Manager Karan Bajaj, India is a unique market where people might look to consume long format contents on television and short-format digital.

He said India people are not buying smart TVs but are buying mobile.

"In countries like the US, UK and all developed broadcast markets, the smart TV penetration has shot through the roof. From 10-12 per cent smart TV penetration has reached 50-60 per cent in last six months," Bajaj said.

"India is the only country which has gone to mobile phones. We are not buying smart TVs but we are buying mobiles. The dynamics of this is interesting because for them smart TV is leading to a TV channel competing with an Amazon or Netflix," he said.

Bajaj noted that India might end up with a scenario where TV becomes a long-form medium and mobile becomes a short-form medium and the interplay exists where both have a role to play, which is very different from any other market. — PTI

Rebels, jihadists begin new offensive in central Syria

BEIRUT, March 22: Syrian jihadists and allied rebels seized a key town from government forces in a new offensive in the central province of Hama, a monitor and fighting factions said.

The surprise offensive was announced yesterday by the Tahrir al-Sham alliance, which is dominated by the jihadist Fatah al-Sham Front, once linked to Al-Qaeda.

"This afternoon, Tahrir al-Sham began preparing for military operations against (regime) army positions in Hama province," said Tahrir al-Sham press officer Imad al-Din Makhid.

Tahrir al-Sham deployed photos of a massive explosion that it said was a suicide attack against a government checkpoint inside Suran.

Hama province is of strategic importance to President Bashar al-Assad, separating opposition forces in Idlib from Damascus to the south and the regime's coastal heartlands to the west.

"Tahrir al-Sham detonated two car bombs as they stormed the town of Suran and other villages," said Rami Abdel Rahman, head of the Syrian Observatory for Human Rights. The British-based monitor said the jihadists and rebel groups seized Suran and eight surrounding checkpoints within hours, despite heavy air strikes by government warplanes.

The violence comes two days before UN-brokered peace talks are set to resume in Switzerland between government officials and opposition representatives.

Syria's conflict erupted in March 2011 with protests against Assad's rule, but has evolved over the years into a complex civil war.

The Free Idlib Army, which is taking part in the offensive, said it targeted the Hama military airport and other government positions yesterday.

Rebel groups and Tahrir al-Sham were also waging an offensive in Syrian capital yesterday in a bid to link two neighbourhoods they control in Damascus.

'Palestinian killed by Israeli artillery fire in Gaza'

GAZA CITY, March 22: A Palestinian was killed and two others injured before dawn today by Israeli artillery fire in Gaza, according to a Palestinian official.

According to the Israeli army, the three men were in the border area between the Palestinian enclave and Israeli territory, where multiple exchanges of fire have taken place recently.

"Yousef Abou Azzar, 18, was killed and two other Palestinians injured by artillery fire by the occupier (Israel) to the east of Rafah," the large city to the south of the Gaza Strip, said Achrat al-Qodra, spokesman for the Ministry of Health in Gaza. A spokesperson for the Israeli army told AFP that the soldiers had spotted three men "close to the security fence and opened fire in their direction," without giving further details. — AFP

Earthquake rocks Indonesia's tourist Bali island

JAKARTA, March 22: An earthquake has hit Indonesia's resort island of Bali, causing some panic among residents, but there were no immediate reports of damage or casualties.

The United States Geological Survey says the magnitude 5.5 earthquake that struck at 7:10 am (local time) today was centered 2 kilometers northeast of Banjar Pasekan, a town on the southeastern part Bali, at a depth of 118 kilometers.

Witnesses said many residents and tourists ran out of their homes and hotels toward higher ground, but the situation returned to normal after they received text messages saying the quake had no potential to trigger a tsunami.

S Korea returns Chinese soldiers' remains despite missile system row SEOUL, March 22: Seoul today repatriated the remains of 28 Chinese soldiers killed in the Korean War, despite a heated row between the two countries over a US missile defence system.

A row of goosestepping Chinese honour guards received lacquered wooden boxes, each containing one set of remains, from their counterparts during a ceremony at Incheon airport.

Beijing deployed millions of soldiers in the 1950-53 conflict, saving the fledgling North from defeat by US-led UN forces and South Korea.

More than 180,000 Chinese soldiers are estimated to have died in the war.

"(We) appreciate the friendship and good will that South Korean people and media have shown regarding the repatriation of Chinese soldiers' remains," Sun Shaobing, China's vice minister of civil affairs, was quoted as saying at the ceremony by Yonhap news agency.

A total of 569 sets of Chinese remains have been repatriated since the two countries reached an agreement on the issue three years ago, he noted.

The latest transfer came even as Seoul and Beijing are at odds over the deployment of the US Terminal High Altitude Area Defense (THAAD) battery to South Korea, which China sees as compromising its own capabilities.

Beijing has imposed a series of measures seen as economic retaliation, including closures of South Korean-owned stores and a ban on tour groups going to its neighbour.

Seoul and Washington say the system is solely aimed at defending against the North's nuclear and missile threats.

The South's defence ministry acknowledged in a statement that there was "difficulty in South Korea-China relations in the process of resolving the North Korean nuclear and missile issue" but said it went ahead with the repatriation from a "humanitarian perspective". — AFP

33 civilians killed in Syria airstrike

DAMASCUS, March 22: At least 33 persons were killed during airstrikes, believed to have been carried out by the US-led international coalition, against a school sheltering displaced people in the Syrian province of al-Raqqa, a media report said on Wednesday.

The Syrian Observatory for Human Rights (SOHR) said that all the victims of the attack on Monday night were displaced people from other parts of the country living in a school in al-Mansoura area, the Islamic State's main stronghold in Syria, Efe news reported.

The 33 bodies were taken out from under the debris of the school that was apparently targeted in the air strikes.

Residents from the area told SOHR that about 40 displaced families from the provinces of Homs and Aleppo were living in the school.

SOHR did not rule out a rise in the deaths as there could be bodies still under the rubble. — IANS

Afghanistan wants more US help in fight against Taliban, ISIS

WASHINGTON, March 22: Afghanistan wants the United States to send more forces to help meet shortages in the battle against the Taliban and the ISIS group, the nation's top diplomat said.

Foreign Minister Salahuddin Rabbani welcomed a recent call by US Gen John Nicholson, the top American commander in Afghanistan, for a few thousand more troops from the US or other coalition partners to help break the stalemate in the war-torn country.

The Trump administration has not yet said if it will send more forces in response to Nicholson's comments. Some 8,400 US troops are currently deployed in Afghanistan, performing counterterrorism operations against insurgents and training the Afghan army. The war is in its 16th year.

Citing a deadly attack this month on military hospital in Kabul, Rabbani said Afghanistan needs US help in addressing "military shortages," through increased training, ground and air capabilities, and reconnaissance and intelligence support. The its support," Rabbani said at the Atlantic Council think tank ahead of a gathering in Washington of the US-led coalition against ISIS. He described Nicholson's call as "an appropriate decision considering the prevailing security challenges still facing us."

In a sign of how major powers are vying for influence in the region, Rabbani said Russia is planning a 12-nation conference on Afghanistan. The former Soviet Union engaged in a disastrous decade-long occupation of Afghanistan in the 1980s.

Rabbani said the US had been invited but didn't know if it would attend. The State Department said it hasn't yet decided on its participation. Rabbani said the discussions would follow up on six-nation talks held in mid-February involving China, Pakistan, Afghanistan, India and Iran. He said he did not think the Taliban would be invited. — AP

Hong Kong forfeits Davis Cup at Pakistan

LONDON, March 22: Citing security concerns, Hong Kong is forfeiting its Davis Cup matches against Pakistan, scheduled for next month in Islamabad.

The International Tennis Federation said today that it "regret and respectfully disagrees" with Hong Kong's decision to pull out of the Zone Group matches.

The Davis Cup committee had ruled that the Pakistan Sports Complex in the capital could host the April 7-9 second-round encounter. Pakistan hosted matches against Iran in February. Now Pakistan will face Philippines or Thailand in the third round.

The ITF said that Hong Kong's default will now be considered by the Internal Adjudication Panel "to determine whether a breach has been committed."

Pakistani militants have carried out numerous attacks in the country over the last decade, killing thousands of people, including police and paramilitary forces. - AP

Paris doesn't want 2028 Olympics

LONDON, March 22: The Paris bid team issued an ultimatum to the IOC: It's the 2024 Olympics or nothing.

With only Paris and Los Angeles left as 2024 bidders after rivals dropped out, IOC President Thomas Bach has raised the prospect of one city being awarded 2024 and the other taking 2028 to avoid there being a loser.

But with less than six months until the vote, the International Olympic Committee is still hesitating over whether to go through with a sudden bidding change.

And Bach's vision to lock up Summer Games hosts for the next 11 years could be derailed by the insistence of both LA and Paris that they are only focused on 2024.

"We can't accept '28," Paris bid co-chairman Tony Estanguet said during a visit to London yesterday. "It's not possible."

Estanguet, a three-time Olympic champion canoeist who became a member of the International Olympic Committee, is trying to end Paris' run of three losing bids.

"We're OK if the IOC wants to give two games at the same session in Lima," Estanguet said of the IOC Session in Peru.

"But on our side, our project is only possible for '24. We also believe this is the time to come back to Paris, or to Europe, in '24. This is the fourth bid, we learnt a lot. It's now never." - AP

FIFA fairly satisfied, urges to speed up preparation work

Believe It or Not!

Why? What?

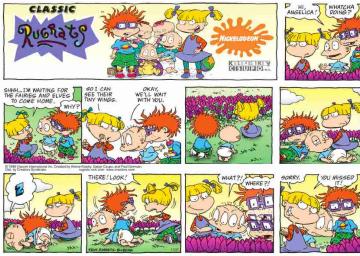

When was the Reign of Terror?

The Reign of Terror or simply The Terror (French: la Terreur) was a period of about ten months during the French Revolution where political beliefs and family values were under radicalisation, which took on a violent character – with mass executions by the guillotine. It is generally associated with figures of Maximilien Robespierre and Georges Danton, and is popularly represented as

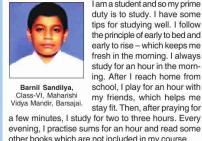

In the single month before it ended, 1,800 executions took place.

While some consider modern tyranny to be the legacy of the Reign of Terror, others argue that this view overlooks the French Revolution's influence in the ascendancy of representative democracy and constitutionalism and assert that totalitarianism is marked by a strong state where in the Terror the bloodshed was caused by various competing factions radicalising each other.

My viewpoint

"My tips to do well in studies."

Barnali Sandilya,
Class-X, Model
Higher Secondary School, Bongaigaon.

I am a student and so my prime duty is to study. I have some tips for studying well. I follow a routine of getting up early and early to rise – which keeps me fresh in the morning. I always sleep for one hour in the morning. After I wake up from school, I play for an hour with my friends, which helps me relax. Then I have a bath for a few minutes, I study for two to three hours. Every evening, I practise sums for an hour and read some other books which are not included in my course.

Every student has his/her own way of studying. Regular studying is essential for the students, because study is a must for our future and wise. We should try to secure good marks in all the subjects. We can study successfully only by proper use of time. To do well in studies and to succeed in life, we should also spend time with our family as it is also a medium that gives us ample opportunities to learn. We should be able to give equal time to studies and other work.

Exams are here and we are buckling ourselves up for it. I always try to always stay calm and never attempt to panic before the exams, and to do so, I am always up-to-date with my studies. I always follow a strict routine which helps me a lot. I always make plans on how to complete my studies. For this, I make a list of all the things I need to study and how much time will take. I always try not to be nervous, and that helps me concentrate fully on my studies. Sometimes, while practising maths, I do listen to soft music to relax my mind.

I always try to do better than the best. I work hard at all the subjects that I study. I read a storybook in between my studies, to relax my mind. I never think that I may not do well in my examinations because I believe in myself. I think that whatever I have studied is enough and it really works. Gradually, as it takes away all the nervousness from my mind, I pray to God before the exams and I give my best.

PLANET YOUNG

GUWAHATI, THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 2017

I, ME, MYSELF

Noted social activist
Sunila Changkakoti
speaks her mind.

The person who influenced me the most.
I come from from a particular region, but I have been greatly inspired by women who have overcome great odds to reach their goals. My parents and my husband owe my gratitude for supporting me in all my endeavours.

The biggest turning point of my life.
With the formation of the NGO, I quit my programme and was deeply frustrated by the bureaucratic red tape and apathy. It was then that I decided to form my own NGO and work in a different manner.

The happiest moment in my life.
I have three children and I was ecstatic when my firstborn, a daughter came to this world.

The changes that I would like to see in the society.
My desire is that everyone – man, woman and child get equal opportunities to advance in life.

My message for today's youth.
You must always aim high and seek to achieve your goals with focus, hard work and determination. Remember, there are no shortcuts to success.

A silent battle...

Like all other days, I come back home after school, had my lunch and prepared for my siesta with a copy of the Internet.

That day, I came across a very interesting news item about

Mother Narendra Modi

even more. Perhaps, all of us have read the news about how the PM saved an infant girl in New Delhi, a few days back. Yes! That news makes that hole in my heart feel a little less.

All of us know about the eight-day-old baby girl hailing from Moran, who is suffering from a rare disease. When our Prime Minister was informed about the little girl's condition, he immediately took steps to help the infant reach hospital in time.

What struck me most about the incident was his look for entrepreneurship, as also his approach to save a girl child. He has set an example not only for Assam, but for the whole of India.

Nowadays, we frequently come across cases of female infanticide in India. In fact, there is a village in India which is full of boys, but not a single girl child. Have we come to such a shameful level where, on one side we have

Goddess Durga, Lakshmi, and on the other hand, we kill a Goddess who was actually brought up on this planet? It is said that when women are honored, the Gods are pleased; whereas when they are not honored, the deities become futile. Women represent Should or power, without which nothing is achieved.

Many people represented India in the Rio

Olympics, but it is our women who came back to their homes with medals, the medals shining like bright stars in all old age.

Women Day recently to pay recognition to the sacrifices of women, but does that day bear any significance if the women need day to get to hear news about the latest infanticide or female child? If we continue at this rate, there will be no

future. And slowly, the entire human race will become extinct due to the advancement of science and technology; no one can give motherly love. Even the first word uttered by a baby sounds like Ma or Mama, isn't it?

Women are the backbone of the society.

Women, whether they are working or not, everyone has her own value. When the housewife is busy with all her household chores, the wife is busy with all the chores of the family.

Ranging from sports to politics, from authors to editors, from businesswomen to politicians, women are the best of all arenas.

Respect our Prime Minister, he is the commander of the battle. Now it is up to us, the soldiers, to help him win this battle!

Little Hearts
My friend in class always borrows my notes and does not give them back. What should I do?
— Ankita

Dear Ankita,
She is certainly taking advantage of your kindness. The only thing left to do is to not lend her your notes till she owns up to her fault and makes amends. As for myself, I think everyone should make their own notes.

Dear Ishani Aunty,
I often lose my temper on the smallest things and use bad words around a close family member. This upsets them and makes me repeat this. Please tell me what to do.
— Kartik

Dear Kartik,
Since you have come to my fault, it appears that you fully aware and responsible about it. There are many anger-management tips you are certain to get on the internet. Please do have a look and get back to me.

Dear Ishani Aunty,
We are shortly going to go and live in a part of the city I don't know. I am very apprehensive. I know I am going to miss my old home and hate it there. Please advise.
— Jilmi

Dear Jilmi,
Please accept the fact that every kind of change and uncertainty can be scary. After the initial period of adjustment, I am sure you will grow to love your new home and eventually explore that part of the city. Best of luck!
